HARRY BOYLE IS VICTIM OF APOPLEXY

President of Board of Education, Stricken Suddenly at Meeting, Dies at Emergency Hospital Soon After

Funeral Will Be Under Auspices of Masonic Ladge at 2:30 p. m. Thursday; Was Prominent Political Figure Funeral services for Harry Boyle, president of the Oakland Board of Education and a prominent political figure in the Eastbay region, who died last night at the emergency hospital following a sudden attack of appoplexy while he was attending a board meeting in the City Hall, will be held Thursday at 2:30 p. m.

Boylo will be laid to rest with Masonic honors. The service will be conducted under the auspices of the Masonic lodge, of which he was a member, from the Fruitvale temple. Interment will be in the mausoleum at Evergreen cemetery.

Boyle was stricken shortly after the Board of Education meeting convened late yesterday afternoon. He rose to address the board, faltered and fell back into his chair.

Members of the board and Superintendent of School Fred M. Hunter rushed to his aid. He was taken immediately to the Emergency hospital, where heroic methods were used in an effort to save his life. He did not rally, but physicians refused to give up hope and worked over him until the end.

PLANNED CANDIDACY AGAINST BACCUS.

Boyle had been a member of the Oakland Board of Education for eight years. During the present term he had served as president and had filed candidacy papers a few days ago in the coming municipal election against William J. Baccus, commissioner of public works.

Boyle entered the business world at an early age. First he was a plasterer and then served as a conductor on the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways. He later became interested in a number of industrial projects which eventually gave him an opportunity to carry out several of his political plans. Last year he was defeated as a candidate for Congressman from the Sixth district by James H. MacLafferty.

BELONGED TO SEVERAL FRATERNAL ORDERS

"All of his campaigns were carried out under the slogan "a Street Car Conductor for Congress," or "Commissioner," as the case might be.

Boyle was 52 years old.

He belonged to several fraternal organizations, was a member of the Shriners and the Knights Templar.

He is survived by his wife, three sons and one daughter. His daughter is Mrs. Alma Smith, wife of Dr. Lee Smith of Oakland, and the sons are Lester, John Edward and Harry Boyle.

COLLAPSE FOLLOWS HEATED DEBATE

Boyle's collapse came at the end of a heated board of education discussion concerning roof trusses on the new Vocational high school, renamed the J. W. McClymonds high school. The subject was threshed out from many angles and the talk finally ended when a vote was taken.

The board was just about to take up new business when Boyle slumped down in his chair. Architect C. W. Dickey noted his inert position, went to the head of the table where Boyle sat and tried to shake him into consciousness. The other directors then noticed the situation and [illegible] who fell from his chair to the floor. Firemen and policemen, with a stretcher, carried him to the Emergency hospital.

School Director Hatch, vice-president of the board, then called the roll on adjournment.

DISCUSSION AROUSED OVER TRUSS CHANGE

The discussion previous to Boyle's collapse had involved Boyle and many others in the dialogue. A truss at the McClymonds high school was changed in the "conference room" and it was then found that Contractor Roscoe Littlefield had ordered a revision of the trusses of the whole roof. Littlefield said that Architect C. W. Dickey allowed this revision, through mistake. Construction Chief Wilfred Ball said that no such change was authorized, and as he and Dickey could not agree, all parties brought the matter before the board.

The board's building program committee had recommended that, as time would be consumed in rebuilding the trusses, the present

HARDING'S PARTY REACHES FLORIDA

Leave Train at Ormond for Cruise on Indian River in Houseboat.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

ORMOND, Fla., March 6.—President Harding arrived here at noon today for the beginning of several weeks' vacation down the Florida east coast. The President, Mrs. Harding and members of their party went directly from the special train to the houseboat Pioneer, on which they will cruise down the Indian river.

One of the few stops last night was at Rockymount, N. C., where the President was prevailed upon to abandon his previously announced intention of making no public appearances. A crowd of about a hundred persons, mostly railroad workers, lured the President from his car. Pipe in hand, he chatted with them for ten minutes from the back platform.

"I suppose you have lots of boll weevils down here?" he inquired of one patriarch.

"Yes, sir," came the reply, "plenty of boll weevils and corn likker."

Harding joined in the general laughter.

Starting at Jacksonville, President Harding began to lose members of his vacation party. Secretary of Labor Davis left the train at this point, and at St. Augustine, the Secretary of War and Mrs. Weeks dropped off.

The two convalescents aboard, Mrs. Harding and Attorney General Daugherty, stood the train trip from Washington well. Despite the fact that yesterday was the first time Mrs. Harding has ventured beyond the White House gates since her near fatal illness six months ago, she appeared in good trim and enjoyed her "release" as she expressed it.

Daugherty's condition admittedly is not good. He remained in bed aboard the train during most of the trip from Washington.

Bankruptcy Asked For Film Company

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, March 6.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in Federal court today against the Selznick Pictures Corporation, producers and distributors of [illegible]. Claims of $3000 were filed by three companies.

The petitioners base their claim on notes which fell due January 1. They are the Commercial Traders' Cinema corporation, the Kloss Machinery corporation and the Quality Film Titling Company, Inc.

The petition declares that the Selznick corporation recently transferred to the Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings Bank, one of its creditors, all rights, titles and interests in two pictures completed by the corporation, with the intent to make the bank a preferred creditor. The petition does not indicate the ammounts of assets or liabilities.

Valentino Wedding Fixed For April 8

BY UNITED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, March 6.—Rodolph Valentino has postponed his second marriage to Winifred Hudnut until April 8.

After waiting nervously all day Monday for word from Los Angeles that a decree of divorce from his first wife had been entered, the "sheik" postponed the ceremony for one month on advice of attorneys.

While his divorce was granted a year ago on March 4, the order was not signed until April 8 and Valentino must wait until that date before marriage to Miss Hudnut would be legal.

SMUGGLERS UNLOAD HUGE BOOZE CARGO

Canadian Craft Outwits U. S. Cutter in 3-Day Chase and Lands $100,000 Rum Consignment Near Marina

Vessel Met by Motor Trucks and 1000 Cases Delivered to Wholesale Bootleggers; Guards Half a Mile Away

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—Federal agents and coast guard officials, who for three days have been searching outside the heads for booze smugglers they knew were in this vicinity, today changed their tactics in an effort to locate 1000 cases of contraband liquor known to have been landed by bootleggers at 8 o'clock last night in Laguna Cove, adjacent to the transport docks on the Marina. The value of the liquor is estimated at $100,000.

It is the belief of officials that immediately after the liquor was landed it was distributed to a number of wholesale dealers. The booze is known to have been brought here from Vancouver, B. C., and federal agents admitted last night that search for the rum runners had been carried on vigorously for three days.

BOAT ENTERS IN DARKNESS; MET BY THREE TRUCKS.

Last night under the cover of early darkness, the two-masted auxiliary schooner Borealis from British Columbia sneaked into port undiscovered and was met by three covered automobile trucks, to which the contraband was transferred and carried away.

Two days ago on information that smugglers were off the heads, the coast guard cutter Shawnee under command of Captain J. H. Howell, left port upon the direction of Captain G. C. Carmine, supervising the coast guard district, to search for the smugglers. The Shawnee steamed off the heads until yesterday when she returned to the harbor without sighting the smugglers.

Exactly twelve hours after the Shawnee tied up at the wharf, the booze runners put in through Golden Gate. It was learned later that they had sighted the Shawnee and had laid off the Farallones until the cutter returned to port. It is estimated that the booze runner laid off the lightship until about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and then headed for port in time to bring her under the cover of darkness.

CUSTOMS MEN ON GUARD HALF A MILE AWAY.

Signs of the landing of the booze were found last night at Laguna Cove. The landing place was directly between the transport docks and the old Key Route ferry slip which was used during the exposition period. Tied up at the wharf is a government eagle boat with only an engine crew on duty at night. It was learned last night that while the smugglers were landing their contraband liquor federal customs agents were on guard at the yacht harbor of the Marina about half a mile west of where the booze was brought ashore.

The Borealis carried the thousand cases of liquor as a deck load. She is of the typical booze runner type, about seventy feet long, two masts and auxiliary power. Aft she carries a cabin to house the crew and is operated from the cockpit. She flies the Canadian flag.

Search was begun early today by federal authorities for the three automobiles trucks which received the liquor.

Wilkens Angered By Quiz at Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—Cross-examined by Assistant District Attorney Isadore Golden, Henry Wilkens, on trial for the murder of his wife Anna, several times became incensed at his questioner. He told Golden that the latter ought to be under oath as well as himself when the latter reminded him that he had sworn to tell the truth. This was after Wilkens had said it was because he wanted to shield his sister-in-law, Helen Lange, that he had not told of finding his wife's rings, which he had originally reported stolen by the bandits.

Unrestricted News Transmission Urged

ST. LOUIS, March 6. — A statement urging unrestricted transmission of news was issued by the executive committee of the Press Congress of the World, following a meeting here today. "Before the next war comes, if it comes, governments and nations must be convinced that, in the long run, lying does not pay," the statement asserted.

Molla Mallory Loses Chance to Battle Lenglen

U. S. Net Star Eliminated by Losing Straight Sets to Mrs. Cadle.

MENTONE, March 6 (By International News Service).—Mrs. Molla B. Mallory, American tennis champion, lost her chance to meet Mlle. Lenglen, champion of France, when she was eliminated in the local tournament today by Mrs. Cadle, an unheralded English player. Mrs. Mallory lost in two straight sets by a score of 6-0 and 7-5.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan of California successfully passed the first round of the local tennis tournament today by defeating Miss Redlich, 7-5 and 6-4.

Mrs. Mallory, before the match today, conceded victory to Mlle. Lenglen in the meeting which would have been played between the famous women of the courts on Thursday.

In an exclusive interview Mrs. Mallory declared she realized she was not in condition to beat Suzanne at this time.

"I know I can't beat her at this time," the American said. "I only wish I could. I will have to have more practice first."

Mrs. Mallory just has recovered from a severe illness, contracted before she left America some weeks ago. Her play on the Riviera courts to date has not been up to her standard. She has suffered several defeats, not only in doubles, but in the singles as well. Her match with Mlle. Lenglen on Thursday would have been the first since the French girl beat her in the all-comers singles at Wimbledon last summer.

Without hesitation, Mrs. Mallory admitted that the Monte Carlo life is too attractive to allow her to play her best tennis.

"If I could get to bed early my tennis would improve faster," she said. "But there are too many interesting things to do."

BULGARIANS AND SERBS IN CLASH

30 Die in Fight in Macedonia—Counter Revolution in Greece Looms.

ATHENS, March 6 (By International News Service).—Severe fighting, in which thirty have been killed, has broken out between Bulgarians and Serbians in Macedonia. According to military advices received here today twenty-seven Bulgarian irregulars and three Serbians were killed in one engagement. The fighting is being conducted by irregulars, not by regular army forces.

COUNTER REVOLUTION BREWING IN GREECE.

Ruhr Trade Hurt, Americans Complain

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(By the Associated Press.) — The French occupation of the Ruhr is giving rise to increasing complaints from American business concerns which are finding their normal trade more or less seriously blocked.

Many protests received at the Commerce Department are being turned over to the State Department and Secretary Hoover today was said to be hopeful that the French and Belgian authorities might be able to reduce present difficulties. American officials will seek to avoid raising serious differences between France at the United States.

HARDING TO 'STUMP' FOR HAGUE COURT

President and Secy. Hughes Will Urge Participation by United States in Permanent Tribunal of Justice

While Chief Executive Is Talking During Summer Tour to Coast, Secretary Will Be Heard in the East

By HERBERT W. WALKER,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes, during the long recess of Congress, will "stump" the country for American participation in the permanent court of international justice at The Hague, according to close friends of the executive.

In much the same fashion as Woodrow Wilson, four years ago, made an extended speaking tour in the country west of the Mississippi in the futile hope of obtaining American approval for the League of Nations, President Harding this summer will go over a similar route and in direct appeals to the people ask that the country ratify his proposal for American participation in the international arbitration court.

Congress has provided for additional funds for an extended speaking tour by the President. Last year the President spent less than half his annual $25,000 fund for traveling expenses. In the deficiency bill, passed in the closing hours of Congress, it was provided that this unexpended balance might be added to this year's.

HARDING TO SPEAK DURING TOUR TO COAST.

Congressional leaders were informed that the President would go to the Pacific Coast and probably to Alaska. Along the route he is certain to make speeches, with the prospect that during the tour he will deliver fifteen to twenty-five important addresses.

Much of the criticism of the Harding foreign policy has come from the west.

Hughes, who is generally credited here with being responsible for the court's proposal, is expected to deliver a series of speeches in the east while the President is making his first visit to the Far West.

SUBSTITUTE PLAN FOR SUBSIDY BILL.

ORMOND, Fla., March 6.—President Harding is considering a new plan for the American merchant marine as a substitute for the ship subsidy bill, which was blocked in the last session of Congress, Chairman A. D. Lasker of the United States Shipping Board announced here today, when he arrived with the President's party.

Lasker said Harding probably would make an announcement soon.

PRESIDENT FOR ARMY OF 3 COMPONENT PARTS.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(By International News Service.)—President Harding has come out flatfooted for an American military organization consisting of three component parts, the regular army, the National Guard and the organized reserve, believing that such an organization is the "correct solution of the defense problem" of the United States, the International News Service learned this afternoon.

The president's approval of the plan of army organization drawn up by Secretary of War Weeks and the general staff, was given in a letter to Captain R. L. Lohr, editor of the Military Engineer, an army magazine.

"The support of all citizens should be given," Harding declared, "to this plan of the war department, pointing out at the same time that "preparedness does not mean militarism."

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—Rudolph Umlauf, 246 Grove street, was lured by a stranger whom he met in a soft drink parolr into taking a taxi ride today. After going a short distance the man held him up with a revolver, took $65 and ejected him from the machine.

TIGER GIRL HUNT SHIFTS TO S.F. AGAIN

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—Clara Phillips, convicted "hammer murderess" of Alberta Meadows, went to San Francisco soon after her escape from the county jail here last December 5, according to information in the hands of Sheriff William L. Traeger, it was revealed today.

She made her getaway from Los Angeles heavily veiled, on a freight vessel which carried a few passengers between San Pedro and San Francisco.

When the vessel arrived at San Francisco she was met by five men in an automobile, one of whom was said to have been recognized.

BOARDED BOAT CHRISTMAS, IS TIP.

Mrs. Phillips remained in Los Angeles until Christmas day, according to information given Sheriff Traeger. When she boarded the boat under cover of night at San Pedro she was heavily veiled and was limping, the information said.

She was first observed by the wireless operator who recognized her as the much wanted murderess of Mrs. Meadows. She ordered her breakfast sent to her stateroom, which was delivered by the wireless operator who desired another look at her. As soon as he entered the stateroom, he said, the woman tried to cover her features and he is confident the woman was Mrs. Phillips. Throughout the trip north Mrs. Phillips remained in her cabin and when the ship arrived in San Francisco she and her companion were met by five men in an automobile.

The new information reached Sheriff Traeger only yesterday and Deputy Sheriff Frank Dewar left immediately for San Francisco to uncover the persons who are believed to have engineered Mrs. Phillips' getaway.

TRAVELED WITH NAVY MAN, STORY.

VALLEJO, March 6. — Deputy Sheriff Frank Dewar of Los Angeles is en route to this city from the southern part of the State for the purpose of collecting information, which it is believed will lead to the capture of Clara Phillips, escaped hammer murderess.

Word to this effect was received by officials of the Mare Island Navy Yard today, but despite their efforts to get into communication with the traveling official, and learn more of the matter, they have announced they will be forced to wait for his arrival for details.

It was announced, however, that Mrs. Phillips is believed to have come to this city shortly after her [illegible] reports, she made the trip with a naval officer of high rank and was concealed here by him and protected.

Officials of the navy yard scoff at this story, and declare that if the fugitive did come here with a navy man, it was with a petty officer.

These and other new angles of the case are expected to be investigated by Dewar upon his arrival here, and according to the sheriff's office in Los Angeles, it is believed that he will be able to secure information that will prove important in locating the "tiger woman."

Ovation in Court Greets Dr. Miller

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—Flanked by more than 150 of his followers, most of them women, Dr. Orlando Edgar Miller appeared today in the police court. He is charged with practicing medicine without a license on complaint of Harry Henderson, special agent for the State Board of Medical Examiners. Police Judge Jacks courtroom was crammed with the friends of the accused when he appeared accompanied by his counsel, Timothy [illegible]. When the case was called there was an ovation which the bailiffs quelled with great difficulty, rapping repeatedly for order. The case was continued for preliminary hearing until March 16.

SCULPTOR DENIES CHARGES OF WIFE

Carlton Gardelle Says That He Didn't Force Spouse to Work.

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—It was temperament and financial difficulties that caused the wrecking of the marital romance of Carlton Gardelle, internationally known sculptor, and his adopted daughter, Yvonne, motion picture actress and former Follies dancer, whom he married last August, Gardelle declared today in an interview.

Gardelle denied the accusation made by his wife in her divorce complaint, filed yesterday, that he made her go out and lay fireplace tiles in the homes of the rich.

"I did not make her do that," he declared. "She did it of her own accord because she worried about money matters. There had been reverses, and when I was away bill collectors came, and they annoyed her. So she said that she wanted to learn the tile-making business from the ground up, so that if anything happened to me she would be protected.

"It was all because she is so high-strung, and so artistic, and so temperamental."

Gardelle and his wife first became acquainted when the latter was 13. Later Gardelle adopted here as his daughter, although he explained today, "she was not dependent upon me for anything—[illegible]"

On August 3 of last year the two were married in Las Vegas, Nev., but this did not become publicly known until about two months ago.

Gardelle's sculptural work was well known at the San Francisco exposition in 1915. His wife has served as his model on many occasions.

Gloria Morgan and R. C. Vanderbilt Wed

NEW YORK, March 6.—Stealing a march on reporters and curious persons who had gathered before the Park avenue residence of Glenn Stewart, Reginald G. Vanderbilt, member of one of New York's oldest and wealthiest families, and Miss Gloria Morgan, 18-year-old daughter of Harry Hays Morgan, American consul-general at Brussels, were married shortly after noon today at the home of Miss Anna Donald on East Ninety-second street.

Vanderbilt, who is a son of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt, gave his age in the marriage license as 42, and his residence at Portsmouth, R. I. He produced papers showing he had been divorced by Kathleen G. Nielsen in Newport in April, 1920. Miss Morgan gave her address as Brussels and her birthplace as Lucerne, Switzerland.

Vanderbilt met Miss Morgan a year ago at a yachting party.

SETTLE RUHR ROW, BRITISH M. P. MOVES

Formal Demand for Mediation Made by Laborites' Chieftain in Parliament; Warns of Another War

France Accused of Rewriting Treaty Without Consent; Germany Can't Consider Intervention Now: Cuno

LONDON, March 6.—(By International News Service.) — Great Britain will retain control of the railways in the British zone of military occupation on the Rhine, Ronald MacNeill announced in the House of Commons this afternoon. He said the question of French transportation through the British zone had not yet been settled definitely.

LONDON, March 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—A Central News despatch from Berlin says that the Ruhr allies have occupied Remscheid and Kronberg.

Remscheid is in Rheinish Prussia, 18 miles east of Dusseldorf. It is the most important center in Germany for the manufacture of small iron and steel wares. Kronberg is a Prussian town in Hesse-Nassau, not far from Koenigsbein.

LONDON, March 6 (By International News Service).—Formal motion for mediation in the Ruhr was made in the House of Commons this afternoon by Ramsey MacDonald, Laborite chief and leader of the opposition on the floor.

"France," declared MacDonald "is rewriting the Versailles treaty without the consent of the allies. Military and political balances are changing. The danger of another war looms up."

MacDonald moved that the French and Belgian chambers of deputies be invited to co-operate with the British parliament to settle the Ruhr issue between France and Germany.

BRITAIN MAY REPAY AMERICA UNDER LIMIT.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Stanley Baldwin declared in a speech this afternoon that Great Britain is seeking peace.

"There can be no complete resumption of trade until Europe unalterably settles the questions of debts and reparations," said Chancellor Baldwin.

Chancellor Baldwin warned the British they must stand heavy taxation.

"The country must get to work to get rid of its debts."

He indicated he has hopes that Great Britain may be able to pay off the war debt to the United States sooner than the 62 years originally set upon.

By CARL D. GROAT,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

BERLIN, March 6. — Germany cannot consider intervention at the present time, Chancellor Cuno declared in a speech to the Reichstag today, dealing with the situation in the Ruhr.

Later on, Cuno said, the German government might listen to the third party's effort to intervene, provided Germany entered into any agreement reached on an equal footing.

Cuno frequently alluded to alleged French atrocities in the occupied areas.

"It is strange that the world is witnessing what is going on in the Ruhr without making effort to in-[illegible]"

It is admitted that it is therefore impossible that any candidate can be chosen by the board and made acquainted with the work so as to fit himself for the elective position.

The board of education, it is admitted, is divided in opinion. Members of the board assert that it would be a hard task to select any person who would be agreeable to all the board members, especially in view of the fact that Commissioner Harry Edwards and three school directors come up for election themselves, and are therefore anxious to secure all the political power just now that is possible.

"It is one of the most peculiar situations that ever faced the board of education," says Director Daisy Short, who is retiring as a member of the board. "In this case a candidate must file for the permanent position even before the board has a chance to choose a temporary successor to Boyle."

35,000 Miles of Courting to End In N. Y. Wedding

NEW YORK, March 6 (By Associated Press).—A nine-year courtship, during which the man traveled more than 35,000 miles, will culminate here tomorrow, when James Jolley, London civil engineer and actor, will marry Miss Jeanette Sherwin, star in a Broadway play. Jolley arrived today from England.

Miss Sherwin, who is a daughter of Mme. Amy Sherwin, Australian prima donna, met Jolley in 1914 in England. When she left for South Africa Jolley gave up his job and followed here there.

They met at Johannesburg and he secured an engagement in her company. He proposed, but without success. Later they went to India and again he proposed. This time the answer was "Yes," and the engagement ring was obtained.

While the company was touring China and Japan the war broke out and Jolley enlisted. He became a lieutenant. They met again in London, but Miss Sherwin refused to marry him at once, saying she wanted to distinguish herself on the stage.

Recently she decided that she could marry. When Jolley, who meanwhile had been made stage manager of a London production, received the news, he cabled from Suez that he would sail on the first boat.

HERRIN MURDERS RETOLD IN COURT BY SURVIVORS

Prosecution Seeks to Connect Miners' Union Chief With Massacre Plot.

MARION, Ill., March 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—Sweeping aside all the legal skirmishing that marked the opening of the first Herrin riots trial the prosecution today continued the introduction of evidence against Hugh Willis, state board member of the Illinois Mine Workers, and five other defendants charged with murder in connection with the outbreak.

Following out the intention announced in his opening statement, C. W. Middlekauff, assistant United States attorney-general, who is acting in this case as a special assistant to Edward J. Brundage, attorney-general of Illinois, the prosecution was prepared to lay special emphasis on its contention that the killing of the twenty-two non-union miners resulted from a widespread conspiracy.

The case of the Haymarket riots in Chicago, in which an editor and a speaker who took no actual part in the killings were found guilty of murder and hanged because they had advocated violence, was cited by Middlekauf in his statement as applying to the present case.

MOB MEMBERS IDENTIFIED.

One of the state's first witnesses yesterday was William Cairnes, a survivor of the riots, who pointed out three of the defendants, Phillip Fontanetta, James Brown and Otis Clark as men he had seen with guns in their possession or near the scene of the killings. He said he had seen Fontanetta, a beardless youth, shoot away the jaw of John Shoemaker, one of the victims, while the latter was lying desperately wounded on the ground.

Bernard J. Jones, another survivor of the riots, testified today that he was one of the armed guards at the mine of the Southern Illinois Coal company when the outbreak began.

Jones pointed out two of the defendants, James Brown, a negro, and Otis Clark, as two members of the mob he had seen with guns. He said he heard Clark say: I have spent five nights watching these scabs and we'll kill them all if I have to do it myself. This isn't West Virginia. We'll kill them all and wipe out the breed."

CRIPPLED FOREMAN KILLED.

The witness said that he had seen C. K. McDowell, crippled superintendent of the mine, taken from the file of prisoners by Clark. Jones said that Clark struck McDowell over the head with the butt end of a gun and knocked him down. It was near this spot that McDowell's body later was found.

The witness said that the prisoners were marched until they came to a strip of woods and that an automobile drove up and he heard cries:

"Here comes our president. Here comes Willis." "We were forced to line up in a V-formation by a barbed wire fence," the witness said. "Somebody told us "when I say "go" you scabs start through that barbed wire.' He also told members of the mob with shotguns to fire first, and those with high-powered rifles next.

"Then I heard some one say 'go,' the firing started and I climbed the fence and ran."

100 Berkeleyans Nabbed in War on Traffic Violators

BERKELEY, March 6.—More than 100 autoists, mostly speeders, will be forced to appear before Judge Robert Edgar this week as the result of arrests by Officers W. J. Wilson and L. D. Browning.

The wholesale arrests of speeders was made on orders from Chief of Police August Vollmer, who declared that yesterday's "raid" is but the first step in a concerted campaign to stop reckless driving in the college city.

Twenty-two speed "traps" in all parts of the city were used by Wilson and Browning in gathering in motorists. Many women were taken into custody. All were given five-day notices to appear in court. About a year ago similar "raids" were conducted by the Berkeley police and many autoists were forced to either go to jail or forfeit their drivers' licenses.

While speeders are principally sought, violators of other minor infractions of the automobile laws will also be taken into custody.

In declaring new warfare on speeders Chief Vollmer is lending endorsement to the "safety first" campaign inaugurated by the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce. Jail sentences for drivers ignoring speed regulations are urged by the Berkeley chief as the only sure way of stopping reckless driving.

RAILROAD SHOP STRIKES SHOULD END: PRESIDENT

Harding Regrets Duty in Settling Controversy on New Jersey Central.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(By Associated Press.) — President Harding has informed officials of the railway shop crafts that he can see no "adequate question of principle" which warrants a further delay in settlement in all districts of last summer's shopmen's strike.

The president's letter was in response to one from Stephen E. Connor, secretary of the Federated Shop Crafts, Central Railroad of New Jersey, and was as follows:

> Your letter of March 3 comes to hand just as I am about leaving for the south, but I am glad of the opportunity it affords me to express my sentiment on this subject. You tell me that the shop crafts of the New Jersey Central railroad are staging a relief fund movement, and ask me to send my autographed photograph. I am gladly complying.
> It is an occasion of intense regret that the settlement of the shop crafts strike which has been effected on the larger part of the railroad systems and the mileage of the country has not been found possible on all the rest. I do not find myself able to discern any adequate question of principle which could justify a minority of the interests involved in this distressing situation in refusing to make settlements similar to those which have been made by the majority. The information which reaches me brings the conviction that continued failure to make settlement is largely responsible for unfortunate conditions as to railroad movements in some areas and for interrupted deliveries of coal during the winter, with resultant suffering to many communities and much demoralization to industry. It is a situation which seems certain to become more serious unless effective measures are found for the early amelioration.

The Central of New Jersey shopmen constitute one of the groups which have not yet effected a settlement of the strike. The total number of men still out over the country has been a matter of dispute, but officials of the International Machinists' Union estimated today that about 40 per cent of the men who went on strike July 1 have not yet returned.

BROKER JAILED FOR THEFT IN ANTI-RED PLOT

ter L. Webster, insurance broker, was jailed today in default of $10,000 bail on an indictment charging the larceny of more than $30,000 subscribed by 37 manufacturing concerns throughout the country to finance a corporation for trading with Russia when a plan to overthrow the Soviet government materialized.

Webster told these manufacturers that a group of Russians formerly associated with the Czar's government joined with a number of Japanese diplomats would over throw the Soviet government and organize a United States of Russia, according to the testimony.

Railway Merger Hearing Dates Set

NEW YORK, March 6.—Hearing dates in the investigation of the proposed consolidation of railways throughout the country were set today by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The commissioners will open their western tour at St. Paul March 19, and other hearings will be held as follows:

Seattle, March 26; Portland, March 28; San Francisco, March 31; Los Angeles, April 7; Salt Lake City, April 11; Denver, April 16; Fort Worth, April 23; Kansas City, April 26; St. Louis, April 30.

OAKLAND SEEN AS NORTH-OF-STATE TOURIST CENTER

Legion Men Urged to Assist in Development of Big Eastbay Resources.

Oakland and the Eastbay district is destined to be the tourist center of Northern California, according to C. C. Wilson, of the Community Publicity Bureau of California, who spoke yesterday at the luncheon of Oakland Post No. 5, American Legion.

The speaker traced the shifting centers of world gravity, starting with the beginnings of history at the foot of the Himalayas; through Europe and the Mediterranean sea, thence to America, bringing in the story of the laying of the Pacific cable in 1903, and its importance in Pacific affairs, as well as the building of the Panama canal.

"San Francisco bay is the greatest landlocked harbor of the northern hemisphere," said Wilson, "and is destined to be the center of new developments.

"Oakland and the Eastbay district should be the tourist center of northern and central California, and we should be preparing for them."

"We have three phases of development—as a manufacturing and distributing center; as an art center, and as a tourist center.

"We have the six elements necessary for a tourist center, but two of these have not been developed as they should be. We have the elements of accessibility, summer climate, scenery, for in no city in the world is there the wonderful scenic possibilities that we have here, and historical interest.

"We need to 'dust off' our hospitality, however; we need more hotels and accommidations for our visitors, and we need automobile camp grounds."

Wilson then outlined his ideas for the building of tourist hotels and for establishing an automobile camp ground in the Redwood area and closed with the statement that he hoped the men of the legion would take an active interest in the development of Oakland and the Eastbay district a long the lines he had outlined.

Chas. H. Frost, of the Oakland street department, made a short talk, in which he too urged the men of the legion to take an active part in the upbuilding of the community.

Harry A. Nelson, post secretary announced the regular meeting of the post for tonight, and stated that there would be an initiation of a large number of new members

Easter Dress Event

The influence is decidedly Oriental in the new Spring dresses. Colorful embroidery, rich Egyptian bead motifs, fancy ornaments of dull bronze, some studded with stones of different hues, clever designs that seem to breathe of old Egypt. Paisley Combinations also play a prominent part in the Spring vogue. In direct contrast, we are showing a wonderful line of bouffant taffeta frocks with rufflings, shirrings and bouffant silhouettes for the very young lady, especially featuring the basque bodice in all its different modes. 'LONELY MANUEL' HERRICK PLANS TO FIGHT BOOZE

Former Congressman Raps Colleagues; Will Make Aerial Drive.

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—In a parting shot at the Congress which thrust him into the public eye "Lonely Manuel" Herrick, the "former congressional aerial daredevil," today issued a scathing denunciation of liquor law violations among members of the House.

"Lonely Manuel," blaming his defeat on the "big interests," charged many of his colleagues had openly violated the Volstead act during the sessions of Congress just ended. He declared he was "damn glad" to get away from the capitol and would carry his fight "direct to the people by my two airplanes."

"I saw so much drinking around Congress without looking for it that it made me sick," Herrick declared. "I've seen congressmen bring liquor into the capitol, and I've seen 'em liquored up in the House cloakrooms. There were 'caches' everywhere and members would go in those 'caches' and come out wiping their mouths. I've smelled liquor on all sides of me.

"Why, there was more foul talk in those cloakrooms than in any saloon before prohibition. It was all a game—those fellow voting dry and drinking wet—just to fool the people.

LIKE LIBERATED MAN.

"When you say 'joke' to me I visualize Congress. I'm glad to get away and after two years of it I feel like a person out of jail."

The trouble with Congress, Herrick said, was due to "having so many corporation lawyers as members."

"The country lawyers get a proneness to listen to advice from the great corporation lawyers and between them they run things," Herrick added. "The farmers, laborers and small business men were represented by only one man in the Sixty-seventh Congress, who, of course, could accomplish nothing against the entire remainder."

"Who was that one man?" he was asked.

"It was me," Manuel modestly replied. "The few good things this Congress done in comparison to what it didn't do is infinitely small. My own best work was done for soldiers, getting them hospitalization, compensation and pensions. I think I fixed up more soldiers than any other man in the last Congress."

NOT "LAME DUCK."

Herrick declared he was no "lame duck," explaining he was only an ex-congressman.

"I would not accept a presidential appointment on a gold platter, not even if they throwed the gold platter in," he continued.

"What do you intend to do next?" he was asked.

"They's a lot of lies, libels and slanders been printed about me, making the country believe I'm a flirt, a steady masher and a libertine," Manuel replied. "Those who did this, I'll make laugh out of the other side of their mouth. I got two airplanes and for the next two years I'm going to tell the country the truth and let them judge."

Will Fight D. Rum

SECRETARY DENBY HEADS PARTY FOR WAR MANEUVERS

Transport Henderson, With Navy Chiefs and Congressmen, Sails for Panama.

By KENNETH W. CLARK.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

ABOARD THE U. S. S. HENDERSON, EN ROUTE TO PANAMA, March 6.—The navy transport Henderson, with the official fleet inspection party headed by Secretary of the Navy Denby aboard, steamed down the lower Chesapeake Bay on the first lap of the trip to Panama to witness the Atlantic-Pacific fleet maneuvers.

Scarcely had the sun risen than there was great activity aboard the big gray vessel, which, during the war, carried safely thousands of American marines, sailors and soldiers across the submarine-menaced Atlantic.

Eighty-four persons are in the inspection party, eight senators, thirty-five representatives, twelve ranking officers of the navy, headed by Rear Admiral R. E. Coontz, chief of operations and director of the "war games," and twenty-nine correspondents and movie camera men.

HAYTI IS FIRST STOP.

This evening the vessel will turn south into the open stretches of the Atlantic for Port au Prince, Hayti, which will be reached some time Friday afternoon. The stay there will be only long enough to permit landing of a small detachment of marines.

The next stop will be Colon, at the Atlantic end of the Panama canal, then to Balboa, arriving March 14.

From Balboa the party will be distributed among battleships, cruisers and destroyers to witness the extensive war games and target practice and the shelling of the radio-controlled battleship Iowa. The Iowa will be fired upon by the Mississippi, one of Uncle Sam's finest fighting craft.

VISIT NAVAL STATIONS.

On the return voyage the Henderson will visit the naval station at Guantanamo Bay, Hayti, San Domingo, and the United States' new insular possessions, the Virgin Islands. The Henderson is due back at the Washington navy yard on April 14.

Final plans for the war games in Panama Bay, the most comprehensive ever attempted by the Navy Department, were discussed at an executive session of the navy's board of strategy on the Henderson today.

The combined fleet of several hundred vessels of all sizes and descriptions, augmented by seaplanes, will be divided into two groups, one defending, the other attacking. An attempt also will be made to capture the Panama canal, to test the fortifications just completed there. These include several new long-range coast guns, never yet tried in actual defense of the canal.

HAGUE PLAN WINS LOWDEN'S PRAISE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—Commendation of President Harding's plan for the United States to recognize the international court of justice, was voiced here today by former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois. Lowden added that he believed Harding "is stronger with the people than ever before."

These were virtually the only statements of a political nature that were vouchsafed to interviewers by the man who three years ago was concluding his term as "war governor" of Illinois and was regarded as one of the likely possibilities for the Republican nomination for President.

"I'm out of politics for good," Lowden declared. "My present interest is in cows and farming."

Lowden declared that Eastern cattle breeders are looking to the West to become the greatest dairy country in America.

Lowden, with Mrs. Lowden and their three daughters, are on their way to Honolulu for a pleasure trip. They will sail on the Maui tomorrow and will spend three weeks in the Hawaiian Islands. Since their arrival here yesterday they have been stopping at the St. Francis hotel.

"You have a cow here in California," Lowden said, "that is breaking national butter records, and there is a cow in Washington that is the world champion milk producer. These are only samples of what you Westerners are going to have. And your Western farmers already are profiting by a lesson the Eastern farmers have not yet fully learned. You have organization. Co-operative marketing is the solution, I believe, of the farmers' problems."

Lowden is president of the Holstein Association of America.

Mariner Stabbed In Row With Wife

VALLEJO, March 7.—S. T. Connolly, a cook on Eagle boat 47, is in the hospital with a gash across his stomach, and his wife is in the Vallejo city prison pending the outcome of his injuries, which the police say she inflicted with a butcher knife. According to the police the cutting followed a jealous row between husband and wife at a party in the Bay View apartments on Pennsylvania street.

Doctors think Connolly's would will not prove serious.

Here, There and Everywhere in the Eastbay

Here for a Rest.

A Texan, 7 feet 4 inches tall, has come to California to take an escaped prisoner back to jail. An Oakland man says perhaps he came to a good long state so he would have room to lie down.

Swelling the Total.

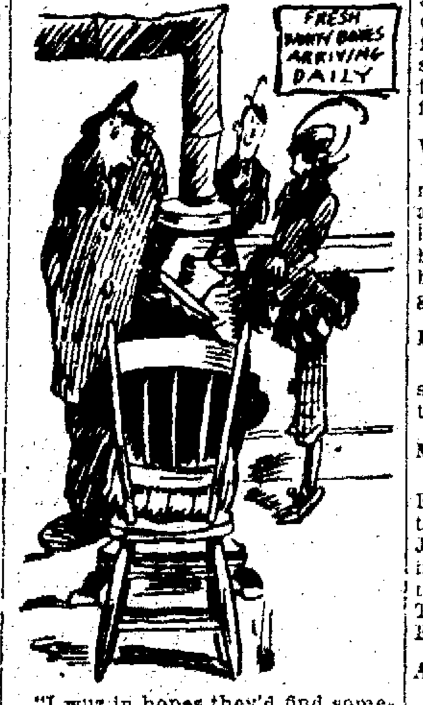
Chicken, we are told, is America's favorite dish. In this connection, a local vegetarian says he eats nothing but chickory.

Not Built for It.

A local Dry says a man seven feet tall may be all right as a prison transfer agent, but he'd make a poor prohibition agent. His nose is too far away from the cellar.

Possibly.

Speaking of Texas, a Berkeley man says they're starting an advertising campaign down there. He wants to know if they intend to show the beauties of their state with Texas stereopticon slides.



FRESH DOWNY DAWES ARRIVING DAILY

"I wuz in hopes they'd find somethin' clearin' up th' early life of McIntyre & Heath in King Tut's tomb," said Tell Binkley today. Kitchenettes make lazy brides.

He May Be Right.

Two monkeys were seen hanging by their paws from the limb of a tree in San Mateo. An Oakland streetcar conductor is of the opinion that they were merely a pair of straphangers keeping in practice during their vacation.

For Once.

The "Guy from Mars" is the latest popular toy. Here's one time the critics can't say the model isn't lifelike.

Merely a Vision.

A recent thrift pageant in Berkeley represents "Everywife" seeing a lot of money in a dream. That's about the only chance some wives have of getting a glimpse at hubby's pay envelope.

It Does.

California's prune shipments are reported heavy this year. A local punster says being full of prunes has its advantages.

J. Wallin today applied to the city building department for a permit to erect a three-story, 45-room apartment house on the north side of Grand avenue near Montecito. The house will cost $65,000.

Dancing Wrecks Romance.

Alleging that his wife, Mrs. Clara E. Fink remained away from home all night on occasions, attended dances alone over his protest, refused to have children and told him she did not love him and was going to leave him, William H. Fink has filed suit for divorce.

Worker Burned by Tar.

While working at his employment as a roofer, J. P. Crowley, aged 21, 103 Broadway, was severely burned on the face and hands by hot tar late yesterday. The burns were treated at the Emergency hospital.

A Baltimore man says fishes can smell. An Oakland dealer says they not only can, but do.

Man Badly Bitten by Dog.

Attacked by a dog at 1617 East Fourteenth street, which bit him in the face and on both legs, James Jorgensen, 42, 2177 Telegraph avenue, a railway clerk, is today under treatment by a private physician. The wounds were cauterized at the Emergency hospital.

Annulment Is Sought.

Annulment of the marriage of her son, Clyde W. Morris, aged 18, to Bertha J. Benson in Sacramento on December 3, 1921, is sought by the youth's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth S. Morris. It is alleged that the son married with the consent of his mother or his father, Albert H. Morris.

SLAYER SAVED FROM GALLOWS TO SERVE LIFE

DENVER, March 6.—Governor W. E. Sweet today commuted to life imprisonment the sentence of Elmer Beazley, 19, of Pueblo, who was to have been hanged March 31 for the killing of Oscar Kronke, while attempting to hold up a gasoline-filling station in Pueblo the night of September 16, 1922. Explaining his action, Governor Sweet said Beazely was "only a boy" and had "never had the proper chance in life because of his environment."

HEAVY NARCOTIC PENALTIES URGED

TURLOCK, March 6.—The Turlock Chamber of Commerce has gone on record as favoring more drastic penalities when anyone is convicted of selling dope.

Traffickers in poisonous drugs would receive a sentence of six years or more imprisonment and a fine of $500 instead of the six months in jail that now is the case, providing that the recommendations of the Turlock chamber should become law.

The action resulted in the reading of a communication from the Santa Clara county grand jury urging that the local organization request a more stringent enforcement of the anti-narcotic act.

REV. KAVANAUGH TELLS SERMON

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—Rev. D. J. Vavanagh, S. J., Jesuit preacher, will give the fourth of his series of Lenten lectures on "Bigotry and Intolerence," tomorrow evening at St. Ignatius church. "Americanism endangered; or, how an organized minority of religious fanatics and reforming meddlers are making us the most lawridden people in the world," is to be the topic of Father Kavanagh's lecture tomorrow night. Rosary will open the evening's service, commencing at 7:45 p. m., followed by Father Kavanagh's sermon and Benediction.

MONTEREY BAY NEWS WRITERS TO FORM CLUB

Editors and Reporters in Six Towns Have Announced Intentions to Join.

WATSONVILLE, March 6. — A meeting of newspaper editors, reporters and staff writers in this section will be held in this city Sunday, March 11, for the purpose of forming an association of members of the craft for the promotion of sociability and for mutual benefit. Writers from Hollister, Salinas, Monterey, Santa Cruz, Watsonville and Gilroy have signified their intention of becoming affiliated with the projected organization.

The movement was started a few weeks ago by R. A. Wilson, news editor of the Watsonville Register, and the idea has proven popular throughout the Monterey Bay region. It is expected the new club will start with an initial membership of twenty or more.

A luncheon and theater party will be features of the initial gathering, and it is the purpose of the newspapermen to hold similar meetings at various cities in the territory at frequent intervals at which the problems of the profession will be discussed and a helpful interchange of ideas effected.

"Every man or woman on the staff of any paper in this section who regularly writes news 'copy' of any description" is invited to join the association, according to the notice calling the meeting issued this week by its promoters.

U. S. Navy Plane Carrier Aground

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 6.—(By International News Service.)—The U. S. S. Langley, a plane carrier, and the steamship Labette, from New York, today went aground in the bay here, both having run into soft mud during a heavy fog. Tugs are standing by each vessel, hoping to float them at flood tide. The Langley was returning from experimental maneuvers in the gulf when she went aground. Experiments in launching and landing planes were being conducted when the fog forced abandonment of the progress.

Tut's Attempt to Keep Purse With Him is Failure

(By Associated Press)

LUXOR, Egypt, March 6.—Of all the fine things found in the outer room of the disturbed resting place of King Tut-Ankh-Amen's, the finest, from the antiquarian standpoint, is the "Ushabti," a small image of the King himself. That, at least, is the opinion of Lord Carnarvon.

The "Ushabti," or "Answerer," showing the defunct monarch in the guise of Osiris, was customarily placed in royal tombs with an inscription stating that the image was prepared to do any work imposed upon it. Then the tomb was sealed so tightly nobody could get to the "Ushabti," and request it to do something.

Back in what Tut-Ankh-Amen may, in his language, have referred to as the good old days of yore, the Pharaoh, when he died, was accompanied to the underworld by a slave, sacrificed during the royal funeral ceremonies. In more "modern" times, the slave was allowed to live and the "Ushabti" was substituted for him.

This was done in the case of King Tut, who took some of his money with him when he died, but it was gone and his purse, also, when the outer chamber was opened by Howard Carter. The archaeologists were quite sad about this, for they believe there is only one example of such a purse in existence.

BUST GIVEN TO CHILD IN 1870 BRINGS $30,000

PORT DEPOSIT, Md., March 6.—Professor Fred T. Torrey, when 5 years old, was taken in 1870 by his parents to visit Italy. There he became the favorite of an unknown sculptor. This sculptor made a head and bust of his little playmate and upon the family's return to America the bust came as a present to the child.

For years it has been kept in the Torrey family, carted here and there. A few weeks ago Professor Torrey crated the bust and sent it to a relative in New York, asking that a valuation be placed upon it. The relative visited an expert and told him that the bust was made by August Saint-Gaudens in 1870. The expert laughed and said: "If that is so without looking at it I will give $20,000 for it and will make $5000 for myself." It is reported that the deal is about to be closed for $30,000. It was one of the earliest pieces of work Saint-Gaudens did.

SINGING, SEEING AMERICA.

Tourist travel is a recognized industry in Colorado, where in 1922 visitors spent $42,000,000, according to a canvass made by the Denver Tourist Bureau. It's the only known business wherein the purchaser literally uses the scenic goods then puts it back, satisfied, on the high shelf of the Rockies.

DERAL AGENTS RAID ROSEVILLE DRINKING PLACES

n Officers From Rutter's Office Seize Liquors and Make Arrests

ROSEVILLE, March 6.—J. R. ers and Rev. C. R. Fairfield the First Presbyterian church over twenty other local men companied ten Federal prohibition officers from S. F. Rutter's e in San Francisco in a raid on en places suspected of bootlegging Saturday evening. Illicit or was seized in three of the es raided.

At the Old Depot saloon a bottle brandy was taken as evidence. ntil Ghilarducci, proprietor, was ested.

Two one-gallon jugs of whisky, quarts of whisky and a pint a quart of gin were taken om the Rose City club. The club crowded with men and boys, y of the boys being from 15 8 years of age, according to the ders. The officers of the club C. L. Gregory, manager; G. Boutillier, J. J. Lundburg and Everett.

At the Shoe Shine parlor Joe Pappas and Louis Dallis were arrested for having three bottles of brandy.

Rogers led the raid on the Rose club; Fairfield on the Shoe Shine parlor and Hol Eggert on the Old Depot saloon.

According to Federal Officer Greer, the Barker saloon and the Tuscania were raided earlier in the week and evidence secured.

The arrested men were turned over to Constable J. Moran with instructions to hold them until bail of $1000 was furnished.

RICHMOND, March 5.—A plea for the sonoma county farm home for women was made in an address by Rev. W. P. Grant the First Methodist church before the women of the Richmond club here this afternoon.

CAR INSPECTOR JOB CONTINUOUS ROUND OF ACTION

Little Six-Sided House on Broadway is Seat of Information and Kicks

By FRANCES MONTGOMERY.

You know that little six sided house built right on the sidewalk at Twelfth and Broadway? It makes me think of the tower on Bluebeard's castle. It's where the streetcar inspector stays nineteen and a half hours every day in the year.

And I never thought his duties were any more difficult than those of the beautiful watcher in the fairy tale whose only exertion was to keep her eye on the road and answer in monosyllables to that one question: "Sister Anne, sister Anne, what do you see?"

But I was never more mistaken in my life. After ten minutes of watching the inhabitant of this little hexagon house do his stuff, I vote the car inspectors job no less difficult than any other job on record.

MANN'S JOB.

This particular inspector's name is Charles Mann and he has some man's job! He's had it for 22 years and off and on for the past ten year's he's had it on this same corner. So it's no wonder he knows all there is to know about it and that's knowing a lot.

He knows what to do and does it in case of accident. He knows what to do and acts first in case of fire. He knows what to say in cases of complaint. He knows the name of every motorman and conductor on the line, he has their numbers and the numbers of their cars and he knows where they are every minute in the day or where they should be and if they're not there he knows why mighty quick. He can tell you in a moment what day in the week each man has off and who is substituting for him. He can put you on the right track if you know where you want to go. He can put you on the proper car if you DON'T know where you are going. He knows how to listen to the troubles of a quarter of a million people and after 22 years experience he ought to know how to solve them. He answers on an average of 150 telephone inquiries a day and taking care of some 300 questioning pedestrians daily is a mere bagatelle.

Always, in the mysterious little house, (he's seldom in it himself) he keeps emergency supplies. They're for near-by disabled cars so you won't be delayed on your wey home to early tea. Hidden away in tha miniature tower that a mere passer-by can't peek into, he also keeps a mechanic to adjust these emergency supplies. He calls him the "trouble shooter."

Mann also tells people what to do with lost and found articles on cars and that isn't all he tells them. After 22 years of its, he's a veritable information bureau. Go into any business house on Broadway to find out something and they'll tell you to "ask the man on the corner in that little round house. He knows everything."

Mann has little lines of humor at the corners of his eyes and most always there's a patient smile on his lips but he has a modest manner too. "You see," he said to me, "I really don't know very much but I am supposed to know it all. When I don't know I call the TRIBUNE Information bureau. They're my biggest help and I'm learning from them. I'd be up against it without them."

"I suppose you don't have many accidents?" I asked innocently. If any one knows nothing it is I.

"Accidents!" expostulated the inspector, "my dear young lady," he said just like that, "if you had the accidents receipts for one week you'd never have to work again.

ACCIDENT RATE LOW.

"What a pity!" I murmured and I hope he did not misinterpret.

"With six months' receipts' the entire list of employees could retire," he declared. "Accidents? Dozens of 'em. Automobiles and street cars and the fault, in proportion is three to one with the automobiles."

The car inspector's duty, in case of accident, is just this: He takes charge. His first consideration is for the injured if there are such. He calls the ambulance. Then he tabulates the situation in minutest detail. He allows no car to progress until he has the names of at least two non-interested eye witnesses, that is ,other than company employees. But let me tell you something. Our street car company is second lowest in its number of accidents of any company of its size within 3000 miles.

In case of a fire the car inspector allows no one to beat him to the scene. He rules and regulates the stopping of street cars. Fire [illegible] tracks. It is then that the inspector minimizes car delay for he instantly re-routes the cars.

We can thank this man for a number of things and don't you ever think he never works. Just because you see a man doing nothing but standing beside the little house at Twelfth and Broadway as you pass, don't get the idea that he's basking in the sun of his health. His eyes register every passing car and its crew beside every single thing and person in its path; his ears hear every one of the million questions and complaints and troubles whether it pertains to the car for the suburbs or a distracted lady's recital of her martial difficulties—he gets 'em all. His tongue clicks forty knots to answer every kind of inquiry. That level head of his must ever know what to do at an instant's notice.

Park yourself on that corner for ten minutes and catch him missing anything if you can.

"What's the most usual complaint?" I asked him. He puckered up his eyebrows and drew down the corners of his mouth and his voice took on an unmistakably feminine tone.

"That horrid conductor made me pay an extra fare because he said my transfer was fifteen minutes overdue and I've been right here on this corner all the time!"

LITERAL KICKS.

That man ought to be on the stage!

"And talk about kicks," he went on, "look at the dents in the little house here. Sometimes people get so angry that they actually do kick chunks out of the wood. It keeps me busy painting it to cover up the scratches. I have to go in and shut the door sometimes to keep out of a fight."

And then he laughed.

Think a car inspector has nothing to do? Like to have his job?

PLANS ARRANGED FOR EDUCATIONAL CONVENTION HERE

Assistant Superintendent E. M. Cox Returns From Cleveland Meeting.

Returning from a meeting of superintendents of schools at Cleveland, Ohio, Assistant Superintendent E. Morris Cox issued a report stating that most of the details and plans for the National Education Association meeting in Oakland are well under way.

Concerning the meeting of the International Congress of Education here, Cox says:

> It is apparent that the international congress called by the National Education Association to meet in conjunction with it next summer is to be largely attended by foreign representatives. It now seems quite certain that more than fifty nations will be represented by official delegates and that the total number of delegates to this international congress will exceed one thousand.
> It is not possible to foretell what the attendance at the National Education Association next summer will be. I was surprised at the almost unanimous expression of those present at the Cleveland meeting that they expect to be in California next summer. The State director of New Jersey told me that he expected 500 from that state. From New York city they expect to be able to arrange for a special train. Like expressions came from other sources. If only half of what seems to be in prospect should turn out to be true, we shall have the largest meeting of the National Education Association ever held on the Pacific Coast. The railroad companies have recently announced an especially good rate for the summer, the lowest since 1915. Undoubtedly this will do much to encourage a large attendance.

Insurance Man Faces Second Trial

Allan H. Wilson, San Francisco insurance broker today faces a second trial on a charge of embezzlement, the jury in his case having failed to agree yesterday. Wilson was charged by Miss Jessie Lamber, professional danseuse, known in public life as Alycia Rosonowa, with having appropriated to his own use $500 which she had given him for safekeeping.

DECOTO WARNS OF MOVE TO REPEAL SYNDICALISM LAW

District Attorney Tells of Plans Now Afoot in Legislature.

Warning of a decided movement in the Legislature to abolish the syndicalism law and of the results that would follow such action was sounded by District Attorney Ezra Decoto yesterday in a talk to members of the Kiwanis club at a luncheon in the Hotel Oakland.

Decoto told how the Communist movement, that appeared in California during the war, had been demonstrated to be a part of the same movement as that in Russia and he rehearsed all the crimes against society committed by syndicalist groups during and after the war. Prosecutions under the law are probably over for good, the district attorney said, but the law should not be repealed, because it stands as a defense against violence in the political life of the state and a protection to the legitimate laboring classes.

That the effect of the traffic laws is practically nullified by the indifference of the community to them, was the accusation of August Vollmer, Berkeley chief of police, in addressing the club. Vollmer said fifty-five people had been killed and 1500 seriously injured in automobile accidents in Oakland in the last year, and that it would be impossible for the police to reduce these losses if the community did not properly respect the traffic regulations.

He suggested the organization of a "silent committee," similar to one operating in Berkeley, composed of citizens who would report to the police all flagrant violations of the traffic laws.

William E. Day, deputy governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, talked to the club on the organization and operation of the Federal Reserve banking system. He showed how the system had helped to prevent a financial panic following the war through a system of re-discounts, by providing an elastic currency and by proper supervision of the national banks of the country.

Equal Rights Saught For Japanese Women

TOKYO, March 6.—This year's session of the Diet will witness a concerted effort of the women's societies of Japan to secure an amendment of the criminal code to assure equal treatment for men and women. Under the law as it stands a married woman found guilty of adultery is liable to a penalty of two years' imprisonment with hard labor, while no penalty is provided for men guilty of a similar offense. The Women's Christian Temperance Union in a petition is asking that this shall be altered and men be treated on the same plane as women.

The Union has also prepared a draft law for the protection of women, which will provide penalties for seduction and for inducing a girl to become a geisha or prostitue. The Union has already secured the support of fifty members of the Diet in their movement according to Mrs. Azuma Moriya, the secretary.

Bishop Quayle Has Rare Humor

CHICAGO, March 6.—Bishop William A. Quayle, of the Methodist Episcopal church, who is noted for his humor and who has been quite ill at his home in Kansas, recently sent the following letter to the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal church here:

"Am getting along fairly well. The doctors are trying to find out what is the matter with me. I hope they will succeed, for I'd hate to get well of the wrong disease."

Relatives Fight Wallace Reid 'Dope' Hospital

KENOSHA, Wis., March 5.—Launching for the mothers, aunts and other relatives of Wallace Reid, a campaign against the plan of erecting a narcotic sanitarium to be named after the screen actor, John Westbrook, Kenosha, today made public letters received from his relatives in which they denounce the action of Dorothy Davenport Reid, wife of the actor, in lending her support to the venture.

The letters to the Kenoshan are from Miss Maude Westbrook and Mrs. Virginia Westbrook Backus, sisters of Mrs. Bertha Westbrook Reid, the mother of the dead actor and purport to present the attitude of the Reid family regarding the proposal. The letters also announce that Mrs. Reid, the mother, has written a biography of her son in an effort to emphasize other aspects of his life than the fight against the dope habit which is alleged to have caused his death.

REID'S WIDOW TO STICK TO PLANS

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—(By International News Service).—Despite bitter opposition in the east to the plan of Mrs. Wallace Reid, known to the public as Dorothy Davenport, to establish a memorial sanatorium for her actor husband, Wallace Reid, who died here recently from a direct result of the use of narcotics, Mrs. Reid let it be known today she was going ahead with plans for the sanatorium, regardless of the opposition. Reid's relatives opposed the plan.

LAYNE MAKES DRY RAID.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—Single-handed, Police Captain Arthur Layne raided the exclusive Turk Street Billiard Club, Inc., early today and was forced to batter down three sets of doors with an ax before he arrested three officers and seven patrons of the place. The officers are charged with violation of the Wright act.

DEMOCRATS WIN COUNCIL.

RADIO EXPOSITION IN S. F. APRIL 3

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—The first National Radio and Electrical Exposition to be held in the west will take place in San Francisco during the week of April 3 to 8. News of the decision to hold the show in San Francisco was received yesterday from Frank H. Hitchcock, former postmaster-general, who is now president of the American Radio Exposition company.

The decision to hold the exposition here, according to Hitchcock, was based on California's place in radio. This state leads in radio broadcasting, having the greatest number of radiophone transmitters of any stae in the Union, and a greater number of amateurs, in proportion to its population.

Two Injured in Auto Collision

W. Jordan, 41, an office manager living at 2109 Forty-first avenue, and W. A. Benner, 37, a school principal, living at 643 Apgar street, were slightly injured in an auto collision at Fourteenth and Alice streets last evening. Jordan was taken to the Emergency hospital in an ambulance and Benner by a passing autoist, J. Woodall, 654 Thirteenth street. Both men were able to go home after first aid treatment at the hospital.

Doctors Told of Chinese Commerce

The commercial relations between the United States and China were outlined to members of the staff of the Merritt hospital at their annual banquet last night at the Hotel Oakland by Dr. Ng Poon Chew of San Francisco. About 75 medical men attended the banquet. Dr. George Rothganger, president of the staff, was chairman, and musical numbers were given by Ben Moore, Austin Sperry and Charles Bulotti.

OAKLAND MAY GET MOST POWERFUL RADIO STATION

Local Site Is Favored for the Erection of Broadcast Towers and Studio.

Oakland may obtain one of the most powerful radio broadcasting stations in the world, according to plans completed by the General Electric company, the Radio Corporation of America and the Westinghouse company. While several other locations have been offered about the bay none of them, according to company officials, appears to be as suitable as the 24-acre tract near the Emeryville district, now owned and in use by the General Electric company. It is the plan to erect broadcasting towers and a studio there.

LOCAL SITE FAVORED.

Some of the locations offered the company by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce include a site on Telegraph Hill and another at Hunter's Point. Martin P. Rice, representative of the General Electric company, who is here to make preliminary plans, declares that none of them is as suitable as the Oakland site.

The station designed for Oakland is similar to the one now in operation at Schenectady, New York, and will have a power of 1500 watts. It will be the most powerful radio broadcasting station in the world at the present time.

"Our Pacific coast station," said Rice, "will be operated on a basis similar to our present plant. We have both an orchestra and a dramatic company, made up of the best talent that can be secured. They are employed regularly by the company.

VARIED PROGRAMS.

"Our programs include the best grade of music, drama, weather reports, stock and market quotations, health talks from the state department and educational matter from the state educational deaprtment, in addition to which we have connections with churches, theaters, auditoriums and government buildings.

"At this time the Radio Corporation of America has under construction one of these stations for New York City and another for Washington, D. C. The three companies, the General Electric, Radio Corporation, and Westinghouse have mutually agreed to erect nine stations.

"Locations for the other stations have not yet been decided upon, but the General Electric company has definitely decided to erect and operate one on the Pacific coast."

House Builders To Hold Exhibit

At a general meeting of Building Material and House Furnishers the plan for holding an annual Eastbay better building show was approved and the first of this nature shall be held from March 22 to March 31, 1923, in their permanent display room at the Builders' Free Exhibit, 1424 Franklin street, Oakland, the hours for which shall be from 1 to 10 p. m. daily, including Sunday.

To stimulate interest in the show a number of gifts to be given are to the visitors.

Guy Lynn Rosebrook, manager of construction, chairman, R. B. Cox, The Hoosier Store; F. H. Van Leer, Cadwallader Gibson Co.; V. D. Mulkey, Bulkey Mattress Co.; W. C. Simpson, Simpson Mfg. Co.; H. C. Tuller Jr., Triangle Water Heater Co.; Mrs. Doris Conner, Interior Decorator; L. W. Blake, Plumbing and Heating, H. N. Haynes, M. Stulsaft Co.; L. F. Crumly, Superbo Water Heater Co.; Mrs. W. C. Detwiler, Alpha Tile Products; M. F. Murray, M. F. Murray & Co.; T. O. Schroeder, Pratt & Lambert, Inc. Benj. S. Ebersole, manager Builders' Exhibit; G. L. Richards, Rhodes-Jameson Co.

California Bushels, Evangelistic Topic

"California Bushels" will be the subject of an address this evening by Rev. Arthur V. Willey, state evangelist, at the Twenty-third Avenue Baptist Church of Oakland. Rev. Willey spoke to four meetings at the church on Sunday, his morning and evening themes being "The Needed Power" and "The Great Physician." Last night his theme was "Personal Responsibility." Tomorrow evening the evangelist will speak on "Saint or Sinner—Which?" On Thursday evening "Big Wages and Sure Pay" will be the topic, and on Friday evening "Cost of Disci- [illegible] dress.

Rev. Willey will continue his afternoon addresses at 2 o'clock.

Aahmes Drum and Fife Corps to Dance

Aahmes Drum, Fife and Bugle Corps will hold a dance Saturday night, March 10, at Aahmes Temple. The proceeds of the affair will help finance the trip of working bodies to sent by the local temple to Washington in June to attend the session of the Imperial Council.

H. L. Summerfield is chairman of the committee arranging for the dance. Other members of the committee are J. Blunck, W. Graham, Fred Wuescher and F. B. Johnson. It was announced today that the dance is one of many affairs to be held by this organization during the summer.

Veterans to Hold Masquerade Ball

On Saturday night, March 17, the Lieutenant Everett R. Liesure Post, No. 999, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will hold a masquerade ball in Aahmes Temple, Thirteenth and Harrison streets.

It will be the first dance given by the members of this post, all of whom have been either wounded or disabled in foreign service, for only veterans having these "requirements" are eligible to membership in that post.

S. F. Joins Plan For Pony Express Race

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—Supervisor Angelo Rossi and J. Emmett Hayden were named yesterday to go with Attorney Edgar Peixotto to attend a meeting in Denver of a committee that will discuss plans for a Pony Express race over the old route to California. The race will be from the Missouri river and will terminate in San Francisco. The race will be held in conjunction with the celebration of California's diamond jubilee of the discovery of gold.

HOOVER DECIDES TO CALL PARLEY ON BROADCASTING

Purpose Is to Relieve Radio Amateurs in Confusion of Operation.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Secretary Hoover has decided to call a radio conference within the next month or two, to determine whether present confusion and congestion in broadcasting and amateur operation cannot be relieved. The date will be announced after a committee meeting which Hoover intended to summon, and broadcasters, manufacturers of radio equipment and users of radio will be invited.

About 540 broadcasting stations are now operating, Hoover explained, and have but two wave lengths on which their signals may be transmitted. Considerable difficulty has been found in preventing conflict and a bill, intended to give the commerce deparment more authority to straighten out the matter, failed with the adjournment of congress.

Hoover is considering the possibility of inducing the navy department to give up the control it now has over wave lengths between 600 and possibly 800 meters. A number of University broadcasting stations and educational institutions now using radio, he said, could arrange their equipment to send on the longer waves.

$87,920 BUILDING PERMITS.

RICHMOND, March 6.—Richmond building permits for the month of February totalled $87,920, according to last night's report filed with the city council by Building Inspector L. Wierda.

WOMAN BATTLES WITH BURGLAR

FRESNO, March 6.—Wresting a pistol from her hand after Mrs. Mille Hensley had fired at him, a burglar early this morning made his escape. He had ransacked the house before she was aroused. He escaped with nothing however, but the pistol which Mrs. Henseley had taken from beneath her pillow when she heard him in the house. Mrs. Hensley and her little daughter were alone in the house.

BANDITS FOILED IN GUN FIGHT IN S. F. STREETS

Man Exchanges Shots With Four Holdup Men and Escapes.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—A concerted attack by four robbers, two approaching from one direction and two from another, was foiled by one of the intended victims early today by drawing of an automatic pistol and exchanging shots with the bandits. The firing aroused the entire neighborhood and attracted the police, but the bandits escaped.

The victims were Joseph Layne of 2620 Sacramento street and Frank Millard of 53 Sixth street. They had been attending a party at 981 Fourteenth street. As they left Millard jumped into his automobile. Before Layne could follow, the bandit quartet sprang upon him. They had been concealed in two doorways.

EQUAL RIGHTS INDORSED BY INDIA'S COUNCIL

DELHI, India, March 6.—(By Associated Press).—The Indian council of state has adopted Srinivaisa Sastri's resolution demanding equal rights of citizenship for Indians in Kenya, and asking that they be protected against violence at the hands of Europeans. The resolution also urges that no further restrictions be placed on immigration into Kenya from India.

Sastri maintains that Indians at present want only partial fulfillment of an equal rights program. He appeals to Great Britain not to lose friends in India by leaving Kanyan Indians to the mercy of the Europeans.

O'BRIEN, AUTHOR, GAINS DEGREES IN VARIED LIFE

All the world has heard of the Englishman who had so many university degrees that the letters behind his name exhausted the Roman alphabet, whereupon he had recource to the Greek. A case coincident with that is furnished by Frederick O'Brien, author of South Sea stories, whose latest book "Atolls of the Sun," is to appear next Sunday in serial form in The Oakland TRIBUNE.

Tramp to Dreamer

FREDERICK O'BRIEN, literary light of countless designations, whose South Sea book, "Atolls of the Sun," is to be published in The TRIBUNE.

O'Brien, who lives at Sausalito, is also a graduate from the University of Hard Knocks. And to his name he tacks the following designations: "Tramp, Sailor, Lawyer, Beachcomber, Reporter, Editor, Sandwichman, Barkeeper, Kitchen Helper, State Food Administrator, Dreamer, Adventurer, Man of Mystery: the outstanding literary discovery of 1919."

"It never occurred to me that I could write a book," was O'Brien's naive remark when his first work, "White Shadows in the South Seas," had its phenomenal success, making it the book of the year. His two other great South Seas stories "Mystic Isles of the South Seas" and "Atolls of the Sun" followed. His first two books dealt with life in the Marquesas, whereas "Atolls of the Sun," which is now to be published in The TRIBUNE, is of absorbing interest through its description of the coral isles of the Paumotuan group.

SEA'S LURE STRONG.

O'Brien was born in Baltimore, and showed his roving disposition from the cradle. As a boy he haunted the docks of Baltimore, and the "men that go down in ships to the sea" had a never-ending interest for him. To this day, he says, "to breathe the salt air, to mount the breakers upon the surf board, and to swim in the coral caverns where fish of red and gold and amethyst weave in and out—these are my keenest joys."

No wonder tht he shipped out at the age of eighteen "before the mast" for Rio de Janeiro, where he left the ship to tramp all over Brazil, Venezuela and the Isle of Trinidad as a laborer, sailor or sightseer.

O'Brien next tried law, but was not interested in its dry-as-dust practice. He says: "I had stood on the deck of a plunging clipper, and there was more of the world beyond the horizon that I had never seen." So he left for Europe on a cattle boat. In England he fell on hard times, and had to earn a few shillings as a sandwichman, advertising a well known brand of pills. From there he went to Paris and joined the staff of the Paris Herald, and thence returned to America and went to work on a North Dakota ranch. And then came another turn in fortune and O'Brien became a "general" in "Coxey's army," but not for long.

ON HARDING'S PAPER.

He now entered journalism as a profession, and worked on a number of papers, including President Harding's paper, the Marion Star. Then again the scene shifted to California, Hawaii, Manila and at last to the South Seas, where he gathered the material for his colorful books and stories. For a year he led the life of a "beachcomber who pays his scot," and thus absorbed all the atmosphere and romance of the South Seas, of which he will tell in The TRIBUNE SERIALS.

CRAIG BIDDLE LANDS HUGGING JOB IN MOVIES

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—Craig Biddle, Jr., scion and heir of Philadelphia's wealthy family, who left Princeton determined to win fame in the films, has landed his first regular job. He is playing the part of a gay college student in a fight picture adapted from one of H. C. Witwer's stories.

His regular work consists of hugging pretty girls and dashing about the lot in a college hat and a bulldog pipe.

Biddle's $500 grubstake, given him by his father, was about gone when he landed the job. He gets paid $7.50 a day for the hugging, which is at the rate of about 25 cents per hug.

SCIENTIST'S MOTHER DEAD.

PLEASANTON, Kan., March 6.—The funeral will be held here today of Mrs. Enos A. Mills, Sr., 86, mother of the late Enos A. Mills, noted naturalist. Mrs. Mills died at her home here Sunday night of influenza.

COMMUNITY FUND CAMPAIGN PLAN

BERKELEY, March 6.—A mass meeting of the presidents and executive secretaries of all local agencies will be held with the board of directors of the Community Chest tonight in the City Hall council chamber. Rev. W. R. H. Hodgkin, restor of St. Mark's church and general chairman of the Community Chest, will preside. The speakers will include Campaign Manager Roy R. Henderson and Campaign Director H. L. Eddy. Plans for the coming chest campaign will be discussed and the heads of the charities and philanthropies will be asked for suggestions.

Directors and executive secretaries of the social agencies pledged co-operation to the campaign at a luncheon held at the University of California Y. W. C. A. yesterday.

The Community Chest committee has offered prizes for campaign slogans and posters. Headquarters were moved today from Allston and Harold way to larger headquarters in the Whitecotton building, 2340 Shattuck avenue.

Henderson has called a mass meeting of district managers and team captain for Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the City Hall council chambers.

Dr. Jau Don Ball Is Sued on Note

Dr. Jau Don Ball, criminologist and alienist of Berkeley, is today a defendant in a suit filed by Henry H. Ellis asking judgment for $1555.41 alleged due on a note executed in San Juan July 20, 1920. The complaint declares no part of the principal or interest has been paid. The suit was filed in the local superior court.

Fire Protection To Be Increased

RICHMOND, March 6. — Residents of that part of the city designated East Richmond last night were given promise of better fire protection when a communication was read to the council from the East Bay Water Company that it will undertake the installation of a 4-inch main in Barrett avenue, from Forty-third street to San Pablo.

City Manager James McVittie was instructed to ascertain the cost, confer with the water company and report to the council.

Wedgewood Stove Showing New Heat Regulator

TWO days of opportunity have slipped away, but FOUR days remain in which to learn scientific cooking. Come tomorrow!

You will enjoy seeing the New Wedgewood Gas Ranges equipped with the Thermostat Oven Heat Control, which keeps the oven at any desired temperature. Miss Rountree, a noted authority, is here to introduce this wonderful new device.

Scientific, Sure, Convenient No more guess-work as to a "slow" or "hot" oven! No more failures! You set your Heat Regulator at the exact degree of heat required and it never varies until the food is properly cooked.

More Leisure for the Housewife This new Heat Regulator allows the housewife to prepare her meals in advance, place the food in the oven and let it cook two, three or five fours while she is otherwise busy shopping, at a matinee or tea.

Greater Economy Because the Heat Regulator measures heat accurately and successfully, it economizes on gas, burning only the amount actually needed. No wastage!

Club Federation To Give Artists New Recognition

By EDNA B. KINARD.

To art is being given a new recognition in the California Federation of Women's Clubs and the groups which are auxiliary to it. Already an innovation has been introduced which will present to the clubwomen of the state the work of California artists. The cover of the official Federation organ will offer a reproduction of some recognized painting or piece of statuary each month. The custom was inaugurated with the February number. Local artists will come in for a share in the state recognition.

The round table on art, which Mrs. M. H. Lapham, chairman of art in Alameda district, C. F. W. C., is conducting monthly at her Taft avenue home for the benefit of local club presidents and chairmen of art, will assemble an interesting group of students Wednesday, March 14. Perham Nahl will be the principal speaker. He will speak on "Japanese Prints" to the clubwomen. Nahl has been invited to make an exhibit of some of his own work during the hour.

ITALY TO WAGE WAR ON GAMBLER

ROME, March 6.—(By the Associated Press.) — Gambling has found no friends in the government of Premier Mussolini which, by a recent decision, has authorized the repression of the practice on the grounds that it does not promote a healthy morality in the nation and that Italian cities must find better means than "parasitism and vice" for their prosperity.

The Minister of the Interior, the portfolio of which is held by Premier Mussolini, has been given power to adopt severe measures to run down the gamblers and to abolish the traffic in any quarter where it may be found.

The regular government lottery, which takes place weekly and has been a feature of Italian life for many decades, will continue to function. Other lotteries for philanthropic and charitable purposes will be held from time to time when government regulations pertaining to them have been complied with.

HOUSE RUSHED BUT SUSPECTED SLAYER IS GONE

SAN BERNARDINO, March 6.—Authorities early this morning broke into a house near Colton in which Jose Mendez, wanted for the murder of his brother-in-law, was reported to be barricaded. Mendez disappeared after defying the officers earlier in the evening. His father, Frank Mendez, was found in the house. Under Sheriff Shay, deputies had earlier taken Emmanuel Mendez, a brother of the alleged murderer, into custody.

When they approached the house Jose Mendez is said to have called out a warning that he would shoot all who tried to approach. They then started to shove Emmanuel Mendez ahead of them, but the latter warned them that his brother would shoot him as soon as anyone else.

Later the officers surrounded the house and rushed it, breaking in, but the alleged murderer was gone. Emmanuel Mendez was arrested on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

JAPAN'S CHINA POLICY PRAISED

TOKYO, March 6.—The action of the Privy Council in condemning the Chinese policy of the Kato government which aimed at the reconciliation of the two peoples has brought support to the government from unexpected sources. When in the opposition, the late Premier Hara, condemning the policy of Viscount Kato, author of the twenty-one demand on China, proposed a resolution in the Diet supporting a policy of friendly co-operation with China. Since Hara became premier this, according to the government supporters, has been Japan's policy and it has been supported by all anti-militarists.

The latest development is the announcement of Yukio Ozaki, the veteran opposition leader in the Diet, a member of the Okuma cabinet which presented the twenty-one demands to China, condemning the action of the privy council and supporting the government's policy. He said:

"To tell the truth, the present China policy is, on the whole, correct. To advocates of a strong foreign policy the China policy of the Okuma cabinet, of which I was a member, as embodied in the presentation of the notorious twenty-one demands to China may be hailed as excellent, but when it is remembered how unpopular it is now among the Japanese people and how Japan's position in the world was jeopardized by that policy it will be admitted as quite proper that Japan should make some concessions to China today. In my opinion whoever may be put at the head of the Japanese government, he will be unable to pursue a better policy toward China than the present government is following."

Town Terrorized By Escaped Lion

HERRINGTON, Kan., March 6.—Citizens of Latimer, a small town near here, were terrorized for three hours yesterday by a lion which escaped from a baggage car on a Rock Island train while the train stood in front of the station. The lion was hunted down by a posse led by a deputy sheriff and was shot dead.

RUSSIAN RENTS RUIN MERCHANTS

MOSCOW, March 6. — (By the Associated Press.) — High rentals exacted by the government and high taxes imposed upon business brought about the closing of scores of shops all over Russia during the month of January. Merchants who, last summer, wore smiles of contentment and felt that the era of free trade meant high profits and a return to the conditions of the days before the war, are now wondering how to make ends meet.

In some localities of Moscow, particularly in the principal shopping streets, the rentals imposed for 1923 are three times their gold value before the war. One dealer in agricultural implements closed his shop when he found that the space occupied by one plough during one month cost more in ground rental [illegible]n the value of the plough.

Protests against this situation have been made by a number of private merchants, but the openly announced policy of the government which contemplates the favoring of government trusts in order to drive private competitors out of the market, apparently is being enforced.

Crockett Man Found Dead in Hotel Room

CROCKETT, March 6.—Joseph Pecop, of Crockett, 45, employee of the Pacific Gas and Electric company, was found dead in bed at the Union hotel in Crockett Sunday morning. An autopsy disclosed that death was due to heart failure. Pecop's body was found by friends residing at the hotel who went to his home to rouse him when he failed to appear for breakfast. Pecop but recently recovered from an attack of influenza and the illness is believed to have aggravated a chronic heart trouble. He has a daughter residing in Montana. Arrangements for the funeral have not been made. An inquest will be held here Thursday night.

HOME OWNING PROVES FOE TO DIVORCE COURT

An almost sure road to a successful matrimonial career lies in the purchase of a home, because records show that couples owning their own homes are the least frequent pilgrims to the divorce courts, according to Guy W. Wolf, head of the research department of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce.

Wolf has made a study of various economic and social conditions in Oakland. In Chicago only seventy couples out of 3577 divorces owned their own homes, and Wolf says he has found the same proportion to apply here.

Only 40 per cent of the people of the country own their own homes, according to Wolf. In Oakland the percentage is a little higher, however, being 42 per cent.

TULARE OFFICER SHOT BY BANDITS

TULARE, March 6.—Constable Jess Reed was shot in the abdomen here last night by one of two bandits he was attempting to capture after they had beaten and robbed F. D. Gussy and George Webb, gasoline filling station attendants. Reed probably would have been killed had the bullet not struck his watch in his vest pocket. He is expected to recover.

The bandits robbed the cash register after beating and robbing the filling station attendants getting a total of $55. After their encounter with the constable they escaped.

MARIONETTES TO GIVE 'CINDERELLA' AT EBELL CLUB

Kegg-Goldsmith Production of Children's Drama Set for Friday, Saturday.

A dramatized version of Cinderella will be offered at the fourth presentation of the Kegg-Goldsmith marionettes in the Ebell club Friday and Saturday.

The marionettes, which are said to be the only ones of the kind to have been made on the Pacific coast, were carved, and the stage properties surrounding them were made by George Kegg, well-known San Francisco artist and protege of Richard Partington. More than a year has been spent in preparing the puppet theater, and the presentation here will mark the fourth appearance of the wooden actors before the public.

In organizing the production Kegg has had in mind an exclusively child's theater where facts of history and the charm of art and drama may be presented in such a way as to captivate the child's fancy. He calls the marionette show a short cut to knowledge because the visualization of objects and of facts and events through dramatic presentation creates a more lasting memory than one cultivated by books.

In carrying out this idea, Cinderella, the French fairy story of Charles Perrault, has been dramatized, and the marionettes enact the entire play while their operators supply them with speech.

The dramatization of the piece was done by Fannie Goldsmith. Mabel Kegg, formerly Mable Tretheway of Oakland, arranged all the music and designed and made the costumes. The production manager is Alberta Langley.

Congregationalists Will Hold Dinner

SAN LEANDRO, March 6.—Businessmen and women and friends of members of the San Leandro Congregational church are invited to attend a dinner at Masonic hall tomorrow night at 6:30 o'clock.

Following the dinner Mrs. Susie Daiziel will give a report of the launching of the ferryboat San Leandro at San Pedro. She was one of the visiting delegation. Luman H. Royce, city extension director of the Congregational Extension Board of New York City, will be one of the speakers.

SPANISH CENTER ACTIVE.

Plans will be discussed by the Oakland Spanish Center this evening for the further development of the social features of the club. All persons interested in opportunities to speak and hear the Spanish language spoken are invited to attend. The meetings of the club are held every Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Alden Library, Fifty-second street and Telegraph avenue. The meetings are conducted in Spanish.

Fairy Romance Enacted by Dolls

BRITISH ATHLETES ALLOWED DRINK

LONDON, March 6.—College athletes in England do not train so strictly for big events as those in the United States. At Oxford, where the crew is busy every day preparing for the Cambridge race, the oarsmen do not have to shun the delights of drink and tobacco. Cigarettes are discouraged but not forbidden, and pipes are allowed to glow after meals.

Drinking is all right as long as it is moderate. Last year the students of Oxford paid $7500 to keep the crews in training at Putney for the last three weeks before the race, and the balance sheet disclosed that the wine bill amounted to $450 and the beer bill to $175.

The coach believes in plenty of food, but the boys in the boat have to forego cream puffs and pastry, just as do American athletes.

Woman Lives With Temperature of 114

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

ESCANABA, Mich., March 6.—Miss Evelyn Lyons, 30, who for the past 16 days has startled the medical profession with a temperature reading of 114 degrees, passed a good night, according to the report issued today by Dr. Harry Defnet. Her appetite remains good, he declared.

According to the physician, fear is expressed that the woman will die should the temperature go down. The unprecedented fever is believed to have been caused from a tumor, which is causing pressure on the thermal centers of the brain, the report says.

Maxim Gorky Sick, Says He Has Had Enough Revolution

LONDON, March 6.—(By Associated Press)—Maxim Gorky, the Russian writer, had had enough of revolution. He is in a sanitarium near Berlin recovering, he says, "from over exposure to Russian communism." If revolution breaks out in Germany he will move to Prague, he recently told a Czech newspaper correspondent.

Gorky hopes to become editor and publisher of a world review devoted to art and science in which politics will find no place.

WINDOW WASHER FALLS FIVE TIMES WHEN ROPE CUT

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—(By the United Press.)—Police today began an investigation of the fall from an eight-story scaffold of A. Polski and Elmer Goss last night, after it was found today that one of the ropes had been cut half way through with a knife.

Goss was uninjured, despite his fall, but Polski is close to death at the receiving hospital.

Goss, who employed Polski, was engaged with him in cleaning windows of the Metropolitan building when the rope gave way. Police declared today that Goss probably struck an awning, which broke his fall.

Police believe a labor war may be responsible for the cutting of the rope.

Goss told police that this is the fifth time he has fallen from a scaffolding, men with him being killed in three other cases.

His scaffold has broken several times recently, the last time being Sunday night, when he managed to catch a rope before he fell, and pull himself to the cornice, he told the police.

Moderate Storm Is Moving Eastward

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—Cloudy and unsettled weather will be a portion of the bay cities and Northern California tonight and tomorrow. Forecaster G. H. Willson of the United States Weather Bureau reported the progress of a moderate storm, which is moving eastward through British Columbia. It has caused rain in Oregon and Washington, coming as far south as Eureka, which received .06 of an inch. There is a possibility of rain in the extreme northern portion of the state, and in the northern end of the Sacramento Valley tonight and tomorrow.

L. A. SEEKS TO MAKE TRADE ON APPORTIONMENT

Aid in S. F. Harbor Fight Is Offered for Backing On District Plan.

By E. VAN LIER RIBBINK.

TRIBUNE BUREAU, Sacramento, March 6.—That there are some "good and wide-awake traders"—to use the designation of one Assemblyman—in the ranks of the Legislature was evidenced today when I was informed, on what appears exceptional authority, that Los Angeles has offered to San Francisco a "fifty-fifty" proposition, dealing with harbor control and re-apportionment.

According to this offer, Los Angeles would withdraw its opposition to San Francisco's ambition to own and control its own harbor, which is now under a State Harbor Commission, provided that San Francisco will agree to give the southern metropolis the additional assemblymen and senators which it claims on the strength of its increase of population.

However—"perish the thought"—say the members of the San Francisco delegation, who meet in caucus today, and who declare that their attitude on re-apportionment has not changed during the recess, and that they will vote against the measure "enbloc."

Now that the Legislature has reconvened, and the budget is being considered by the Ways and Means Committee of the Assembly, and the Finance Committee of the Senate, the air is full of rumors.

According to one report, it is planned by the opponents of the Governor's budget to introduce the so-called "Daniels budget"—named for the member of the Board of Control responsible for its compilation—in both houses.

The Daniels budget is for $88,000,000, and provides for an expenditure of $9,000,000 in excess of that contained in the Governor's budget. Its introduction would serve the purposes of comparison, but it is generally admitted that its chances of adoption are small.

It would also appear, in the opinion of observers, as if the opposition to the official budget will come from various individual groups, and that such opposition may be sufficiently "pyrotechnical" to provide a good fight on the floor of both houses, but there is little evidence of a concerted onslaught on the much-discussed document.

Here Is List of Things Given to Each Lawmaker

SACRAMENTO, March 6.—Besides his thousand dollars and his mileage for a session, here are some of the things delivered to each legislator, and becoming his or her personal property, to do with as he or she wills: Twenty-five dollars for postage; a set of codes and the amendments; a metal document box, with the member's name painted on; letter heads and two sizes of envelopes, to any reasonable quantity; personal cards; a holder for cards; a bound copy of the State Constitution and other documents, with the recipient's name gold lettered on the cover; a desk calendar and stand; a letter opener; a pair of shears (some members draw two or three pairs); a letter file, and more if requested; a bottle of ink; a jar of paste; pens; pen-holders, pencils, rubber bands, paper clips, and such small articles as requested.

In addition to these items each member is supplied with stenographic and messenger service.

NEW PLAN MADE IN U. C. SPLIT

By E. VAN LIER RIBBINK.

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, March 6.—An amendment is to be made to the university bill of Senator Charles W. Lyon of Venice, asking for an appropriation of $200,000 for the purpose of instituting a third year course in the southern branch of the University of California, Lyon announced today.

The Board of Regents of the university, meeting in Los Angeles recently, approved the establishment of a third-year course in the branch institution contingent upon the appropriation of sufficient funds to carry the scheme out.

Senator Lyon's original bill asks for the institution of a third and fourth year course at the branch university. It is thought that the amendment is to be made as a result of the decision of the university regents to keep the state university as one unit, thus checkmating the move for a separate university in the south.

The appropriation now asked is for the purpose of erecting special buildings and laboratories for the third-year course planned in the amendment.

Legislators do not believe that Senator Lyon's bill will pass in view of the administration's economy policy.

TOYON CLUB WILL MEET.

LOS GATOS, March 6. — The Toyon club, a newly organized club of young men of this city, meets again tonight at Scout hall. The young men of the club are devoting most of their time to athletics at present, and last week defeated a picked basketball quintet from Sunnyvale by a score of 11-5. Since no Y. M. C. A. or other similar organization has functioned here in the past, the Toyon club is haled with delight by both young and old.

More Funds Asked For Sonoma Home

TRIBUNE BUREAU, Sacramento, March 6.—Chris Fox of Berkeley declared today that the conditions under which women convicts are housed in San Quentin are "intolerable," as a realult of overcrowding, and that he intends to fight for a larger appropriation for the Sonoma Home for Women, with a view to transferring some of the women from San Quentin to that institution.

According to Fox the women throuoghout the States have interested themseives in the matter of retaining the Sonoma Home, and are strongly objecting to the heavy lash in the institution's appropriation. Fox also takes exception to the action of the Board of Regens in favoring a third year's course for the southern branch of the University of California, and stigmatizes such action as "the entering of the thin edge of the wedge for university division."

State Pension Bill Again Before Solons

SACRAMENTO, March 6.—A pension and retirement fund bill that would provide small annuities for old servants of the state, has been introduced in the 1923 legislature by Assemblyman Coombs of Napa. A similar bill was offered two years ago by Coombs, passed both houses, but was given a pocket veto by Governor Stephens.

The bill, as introduced, would provide retirement pensions for the officers and employees of six state hospitals, the Sonoma State home, and the two state prisons. A fund would be provided by deductions from salaries, rated on length of service. The largest deduction provided would be $2 a month. Persons who had served the state for twenty-five years would be eligible. The retirement pay would be the same for all officers and employees, $360 a year.

CHRISTIAN BALKS AT INCREASE IN COUNTY TAXATION

Hayward Assemblymen Are Opposed to Proposed Changes.

TRIBUNE BUREAU, Sacramento, March 6. — Assemblyman E. H. Christian of Hayward today protested that, though he is a member of the committee of three which has been charged with the drafting of a county government bill for Alameda county for submission to the county delegation and introduction in the legislature, he was not invited to a recent meeting of the sub-committee.

Christian is said to be "at outs" with the other members of the Alameda county delegation on the subject of county government. He declared that the recent grand jury rreport on the Alameda county government report proposes an increase of almost $50,000 in running the county government, and that he is unwilling to identify himself with these findings.

He also states that, should the delegation adopt a bill providing for such increased expenditures, he will introduce a measure setting forth his own views on the matter.

The Senate adjourned yesterday in respect to the memory of former Governor and United States Senator George C. Perkins, who died in Oakland last week, and also adopted a resolution honoring the deceased statesman, which was presented by Senator Arthur H. Breed. A large portrait of former Governor Perkins, which hangs in the Senate chamber to the left of the president's dais, has been draped in mourning.

Senator T. C. West of Alameda sprang a surprise on the Senate in general, and on Senator J. M. Inman of Sacramento in particular, when he suddenly proposed to refer the Inman bill, providing that Sacramento county jury panels be selected by superior judges, insteid of by county supervisors, back to committee. Senator West, who said he had been invited by citizens of Sacramento to take this action, was successful in his motion, the bill being referred back to committee.

Lease Made Basis Of $50,000 Action

Assertions that D. Fishler, M. M. Friedman and J. W. Moore made false and fraudulent statements that they would build a modern building to house a produce market on his property at Fifth avenue and East Twelfth street, are made by J. P. Gallagher in a suit filed in the Superior Court asking that the lease be declared void. Gallagher further maintains that he has been damaged to the extent of $10,000 because his property would have been increased in value to that extent if the building had been built.

Gallagher says he leased the property to the defendants on October 6, 1922. After considerable delay on one pretext or other, the defendants finally admitted they did not have the money and transferred their lease to W. Appelbaum, M. Angel and H. Herman, it is claimed by Gallagher, who makes them co-defendants.

Post to Present Flag For Court

A new flag for the courtroom of Superior Judge James G. Quinn will be presented to the jurist Thursday noon by members of the Col. John Jacob Astor Post, Veterans of the Foreign Wars of the United States.

Eugene K. Sturgis, state adjutant of the organization, will make the presentation. Present at the ceremony will be R. E. Mitchell, commander of the local post, and Dan B. Schertle, state commander of the order.

Arrangements for the presentation are in the hands of R. H. Jessup, chairman of the committee in charge of the presentation.

Bondsmen Freed Of Responsibility

YUBA CITY, March 5.—Judge K. S. Mahon of Sutter county issued an order absolving the bondsmen of "Dr." F. J. M. LeRoy from all liability. LeRoy, who after jumping his bonds and fleeing trial here, was caught at Calexico on the Mexican border, is being held in the county jail here awaiting trial.

J. A. Harris, father-in-law of LeRoy, and Louis Harris, brother-in-law, were the bondsmen. LeRoy is facing trial on a charge of practicing medicine without a license.

Wfie Asks Decree From Absent Mate

With the dismissal of an action filed by the husband some time ago, Mrs. Margaret Lever today filed suit for divorce against Basil E. Lever whom she married in Fresno on December 22, 1913.

The wife claims that on April 1, 1921, her husband went to Fresno with the understanding that she was to follow but that he has kept her here ever since by numerous subterfuges.

Work on Brookdale Plaza Is Launched

Work started today upon the new Brookdale plaza gardens and theater, planned to be one of the open-air beauty spots of East Oakland.

Scrapers started levelling the ground and wagons began to haul the first consignmentof some 2500 yards of fill for the open-air amphitheater. The plans were made by Landscape Architect Howard Gilkey.

OPEN HEARING TO MARK STATE BUDGET REVIEW

Governor's Revisions Are Awaited by Members of Both Houses.

SACRAMENTO, March 6.—(United Press.)—Consideration of Governor Friend W. Richardson's biennial budget will be officially started tomorrow, with the Senate finance committee holding an open hearing in the afternoon and the assembly ways and means committee taking up the document at a similar session tomorrow night.

The only difference in the method of consideration agreed upon by the two houses is that the Senate committee will meet in the Senate chamber while the lower house group will gather in the committee room, inviting all interested to attend.

At a Senate caucus late yesterday, the members agreed to hold afternoon open meetings on the budget beginning tomorrow, with voters interested in particular appropriations invited to be present.

JOINT SESSION FAILS.

Assembly ways and means sessions will be Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights. The order in which the different items in the budget will be taken up was left to Chairman Kline.

A motion by Assemblyman Wright for joint Senate and House sessions to consider the budget received a tie vote and died for want of additional support.

Assemblyman Eksward moved that final committee vote on the budget and bills referred to the ways and means committee be taken in executive session. The motion carried, with Assemblyman Fellom, declaring opposition to any closed meetings, voting against it.

Incomplete poll of the legislature today revealed many members in both houses reserving final decision on the budget until the amendments expected from Governor Richardson are received.

REVISING ESTIMATES.

Mrs. Nellie B. Pierce, member of the board of control under whose direction the budget was drawn up, has been busy for several days revising certain items in the document, it was learned today.

With Governor Richardson's guidance, amendments are being prepared which will increase several of the appropriation items, it is understood. The amount given the state forestry bureau is to be increased, some legislators have learned, while figures for certain other institutions possibly will be increased.

Meeting to Consider Highway Problems

SACRAMENTO, March 6.—Representatives of the different auto clubs of the State, ranchers and legislators will meet here Friday in an effort to agree on legislation for the completion and extension of the State highway system.

Bill Aimed at Trust Companies Planned

SACRAMENTO, March 6.—According to C. C. Conlin, attorney for the Economy League of Los Angeles, some member of the Southern delegation will soon introduce a bill the league fosters which would create the office of public trustee in each county, to handle deeds of trust and conveyances.

Conlin declared that the value of trust deeds in Los Angeles county alone last year was $24,900,000, and in the State over $27,000,000. The average trust deed amounts to $2500, on which the title companies charge an 8 per cent, or $200, fee, the attorney stated. He estimates that, handled by the county, this fee could be reduced to $6.25.

Insane Man Breaks Into Church Service

MANTECA, March 6. — "I have come to preach. Leave the place," announced Sam Metrodimus, demented ex-farmer, as he walked up the aisle of St. Anthony's Catholic church Sunday morning and addressed Father Marchesio.

Consternation was written on every face. Never had the church witnessed an interruption to its services before. Then men who recognized Metrodimus, led him from the house of worship and services continued as though nothing had happened.

Next a call came from Callas Cornersll where Metrodimus was preaching at the top of his voice to farm houses. Constable Graves responded and, as the man said he [illegible] escorted him down the road and told him to keep on going.

Some years ago Metrodimus had considerable valuable ranch property here, but following an injury to his head, lost or disposed of it all. Of late he has been living alone in an old barn.

Important to All Women Readers of This Paper.

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

FIRST LOG HOUSE.

The first known log house built by white men within Colorado's bounds was erected in 1816 for a troop of Spanish cavalry patrolling the Arkansas near the site of Pueblo.

LIVING GLACIERS.

In the Boulder glacial district, which may be visited in a one-day trip out of Denver, is Arapahoe glacier, the largest in the Colorado Rockies, nearly a mile square, and which moves 27 feet a year.

EXPRESS RATES CUT URGED BY STATE EXPERT

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—That express rates in California, Oregon and Washington, should be decreased and that the revenue is higher in these states and the operating cost lower compared to other portions of the country was the purport of evidence submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission here today. W. P. Geary, rate expert of the State Railroad Commission, was the witness who made these claims. He submitted 18 exhibits, covering the entire subject of express rates and earnings of the express company, together with excerpts from Interstate Commerce Commission decisions pending to show that the operating income of the American Railway Express Company in zone No. 1 is less favorable than in any of the other four zones.

The express company is seeking an increase in rates throughout the country. Geary in his testimony claimed that his investigation showed that as the result of the earnings of the corporation the rates in zones 4 and 5 embracing the far western states should be reduced and those in the eastern zones particularly zones 1 and 2 should be increased. He declared that in the west there were more long hauls, fewer stations, less expenses and other contributing factors tending to economical transportation.

Scion of Wealthy Family Is Jailed

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—Alexander Stewart Stebbins, 28, said to be the scion of a wealthy Baltimore family, was arrested here today on two charges of forgery. The capture was effected by Detective Sergeant Charles Maher and Detective Al Fynan of the Burns Agency.

According to the officers, the father of the accused is C. W. Stebbins of Roland Park, Baltimore. Police Judge Daniel O'Brien fixed the bail of the accused at $2000.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Not more than $100, and, according to one story, only $50, was the fee Harry Y. Young, a "human fly," contracted to receive for the stunt which yesterday ended in his spectacular death when he fell when three-fourths up the front wall of the hotel Martinique, and crashed on the pavement below. The money was not paid in advance.

HAIRPINS NOW CUT FIGURE IN DIVORCE CASE

LONDON, March 6 (By International News Service).—In the sensational divorce suit of the Hon Hugo Russell, a maid testified today she had found hairpins in the bachelor apartment of Harold Mayer, the inference being that they belonged to Mrs. Russell.

The plaintiff, son of Lord Ampthill, a rich British peer, alleges Mayer, the co-respondent, is the father of Mrs. Russell's young child.

The Hon. John Russell and his wife both come of rich and fashionable families. The case has created widespread interest. Mrs. Russell denies that Mayer is the father of her baby. She admits she entered into a compact with her husband when they were married that they should have no children.

Phyllis Gower, a maid, was the first witness called today. She told of finding the hairpins. The baby will be brought into court to compare its features with Mayer's.

Counsel for Mrs. Russell demanded that photographs of Russell, taken when he was a baby, be produced to compare them with the features of Mrs. Russell's child.

Lady Ampthill, mother of the plaintiff, told of visiting Mrs Russell. They discussed intimate subjects.

"After I left," said the witness, "I had the conviction that Mrs. Russell had never lived properly with my son."

BAD CHECK MAN GIVEN PROBATION

C. H. Hagstrom, who admits that he was arrested in connection with the kidnaping of Japanese melon pickers at Turlock in 1920, was admitted to probation for a period of five years on charge of passing fictitious checks, when arraigned today before Superior Judge L. S. Church.

Hagstrom entered a plea of guilty, the evidence showing that he issued and cashed four spurious checks on local merchants. Hagstrom's attorney, Jack Colliar, told Judge Church that Hagstrom had been promised a job and that he would make good the checks.

Prompt denial of probation met the request of L. W. Smith, charged with a statutory offense, who entered a plea of guilty to the charge before Judge Church today. Smith's case was continued until Friday, at which time he will be sentenced.

Two on Trial On Auto Charges

W. O. Ostrander and Anthony Diel, both charged [illegible] automobile while intoxicated, went to trial in the superior court today. Ostrander appeared before a jury in Superior Judge L. S. Church's department. He was arrested on Adeline street, near Woolsey street, Berkeley, October 2, 1922.

Jerry Simoni, the complaining witness, testified at the preliminary examination that Ostrander's automobile crashed into Simoni's machine. He said the defendant was greatly under the influence of liquor at the time and that he staggered when he walked.

Diel was arrested by Patrolmen William Davis of the Berkeley police department and John Phillips of the Oakland department at Thirty-eighth and Grove streets. Davis followed Diel's car for a number of blocks, picking up Phillips on the way. Both officers maintain that the machine was being driven in a zig-zag manner and that Diel was drunk at the time of the arrest. Diel is being tried by a jury in Superior Judge Samuels' court.

W. F. Ayer, Noted Advertiser, Dies

PHILADELPHIA, March 6.—According to word received here late today, Wayland Francis Ayer, 75 years old, head of one of the largest advertising firms in the country, died yesterday at the Ayremont Merridale Farms, Meredith, Pa. Pneumonia is said to have been the cause of death. Ayer resided at Camden, N. J., and Mrs. Ayer left the home Friday to be at her husbaand's bedside.

LIVERMORE FOLKS ARE REASSURED OF U. S. HOSPITAL

LIVERMORE, March 6.—Assurances that the California delegation in congress is working practically as a unit for the proposed veterans' hospital at Livermore was contained in a telegram received yesterday by Postmaster M. G. Callaghan from Senator Hiram W. Johnson. The senator's message refuted the report that the abandonment of the project at Livermore had been suggested by the California members of congress and sets at rest any doubts that may have been entertained as to the intention of the government to proceed with the construction of a $1,500,000 hospital capable of accommodating 500 patients at Arroyo Del Valle.

Senator Johnson's telegram was in answer to one that Callaghan sent him in regard to a rumor that the veterans' bureau had been urged to abandon the site for the hospital at Livermore and use the money allotted on projects elsewhere. One rumor in circulation was that this suggestion had the backing of all the representatives from California. Callaghan concluded his inquiry, "Is there any truth in the story?"

Senator Johnson wired, "The California delegation with the exception of one appealed to the directors of the veterans' bureau for the allotment of certain funds for hospitalization in California and made certain suggestions for this hospitalization. Among other things it suggested a change in the style or type of buildings for the hospital at Livermore. The delegation did not suggest the abandonment of the Livermore project."

The $1,500,000 allotted for the Livermore hospital is from the $17,000,000 carried by the Langley bill for the establishment of veterans' hospitals in various parts of the country. On the strength of this allotment the government has acquired a site of 200 acres at Arroyo Del Valle, two and a half miles out of Livermore and adjoining the site of the Arroyo Sanitarium. The property secured formerly was a part of the Cresta Blanca vineyard of Wetmore, Bowen & Company, and was purchased from L. B. Johnson, who had acquired it from Wetmore Bowen. Title to the property is now in the government.

Bids for the construction of the hospital buildings will be opened the latter part of the month. Bids were called for last summer, and were opened in October, when it was decided to reject all of them on the ground that they were too high to come within the money available for the work. Accordingly the new bids were advertised [illegible]

SALINAS HOME ROBBED.

SALINAS, March 6. — A diamond brooch and an Elks' pin with diamond setting, was the loot obtained by burglars who forced an entrance into the home of Oscar Daley, local business man, during the absence of the family early Sunday evening.

Newer Form of Iron Helps Give Renewed Vim and Energy

Actual blood tests show that a tremendous number of people lack iron in their blood and that they are ill for no other reason than lack of iron. Lack of iron in the blood not only makes a man a physical weakling, nervous, irritable, and easily fatigued, but it utterly robs him of that virile force, that stamina and strength of will, which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life. If you are weak, nervous and run-down, you owe it to yourself to try this newer form of iron, known as Nuxated Iron. Begin today. Nuxated Iron is not a secret remedy, but one that is well known to physicians and druggists everywhere.

FOUR DIVORCES IN ONE COURT

"If you dare to bake a cake I will break that mirror and give you seven years' bad luck," declared Daniel E. Simpson to his wife, Rebecca E. Simpson, 453 Hudson street, according to her testimony in a suit for divorce brought by her against Simpson. She was awarded a decree by Superior Judge James G. Quinn, who signed four interlocutory decrees of divorce today.

The couple have three children, whose custody was awarded to the wife.

After her husband, Ray Edison Chapman left her, he sent her several checks, which proved to be worthless, according to Mrs. Hazel L. Chapman, 626 Jones street, Oakland, who was granted a decree of divorce today.

Mrs. Chapman testified that on one occasion, during the absence of his parents from their home in Pendleton, Oregon, he took another woman to the family home.

"I am not asking any alimony because I know I will not get any from my husband," declared Edna Rondelle, 3420 Wilson street, Oakland, who was granted a divorce from Lewis G. Rondelle. She testified that her husband repeatedly became angry with her when she urged him to pay his debts.

"My wife just wanted to be independent and insisted on working," declared James Thane, 1178 Park avenue, Alameda, who was granted a divorce from Gussie Thane on grounds of desertion.

Ganna Walska to Hasten to McCormick

CHICAGO, March 6.—Mrs. Ganna Walska McCormick, it was announced here today, will depart soon for the West to join her husband, Harold McCormick, millionaire, and she will not stop off in Kansas City for a concert. Nor will she sing in Rockford, Ill., where she had another contract, her manager said. Both she and her spokesman refused to answer questions as to whether or not she contemplated abandoning her proposed American tour.

Plane Victim's Body To Be Sent to S. F.

HEMPSTEAD, L. I., March 6.—The body of Lieutenant Stanley Smith, who was killed in an airplane accident in Brooklyn Sunday, was to be started for his home in San Francisco this afternoon. It goes to the home of Lieutenant Smith's father, Ronald Smith, at 1559 Larkin street, San Francisco.

MOTHER FINDS BABY LOST IN 1921 FLOODS

PUEBLO, Colo., March 6.—Just before the flood waters June 3, 1921, struck Pueblo a Mexican woman asked a neighbor Mexican woman to care for her baby while she went down town. The flood prevented the woman from returning home as she expected. Several days later when she did reach the home of the neighbor the neighbor had moved. For twenty months the mother made a statewide search for the family and for her baby, visiting Mexican communities and beet fields. She returned to Pueblo yesterday. Today she has her baby, but she had to fight to obtain it and she fled before the police, who were summoned, reached the scene.

The police did not learn her name, nor the name of the family which had the baby, being content with the statements of the neighbors that the baby belonged to the woman, although the foster parents did not wish to give it up. The woman saw the child as she was walking along the street. She recognized it as her own and seized it. A disturbance followed, and the police were called.

Somewhere in Pueblo today is a mother whose heart aches of the twenty months are salved as she rocks her baby to sleep.

Governors Inspect Truckee Highway

RENO, March 6.—The governors of California, Utah and Nevada were the guests today at a luncheon of the Reno Chamber of Commerce in honor of the party inspecting the proposed route of the Truckee river highway.

The party includes, in addition to the governors, all members of the State Highway Commission and representatives of the Chambers of Commerce of Oakland and San Francisco.

Ebenezer Wells, director of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, acted as a special representative of that body on the inspection tour.

Zoning Plan Wins New Endorsement

ALAMEDA, March 6.—Joint endorsement of the action of the Alameda Advisory Zoning League, which is working for the passage of the new city zoning ordinance at the municipal election March 13, was given last night by the women's section and the residental section of the Alameda Chamber of Commerce at its meeting in the council chamber, city hall.

Among the speakers were Mrs. William Wahmuth, Mrs. Thomas Arada, William J. Locke, H. C. Bennett, E. R. Neiss and H. P. Stowe.

Disappointed Film Actor Ends Life

LOS ANGELES, March 6. — "I just simply couldn't make the [illegible]"

This was the note left by [illegible] McDermott, 37, motion picture character actor, who committed suicide by turning on the gas in his room early today.

The note was addressed to his brother, Dr. P. T. McDermott of Kewanee, Ill., his home town.

McDermott, who had the ambition to become a nationally famous character actor, has been playing small parts for several years in various studios.

Refugee Mutineers Get Prison Terms

MANILA, March 6 (By the Associated Press). — Sixteen Russian refugees of Admiral Stark's command, who came here from Vladivostok, and who were arrested February 26, charged with mutiny, were sentenced today to terms ranging from one to five months. With the consent of the government, they will be confined in Bilibid, the Philippine insular penitentiary.

The convicted men charged their officers with overworking them. Some asserted they had been compelled to labor continuously for 32 hours.

CHAIRMAN TO BE NAMED.

MERCED, March 6.—The board of directors of the Merced Irrigation district will name a chairman to succeed C. M. Cross, who retires as director at today's meeting. E. V. Givens, Cross's successor, will take his seat at once. The old board gives way to the new organization at noon.

EDWARDS OUT FOR RE-ELECTION

Commissioner W. H. Edwards, head of the department of revenue and finance, today formally announced his candidacy for re-election to the city council, filing his petition, signed by a large number of representative citizens.

The announcement of Edwards was accompanied by a brief statement in which the commissioner points to his eight consecutive years in office as a record warranting his retention for a third term.

Commissioner Edwards declares that he is today conducting his department "at less cost by thousands of dollars than prevailed eight years ago, notwithstanding the growth of our city and the increase in cost of all materials and salaries."

The statement follows:

"I come before the voters for re-election solely on my record as a representative of the people and on the same platform as four years ago, namely efficiency and economy in the administration of all city business—giving the citizens a dollar in value for every dollar expended in taxes.

"That I have consistently carried out that policy is shown in the fact that I am conducting my department of the city government today at less cost by thousands of dollars than prevailed eight years ago, notwithstanding the growth of our city and the increase in cost of all materials and salaries.

"I believe my experience as commissioner of revenue and finance and as commissioner of streets is of value to our city and trust the voters will so consider it.

"I have always voted in the city council for every measure I thought constructive, progressive and right and against any measure I did not so consider.

"I have no political organization or special interest behind me and I seek only the approval of the people in my endeavor to serve our city. In seeking re-election I renew my pledge to serve the people as fearlessly, honestly and economically in the future as I have done in the past."

PREPARATIONS MADE BY C. C. FOR CONGRESSMEN

Distinguished Visitors to Be Shown Alameda Navy Base Site.

Preparations are under way today by officials and committees of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce for a fitting reception to the delegation of cabinet members and senators and congressmen who are planning to visit the Eastbay during the coming summer to inspect the proposed Alameda naval base site and the proposed new 600-foot channel that is to be dredged on the western waterfront.

The reception of the distinguished visitors will in all probability be jointly attended to by several of the standing committees of the chamber, including the harbor development and the reception committee, and by the board of directors as a body, it was announced today.

Prior to the arrival of the guests statistics covering every possible question that is likely to be raised in connection with either project are to be prepared, so that they will be instantly available for consultation during the inspection tour.

SITES TO BE VIEWED.

The Washington delegation will be escorted over both the naval base and the channel sites, and the situation presented to them graphically while they are on the ground.

In addition, a huge dinner will be given in their honor by the chamber of commerce, this function probably taking place in the ivory ball room of the Hotel Oakland, with an estimated number of several thousand representative citizens of the Eastbay in attendance.

The visit of the congressional and cabinet delegation has been urged by Representative James H. MacLafferty in order that all doubts in the minds of these executives and legislators shall be removed as to the excellence of both projects.

NEW CHANNEL PROPOSED.

The proposed new channel on the western waterfront, which is to be inspected by the visitors, is to be dredged from deep water into the area between the Key and Southern Pacifis piers, according to present plans, and will be about 600 feet in width and nearly a mile long.

The guests are expected to arrive in two parties. Secretary of War Weeks and members of the Senate and House appropriations and military affairs committee will sail from Washington, D. C., on the transport Grant for a cruise through Panama Canal in April, arriving here possibly in May.

Later in the summer Secretary of the Navy Denby, with congressional committees, plans a similar cruise on the transport Argonne, which will probably bring this party to the Eastbay in June or July.

Actress Tells Secret

Tells how to Darken Gray Hair With a Home-Made Mixture.

Jolcey Williams, the well known American actress, recently made the following statement about gray hair, and how to darken it, with a home-made mixture:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray, streaked or faded hair and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."—Advertisement

'FOR SALE' SIGNS TO BE TABOO IN BERKELEY CITY

Realty Board Sounds Death Knell to "Objectionable" Advertising.

BERKELEY, March 6.—"For sale" signs are to be taboo in the city of Berkeley.

By unanimous action last night the Berkeley Realty Board at a meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms sounded the death knell of this so-called form of "flagrant and objectionable" advertising.

The square sign boards advertising property for sale which have dotted the city for many years cheapen the community, are a detriment to the real estate profession and give the appearance that Berkeley is for sale, according to the concensus of opinion voiced at the meeting.

To show their sincerity and arouse public interest in their action, members of the real estate profession have arranged a public ceremony and bonfire in "Victory Square" for a week from Saturday night. Roy O. Long, president of the Chamber of Commerce and influential member of the realty board, has charge of the ceremonies.

Under the resolutions passed, every broker and salesman in the city will be obligated within ten days to see that all the "for sale" signs in the city are taken down. All will be taken to the site of a proposed civic square at Center and Milvia streets, where they will be placarded about an improvised building and remain there until the torch is applied by Long and his cohorts of the ceremonies committee.

Action in eliminating the signs was taken after a detailed discussion of the question participated in by President James McCrosson, F. L. Peake, H. D. Irwin, A. W. Bailey and others.

McCrosson said: "It appears under existing conditions that all the people are fleeing from the city like rats from a sinking ship. Signs cheapen the property and the community. If we vote to abolish the signs, it will be the greatest thing Berkeley ever did and the biggest step toward progress and the upbuilding of the community ever undertaken by this board."

Vegetable Vendor Pays Fine of $25

BERKELEY, March 6.—Moses Frankel, vegetable vendor of 2016 San Pablo avenue, who asked Judge Edgar for a jury trial last week to "help him" out of his difficulties, paid a fine of $25 yesterday for selling rotten tomatoes.

Frankel was charged by R. J. Wray, deputy of the state pure food laboratory in Berkeley, with violating pure food laws. Appearing in court last week for arraignment Frankel demanded a jury trial, declaring that his interpretation of such court procedure meant that "three men came in to help him out." After an explanation by Judge Edgar he waived the jury trial and trusted his fate to the court.

Walsh Begins His San Quentin Term

Convicted on his third trial, Thomas Walsh today was taken to San Quentin to begin serving a sentence for burglarizing Louis Grill on the night of July 3 last. Sentence was pronounced late yesterday by Superior Judge H. D. Burroughs after a day of argument for a new trial, which was denied by the court.

Judge Burroughs fixed May 21 as the date for the fourth trial of John Dorney, co-defendant with Walsh, who also has been tried three times and on whose guilt the jury failed to agree.

STREET TO BE WIDENED.

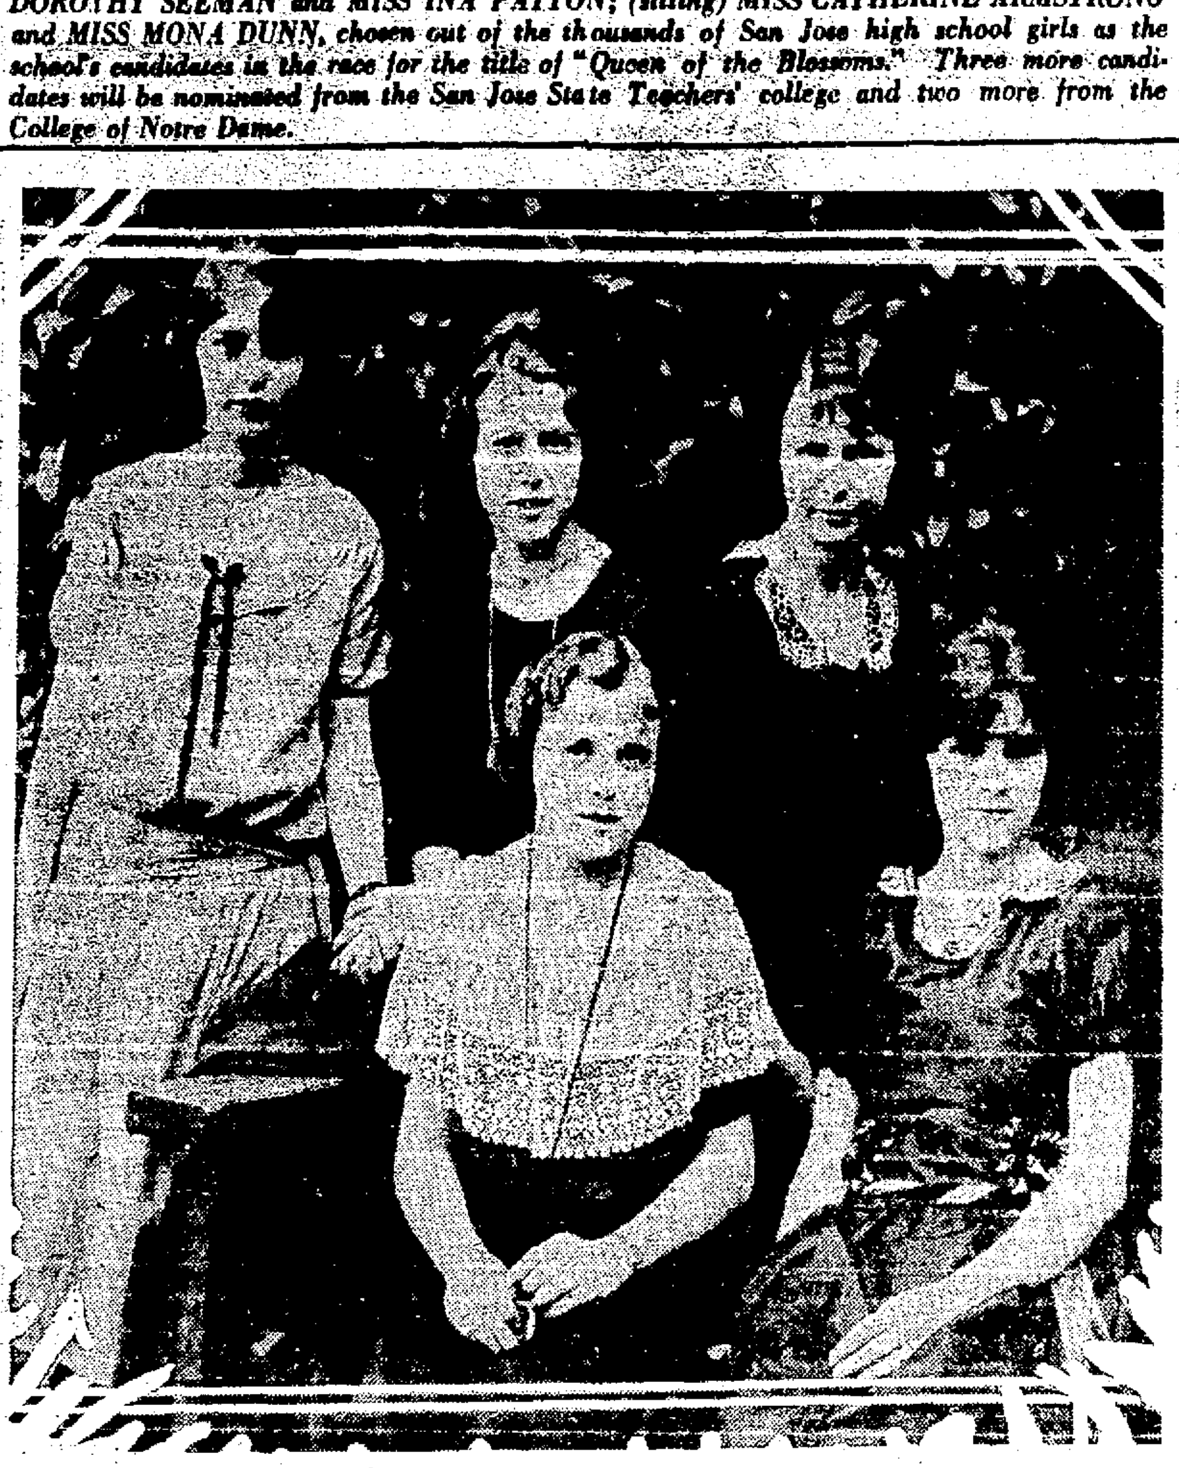
BERKELEY, March 6.—Council today ordered the widening of Bancroft way, ten feet on the south side, from Dana street 104 feet west of Telegraph avenue.

WOULD CANCEL PERMITS.

RICHMOND, March 6.—City Attorney D. J. Hall last night informed the council that he will recommend Monday that they cancel some of the soft drink dealers' permits.

Candidates for San Jose Blossom Queen

One of these young women may be the queen of San Jose's Blossom Carnival, to be held March 22, 23 and 24. They are, left to right (standing): MISS LUCILLE MORTON, MISS DOROTHY SEEMAN and MISS INA PATTON; (sitting) MISS CATHERINE ARMSTRONG and MISS MONA DUNN, chosen out of the thousands of San Jose high school girls as the school's candidates in the race for the title of "Queen of the Blossoms." Three more candidates will be nominated from the San Jose State Teachers' college and two more from the College of Notre Dame.



BIDDERS SHY ON FOREST TIMBER

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Re-advertisement for bids for nearly one billion feet of government timber in the Malheur National Forest, Oregon, has been ordered by the forestry service as a result of the failure of a recent advertisement of this property to bring a single offer.

A decrease from $2.75 to $2.00 thousand feet and several changes in the form of the contract have been approved which in the opinion of officials will be sufficient to make the offer attractive to lumbermen.

Prospective bidders are limited because of the large investment which will be necessary in the form of roads and machinery before the timber could be transported to market.

Man Says His Wife Scoffs at Home

The bungalow he purchased in Berkeley his wife describes as not being fit to live in and she refused to occupy it, declares James E. Davis in suit for divorce against Florence M. Davis, whom he married in Oakland, June 28, 1899. He asks for a division of community property, including property at Galt, valued at $2900, the home at Berkeley, $4000, and household effects, $1000.

Calve Protege to Sing at Reception

Madame Dorothy Raegen Talbot, famous protege of Emma Calve and Jean de Reszke, who has been engaged to sing exclusively for the Oakland TRIBUNE radio station, will be heard in a group of songs at the reception tendered the visiting state delegates of Daughters of the American Revolution at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis Hill of Alameda tomorrow afternoon.

'FINISH,' SCOTCH TIPPLE, PROVES TRUE TO NAME

GLASGOW, March 6.—The high cost of whisky in these hard reconstruction times, caused partly by the heavy demand for their national beverage in the Bahamas and points West, is forcing Scotch drinkers into the anomalous necessity of resorting to a cheap substitute made of methylated spirits, known to the local trade as "finish."

A police report just issued says several persons have been reduced to human wrecks in a short time by indulgence in this dope. Scores of even mild drinkers have been found completely incapacitated from the effects of it.

Hardened drinkers have found a most satisfying "wollop" in the new concoction but, for the ordinary temperate drinker, its effects have proved far too deadly to recommend it as an agreeable tipple.

However, in order to preserve a moderate "kick" in their beverage at a minimum cost, Scotchmen have begun to form the habit of mixing "finish" with red Spanish wine. But even this mixture, if used too freely, is likely to have paralyzing results.

Speeder Given Five Days for Contempt

HAYWARD, March 6.—John Fernandez, 1012 East Fourteenth street, Oakland, was today sentenced to five days in the county jail for contempt of court by Judge Jacob Harder Jr., of Hayward. A fine of $10 was also imposed on Fernandez on a charge of speeding for which he was arrested last October.

According to Judge Harder, Fernandez was arrested for speeding, and failed to appear at the time set. The Oakland police recently located him, and his trial was arranged. Following the fine Fernandez's conduct necessitated the jail term, Harder said.

Standard Denies Russian Oil Ban

MOSCOW, March 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—All the Moscow newspapers today display prominently an interview with Henry Dodge, representative of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, quoting him as declaring the Standard Oil company desires to participate in the re-establishment of the Russian oil indusrty and denying that the company is a party to [illegible] sian oil.

Dodge is visiting Russia for the purpose of making a survey of business conditions and the general economic situation in that country as affecting the oil industry.

A despatch from Batum announces that new boring machinery from America has arrived for the government oil trust.

MUNICIPAL PARKS BEING BEAUTIFIED

ALAMEDA, March 6.—These are busy days for employees of the Park and Recreation Department of the city as pointed out by A. C. Benton, superintendent.

Spring planting is well under way and hundreds of tiny plants are being transplanted from the city greenhouses to the beds in the various parks under the skillful direction of A. Winkler, head gardener.

The flowers beds in the grounds of the city hall are also being filled with slips.

Franklin park, which was recently purchased by the city council and is situated at the junction of Morton street and San Jose, is nearing completion. The grounds have been laid out, seeds planted, a water supply assured by installing a pump and tank house and the children's playgrounds have been fenced in.

Attendance is increasing at the parks, the highest ever recorded being that for 1922 when, according to the record of Benton, 657,242 men, women and children visited the public parks and playgrounds.

LAWYER PAINTS WOMAN SLAYER AS BATHSHEBA

NEW YORK, March 6.—Oscar Martelliere, slain broker, and Mrs. Paulette Caludes, who is on trial charged with the shooting, were described by the defendant's attorney in summing up his case today, as modern David and Bathsheba. The infidelity of the defendant to her husband was admitted, the attorney said, but he thought it excusable as a weakness handed down through ages. He pictured Martelliere as David, betraying Mrs. Saludes' husband, and of making an attempt to destroy him that he might own his wife and her fortune.

Alien Companies Can't Get Oil Leases

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—The decision of the Interior Department holding [illegible] have a controlling interest cannot obtain leases of American oil lands was reaffirmed in a decision announced today in the case of the Roxana Petroleum comporation, a subsidiary of the Shell company. Approval of the decision was said to be the last official act of Secretary Fall before he retired from office.

Crew Mutinies on Boat Due in S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—The police boat, manned by an extra detail of officers, was held in readiness this afternoon to intercept the steamer Hans Hensoth, upon which a mutiny was reported. A radio was received by the agents here, Flood Bros., importers and exporters, that the crew had mutined.

U. S. FARM TAXES HAVE DOUBLED IN EIGHT YEARS

Federal Inquiry Shows That Producers' Burdens Increase.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Taxes on farm lands have more than doubled in the eight years from 1914 to 1922.

A canvass by the department of agriculture, just completed, shows the average amount of state, county and local taxes paid by farmers throughout the country in 1922 to have been 72 cents per acre, compared with 31.4 cents in 1914. That was an increase of 126 per cent in the eight years. The canvass disclosed that roads and public schools were the principal causes of the increased taxes.

New Jersey farmers were paying the highest taxes in 1922, with an average of $2.22 per acre, compared with 96 cents in 1914, an increase of 132 per cent. Arizona farmers were paying the lowest taxes—7 cents per acre, which was the same as paid in 1914.

In Iowa, premier farm products state of the Union, farmers were paying an average of $1.49, compared with 68 cents in 1914, an increase of 120 per cent. In Texas, second farm production state, the 1922 average was 35 cents an acre, compared with 17 cents in 1914, an increase of 114 per cent.

The largest increase was in Arkansas, with a jump of 160 per cent, the 1922 taxes averaging 66 cents per acre, compared with 18 cents in 1914.

The average taxes paid per acre on farm lands in 1914 and 1922 by states included:

Iowa, 68c and $1.49; South Dakota, 27c and 80c; Nebraska, 27c and 67c; Texas, 17c and 35c; Montana, 7c and 16c; Wyoming, 19c and 39c; Colorado, 20c and 69c; New Mexico, 19c and 83c; Arizona, 7c and 7c; Utah, 24c and 42c; Nevada, 21c and 43c; Idaho, 68c; New Mexico, 19c and 33c; and 70c; Oregon, 27c and 75c; California, 42c and 78c.

MOVE TO WIDEN COLLEGE AVENUE NOW LAUNCHED

BERKELEY, March 6.—The city council of Berkeley this morning instructed City Engineer C. L. Huggins to prepare a resolution of intention for the widening of College avenue from Bancroft way to Dwight way. The plan is to widen the street ten feet. Following the drawing up of the resolution the council will set a date for a public hearing.

The widening of Bancroft way has been the subject of considerable controversy in the past between the property owners and the council. The former claim that the widening of the street will result in the destruction of many fine trees as well as cutting away the fronts of nearly every yard along both sides of the street.

Bank's Right to Shares Disputed

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—That the Mercantile Trust Company had absolutely no right to the 500 shares of stock of the United Properties Company turned over by the trustee of F. M. Smith was the contention in the Federal court here today. Attorney Joseph E. Bien, counsel for the trustee in bankruptcy, arguing before Federal Judge Borquin, declared that the position of the bank was only comparable to that of a burglar who is found without rights on somebody else's premises. The matter was argued on an appeal from the decision of a referee in bankruptcy.

Woman, 83, Gives Testimony in Suit Not Filed

What is declared to be a rare action is a petition filed to have Anna Topley of Vallejo, aged 82, give testimony to prove her ownership of 397 shares of stock in the Topley Company. The action is entitled an application on proceedings to perpetuate testimony.

The petition declares that the testimony is desired now as the evidence may be lost later by the death of Mrs. Topley or her future inability to testify. The petition states that the testimony may be needed against Emma S. Topley as administratrix of the estate of James H. Topley or other adverse parties.

Harry L. Price of Harrison & Price, who filed the action, declares it is brought under a provision of the practice act of 1859 and put in the code in 1872. So far as the records show, says Price, the provision came before the courts only once and then indirectly.

The Topley Company is a drug concern in Vallejo, Price explains, and the ownership of the stock can only be proved by Mrs. Topley. James H. Topley is a deceased son and Emma S. Topley is his widow.

BANDIT MAKES VICTIM RUN; SHOT IN FOOT

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—Calling James J. Laxton a "cheap skate" because he had only $15, a lone bandit, late last night, commanded Laxton to run and then shot at him twice, hitting him in the foot.

The holdup and shooting occurred on the Venice boulevard near Ocean Park. Mrs. K. Read, Laxton's companion, was too frightened to scream. A passing motorist took the injured man to a Santa Monica hospital.

OPEN RESOURCES, ALASKA APPEAL

JUNEAU, Alaska, March 6.—Governor Scott C. Bone in his message to the sixth biennial session of the territorial legislature today urged measures to develop resources opened by the completion of the Alaska railroad by the government at a cost of $56,000,000.

He advocated conservation of fisheries as being "of the utmost importance. Under a system of reservation and regulation by the government conservation will be accomplished."

Assurance was given by the legislature by the executive that the administration in Washington has Alaska's interests at heart and that President Harding is "definitely planning to come here on a trip of inspection during the coming summer."

Injuries to Minors Alleged in Suits

Two suits for damages as the result of injuries to minors in automobile accidents were begun today in the Superior Court. Henry B. Crockette, as guardian for Carlos Dieguez, aged 18, who was injured on the head and his hearing impaired, it is alleged, when his bicycle was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Maybelle Wellendorf, asked for $10,250 damages. J. J. Wellendorf is made a co-defendant.

Joe Raffial, aged 6, was struck by a machine driven by Stanley Allen for M. P. Jessen at Harmon street and Sixty-fourth avenue December 18 last, it is alleged in a suit for $5015 damages instituted against both of them by Harry Raffial. The boy received numerous injuries, it is claimed.

A Hot Dish for a cool morning

There is nothing more bracing these chilly mornings, than a hot nourishing cereal—and whole wheat is all nourishment—yet easily digested.

It's easy to make a real whole-wheat porridge. Just put two Shredded Wheat Biscuits in a small saucepan; add salt and enough water to cover the bottom of the pan; stir and boil until thick. Then serve with milk or cream. Try it—then you'll know what a hot cereal really can be.

Shredded Wheat is 100% whole wheat, ready-cooked and ready-to-eat. A perfect, delicious food for any meal of the day. Serve it simply with milk or cream, or topped with berries or fruits. Contains all the bran you need to stimulate bowel movement. It is salt-free and unsweetened—you season it to your taste.

Triscuit is the Shredded Wheat Cracker—a real whole-wheat toast. Try it with butter, soft cheese or marmalade.

mat the University of California acre of cut-over redwood timber ll produce 189,000 feet, board sixty years. This production exceeds by 30 per cent any second growth obtainable in any other timber producing region in the United States.

The starting of the redwood conservation program will mean a source of supply for posterity. The lumbermen will have added commercial forests to take the place of those which have been leveled and to vie in beauty with the groves protected by the Government.

The California plan for redwood re-forestation is said to be the first in the country wherein practically all of the prominent lumber manufacturers of the locality have joined in the movement.

Tree Planting Week continues to March 10. The contribution of the lumbermen and of those who are planting shade trees along the highways have made it a week of lasting returns.

MORE CALIFORNIA EXPORTS.

A timely announcement, because this is Canned Foods Week, is that of the Department of Commerce of extraordinary success achieved by American canned foods in the export market. Over half a billion pounds of canned foods were marketed in foreign countries last year, the foreign purchasers taking 518,285,760 pounds of American canned foods of all descriptions.

"The fact that our canned foods have achieved such success in world competition," says B. R. Hart, Government specialist, "is largely due to the foresight of many of the larger packers in this country in establishing world markets and standardizing their products to a high degree of quality."

California is the leading center in canning and in furnishing the materials for the canners. American canned fruits, a large part of which come from this state, and no small part of which moves out of the Oakland harbor and rail yards, have the first call in all the world markets, a position they enjoy by reason of the most careful attention which has been given to standardization and quality. Over 207 millions pounds of canned fruit were shipped out of this country in 1922 at a value of $22,500,000. The United Kingdom took over $18,000,000 worth of this output. In 1913 the value of the exported canned fruits was $5,600,000.

In other lines California is interested. Canned milk, vegetables and fish are sent from this State to the world, the milk and vegetables being second and third in the list of canned exports. Exports of canned salmon are more than holding their own with close to 64 million pounds and the fleet which sails from Oakland each year is responsible for its share in the total.

The report shows that the exports of American canned foods in 1922 are far in excess of those in pre war years. Handicapped by differences in exchange and unsettled European conditions the industry has, nevertheless, made astonishing gains. All of this is encouraging for a business which is so well established in California.

SARATOGA'S FESTIVAL.

Saratoga is to have its Blossom Festival on March 22, 23 and 24. So well established is this annual festival and so appealing its charms nothing more than the announcement of the date is needed to attract the thousands of visitors from other parts of the state.

At Blossom Festival time the highways near Saratoga and in all of the Santa Clara Valley are drifted with snowy petals and the whole valley is a sea of rippling bloom. Particularly attractive to the visitor are those roadways which cut straight through the orchards without even a fence between the asphalt and the flowering trees.

In the case of a great many carnivals and celebrations the bother of going to and from halts many prospective visitors. One rides through blossoms and into more when he attends Saratoga's festival.

Thirty years ago Kings county was cut from [illegible] an independent place in the State's roll. In celebration of the anniversary the Hanford Sentinel recently published a 56-page number setting forth the achievements of the county in agriculture and manufacturing. The enterprise and prosperity of the county is reflected by the same qualities in the Hanford newspaper in presenting a complete record in which facts are allowed to tell the eloquent story and in which there is nothing of exaggeration or speculation. Kings county boasts 25,000 in population and a total crop value of $17,977,930. Livestock, dried fruits, dairy products, grain, hay, fresh fruits, and alfalfa are the principal crops. Those who care to divide the seventeen millions by 25,000 will find in the answer a strong argument for Kings county.

There is likely to be surprise over the appointees for the new Federal judgeships in California. Many names were canvassed in this connection during the long time that the subject was up for consideration, but the names of those who finally were chosen were not among them. There is speculation as to how California's senators figured in the appointments, as neither of the appointees enjoyed the special championship of either of the representatives in the upper house, according to popular accounts.

In every door a maiden smiling,
Roses in her hair;
In every door a maid beguiling—
And doors were everywhere!

Love went gayly whistling by them,
Not a sou cared he!
Never stopped to test and try them,
Hearts of constancy!

Love came to a fireless dwelling—
And a heart unlit;
There he sits, and still is telling
All his soul to it!

"The Evil That Men Do."

It is high time something was done about Boards of Aldermen and Art. The ruling body of Ventnor N. J. has just concluded that the statue of a sea nymph submitted by a sculptor for a municipal fountain is immoral. An order has been issued to clothe the thing properly.

The first question is: When is a statue properly clothed? Is a marble knee quite so indecent a sight as a flesh and blood knee? If so, can any amount of marble clothing overcome the wickedness, if the finished statue suggests the highly immoral human form? For when the sculptor covers a marble knee with any amount of marble drapery and the exterior still retains the general lines of a knee, who can say where the knee stops and the clothing begins?

Let the United States Supreme Court or the Society for the Suppression of Vice or some other body schooled in ethics decide this question before we go further.

Having clarified that issue, the next step is to give every Board of Aldermen, Town Council, etc., a proper schooling in art and an examination to pass, before power is granted to criticise The case of the Civic Virtue statue in New York's City Hall park comes to mind again, and we wonder, idly enough, whether Mayor Hylan was really qualified to judge the justification of the principal figure for placing one of his feet rather firmly upon a lady's tummy and handing her the cut direct at the same time

The thing that must not be overlooked is the fact that municipal statuary lingers long after the Boards of Aldermen who determine its style and its morality have passed on Look at the Civil War memorials, for instance which clutter up parks and public squares in every state in the Union

These things, we are driven to suppose, appealed to the aesthetic senses of the Board of Aldermen of sixty years ago. Yet the younger generation today takes them as personal affronts from the elder. We haven't a doubt in the world that these statues of union and non-union soldiers and sailors with their ramrods and their fragments of rope have had a decided effect upon the literary and artistic revolts of this century

If we are to be judged by the young people of a century hence solely upon the merits of our municipal statuary, let us have our sculptures done by sculptors without the aid of the duly elected local authorities Let us take our sea nymphs as they come, unobstructed either by marble drapery or by convenient marble waves.

EXCERPTS from the NATIONAL PRESS

Omaha Bee: "What," we make bold to ask, has become of the good, old-fashioned midweek prayer meeting? In those long gone days when the midweek prayer meeting was an institution in every village, hamlet and town, there were theological discussions aplenty, but they were upon the Book of Books, not upon the ipse dixit of fallible man. Creeds and dogmas formulated in the fertile brains of men had little place in those prayer meetings, but the fervent expressions of faith in every 'thus sayeth the Lord' were on inspiration to better living and cleaner thinking The midweek prayer meetings did not draw like the spectacular gyrations of professional revivalists, but every one of them was a fairly close census of the real, every day, honest-to-goodness Christians of the community."

Goldfield Tribune: "The American Can company for 1922 reports a dividend of 18 30 per cent on its common stock after paying dividends on the preferred. This is contrasted with a dividend of 2.76 in the previous year The Gillette Safety Razor shows net earnings of 25 per cent. about the same as last year, and the Illinois Bell Telephone company 10 5 per cent, a little less than last year. There are many others in proportion There is no criticism of these figures and yet everyone has to pay for tin cans. But suppose the railroads were making 18.30 per cent on their common stock.'"

Kansas City Star: "The enterprise of the Egyptians has made it possible for visitors in Luxor to get a chip of stone from Tut-ankh-Amen's tomb for $10, which seems cheap enough, considering the difficulty the dealers must meet in finding stone in a sandy country like that."

Portland Press-Herald: "February and March are declared by the Life Extension Institute to be the ebb months of human vitality. Pneumonia and influenza reap more victims during the two months than any others and more than twice the number of deaths from various causes are recorded in February and March than in July. This institute advocates that everyone get examined by a competent physician at this time of year and take their advice as to how to build up the system and safeguard the health."

Seattle Times: "Canada's law requiring full reports of election expenditures apparently is enforced with great vigor. A member of the Dominion parliament from Saskatchewan who failed to report that he had hired a band to serenade him after the polls were closed has been denied his seat by the Canadian Supreme Court."

New York Herald: "Senator Shepard of Texas made a speech lasting more than ten hours in the Senate in the filibuster against the ship subsidy bill. To print it in the Congressional Record will cost the nation $1500. At this rate filibustering may prove to be as expensive to the country as a pork barrel bill."

New York Times: "Christianity popularized the great and useful idea that every man is of some importance to himself, and to God. The new literary illumination carries it further—every man is of importance to everybody else, and it is his duty to tell them about it. This seems more debatable."

Oregonian: "The people with the least money now lead in readiness to fight, namely Turks, Poles and Lithuanians. The Germans have unlimited money of a kind, and the French cannot goad them to fight. This is a reversal of the 1914 form, when the rich nations began to burn up their wealth."

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

The small-town merchant who does not advertise is losing money, or his customers are losing money. The chances are that both are losers. For sluggish selling means small buying and money tied up in goods kept too long on the shelves. The buying public is getting "wise" to the fact that non-advertising stores cannot sell as cheaply as the wide-awake merchants who buy in volume and accomplish quick turnovers.—Watsonville Register.

State Architect George B. McDougall doubtless is right in his protest against constructing state buildings of wood, which he says effects no saving in the long run. He declares the first cost of fire-resisting buildings is only from 20 to 25 per cent greater than that of wooden buildings, yet they last twice as long or more, and are far safer for their occupants.—Sacramento Bee.

Many in considering the season of Lent, think immediately of something they should give up, either a food of which they are particularly fond or something they like very much, to do the renunciation being supposed to do the soul good. An Eastern Episcopal minister offers the suggestion that there are do's as well as dont's for Lent, and that self discipline should make for health of body as well as spirit.—Stockton Record.

As a public official Senator Perkins was able and conscientious, doing his duty in every way. In private life he was very kind and charitable and held many positions where he could do good to those less fortunate than he. His biography reads like a chapter of fiction, his career was so replete with action. He was a credit to the State that delighted to do him honor.—St. Helena Star.

It cost the taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars to support the theoretical warfare at Panama, during which the Pacific fleet theoretically destroyed the canal. Still, it was not so expensive as waiting for an actual war and allowing a foreign fleet to destroy the canal in good earnest.—San Diego Union.

Sheriff R. R. Veale has 7000 threes which he will plant along the cement highways of the county. Contra Costa county roadways will soon be the most attractive of any in Central and Northern California.—Richmond Terminal.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

LET HER CRY IT OUT.

"Let her cry it out," they say,
But I wasn't built that way,
Wasn't fashioned to remain
Deaf to every call of pain;
It may be I ought to sit
Here indifferent to it,
Ought to take her mother's word
That such conduct is absurd,
But it takes more nerve than I
Own to let a baby cry.

Six months old, and learned to know
Up to her her Dad will go
If she whoops it up and screams
Babies soon grow wise, it seems
Soon discover who of us
Cannot stand to hear them fuss,
Who'll be first to cave right in,
Breaking all the discipline,
Who will run to see what's wrong
If their cry is loud and strong.

They can tell me she's been fed
And if safely put to bed,
They can say it's very plain
By her cry she's not in pain;
They can argue as they may
That it's temper on display
And beyond the slightest doubt
We should let her cry it out,
And with them I will agree,
But I want to go and see

I'll admit the tyke is wise
And has found that when she cries
One of us will surely go
Up to her and want to know
What the trouble's all about.
Maybe we should fight it out
And should force that babe to learn
Who is boss of this concern,
But when she begins to cry
I've just got to find out why.

DEFEAT OF SUBSIDY.

The ship subsidy bill has been sidetracked and virtually defeated in the United States Senate. Responsibility rests with filibusters They have put their judgment against the judgment of a probable majority, and through the technicalities of parliamentary law have prevented the measure from coming to a vote on its merits.

One immediate lesson emerges from the situation. Opponents of the measure have defended this technical method of defeating the bill on the ground that if it had been allowed to come to a vote and been passed, its passage would have been due to the support of "lame duck" senators, some of whom were defeated at the last election in part at least because they favored the subsidy. The reasoning is that the mandate of that election was against the bill.

If that be true, it offers a substantial argument in favor of the recent proposal to require the convening of congress at an early date after its election, to avoid the legislative activities of members who have been defeated at the polls. If it is not true, it offers a substantial argument against the rules which make such filibusters possible. In the interest of popular government probably both rules should be eliminated.

Certainly this is no proper way to dispose of such an important piece of legislation as the ship subsidy bill. It ought to be decided on its merits, not through technicalities of parliamentary law imposed by a minority upon a majority.—Chicago Tribune.

PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICE

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

MISAPPLIED SANITARY PRECAUTIONS.

The modern practice of sanitation still includes too many extravagant and useless rites. It is strange how reluctant the majority of health officers are about discarding obsolete and wasteful procedures and adopting more scientific methods for the prevention of the spread of disease. The excuse unblushingly offered by many of the political accidents who administer public health is that they fear the public may not approve a radical change, such as doing away with the old-fashioned stink-pot business, fumigation after contagious or infectious disease.

The experience of well protected communities over a period of many years has proved beyond question that terminal fumigation has no positive value in the prevention of the spread of such diseases as scarlet fever, diphtheria and smallpox, yet some communities are spending good money for this useless rite. Not only is it useless but rather dangerous in effect because ignorant persons imagine that once an apartment has been fumigated there is no longer any need for care to prevent the spread of disease, whereas the most efficient fumigation of the sickroom or the entire apartment or dwelling does not warrant any such assurance. Disease is spread by persons or at least by animate carriers; and of course fumigation has no effect on the real agencies of infection.

Regulations or ordinances dealing with the sanitary precautions which undertakers must use in the disposal of the body of one deceased of a contagious or infectious disease place an unwarranted burden of expense on the shoulders of the bereaved family and add not one iota of safety to the public in any way whatsoever. For example, laws require a hermetically sealed casket for shipping such a body. That absurd demand rests on nothing more than superstition. The superstition is that some kind of ethereal or indefinable miasm arises from the body and spreads through the air a fancy which no sanitarian entertains for a moment.

When an outbreak of some communicable disease occurs in school it is still deemed an appropriate rite in some communities to have the school room fumigated. Of course every one knows that the disease is carried to school by one pupil and spread to others through personal contact or in the spray from nose and mouth. How fumigation of the schoolroom can alter that fact is a mystery, with which only an affable politician can grapple. It must be a dirty sort of school that calls for fumigation Maybe it is a case of bad conscience on the part of the health officer, an eagerness to create a huge smoke screen and raise a terrible stench to keep folks from wondering where the health police were when the crime occurred This practice of punishing the schoolroom after the catastrophe may be pleasing to the less enlightened classes but in effect it is just about as sensible as singeing the cat's whiskers.

Perhaps the performance of these impressive rite gives the health officer a kind of dignity and importance (in his own estimation) makes him seem to earn his salary and all that sort of thing.

ONE ON THE DOCTOR.

Not a hundred miles from Oakland, a well-known physician attended by a number of medical students, while making the round of his ward the other day stopped by the bedside of a man with a very prominent chest.

The doctor having elicited from the sick man the fact that he was in the habit of playing a wind instrument, went on: "Yes, yes, all that puffing and straining is very bad for the lungs, very bad."

"What wind instrument do you play?" he added, addressing the patient. To the huge delight of the students the man replied, "The concertina, sir"—M. M.

APPEAL FOR TAX-FREE ART FAILS

Keeler Is Heard in Berkeley Council in Plea for Lifting of License on Concerts; Refuses to Head Request

BERKELEY, March 6.—The impassioned plea of Charles Keeler, poet-secretary of the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce, failed to move the city council today toward taking any steps to give Berkeley "taxless art."

Keeler appeared at the council meeting as the result of police action, which Sunday night interrupted a violin concert held under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce. The concert was interrupted by a uniformed policeman who appeared in the middle of a violin selection and threatened to close up the hall unless a $5 fee was forthcoming in accordance with a city ordinance.

After listening to Keeler who declared that the ordinance requiring a tax on public gatherings was meant for dog shows, etc., the council referred the matter to a committee which has been named to revise the tax ordinance.

Keeler declared that concerts were art and highly essential to Berkeley. These concerts have not been financial successes and while he did not object to police regulation, the tax could not be afforded.

Councilman Charles D. Heywood said it was impossible to discriminate between public gatherings.

1400 HONOR FOUNDERS OF Y. W. AT FETE

Thirtieth Birthday of Organization Celebrated at Civic Auditorium With Dinner and Tributes to Leaders

The vision of the leaders who thirty years ago founded the Young Women's Christian Association in this city was given tribute last night when 1400 men and women assembled at dinner in the arena of the Municipal Auditorium. Charter members of the association were guests of honor. Civic clubs reserved long tables, offering testimony to their spirit of cooperation in the girls' service program. Association clubs of girls wearing gay head dress and displaying banners significant of their purpose, rivaled each other with yells and songs. Special tables were reserved for the various centers, including the colored, Japanese, Chinese and International Institute groups. Miss Hazel Burton was leader of the community singing in which the guests joined.

A great birthday cake lighted with its thirty candles and brought into the arena by the young women of the boarding home, occupied the station of honor throughout the evening.

WORLD SERVICE TOLD.

How the Young Women's Christian Association is flinging its friendship line throughout the world, assisting in the solving of international problems through the service and understanding it is extending to girls of all nations was stressed by Professor Earl Linsley of Mills College, the principal speaker at the celebration.

"We are all disappointed in the events arising out of the world war," Linsley asserted. "The men are now turning to the women and saying, 'We have made a mess of things and cannot see the way out. What can you do about it?' He found his answer in the friendship which was being cemented among all nations through such organizations as the Y. W. C. A. and pointed out particularly the work which was being achieved in the Holy Land, Rome, Athens, Constantinople, and the Latin American countries.

Mrs. Miles E. Fox, the newly elected president of the Oakland association, was introduced by Mrs. Newton Koser, the retiring acting president. In pointing out the place of civic usefulness which the Webster street building occupies, Mrs. Koser reported that an average month brought 22,000 persons within its doors. Mrs. Fox extended formal greeting to the guests.

HONOR PAID.

Honor was offered the women who thirty years ago opened the boarding home by Miss Alice Brookman, executive secretary. This department was founded in 1892 with a half hundred girls she reviewed in a brief history of the local association.

CLUB WILL GIVE THREE PLAYLETS

"The Sweetmeat Game," by Ruth Comfort Mitchell, "Nettie," by George Ade, and "Overtones," by Alice Gerstenberg, are the three one-act plays to be presented by the Community Players club Thursday evening at the Y. W. C. A. auditorium.

"The Sweetmeat Game" is a fantastic Chinese play, pathetic but avoiding the tragic note, and with a happy ending. "Overtones" is one of the most unusual plays of current note, and has been successfully presented in vaudeville within the past year.

This is the third program to be given by the Community Players this season. Among the club members who will participate are Misses Georgine Fink, Ruth Harwood, Harriet Sue Templeton, Una Harris, Mary Hollenbeck, Mrs. Ethel Johns, Philip Pedgrift, Walter Hagedohm, S. A. Santa Rosa Principal Frees Students of All Blame for Taking Liquor to Game; Berkeleyans Blame Guests

(In accordance with a policy of The TRIBUNE not to identify juvenile offenders whose chief shortcoming is thoughtlessness, the names of the seven boys involved in the liquor sequel of Saturday night's basketball game between Santa Rosa and Berkeley high schools in Berkeley were not used yesterday. The TRIBUNE will continue to keep these names from publication.)

BERKELEY, March 6.—Further investigation of the alleged transporting of large quantities of bootleg liquor into Berkeley Saturday night for the Santa Rosa-Berkeley high school basketball game, as a result of which four of the visiting students were found in an unconscious condition on the University of California campus, was doubtful today, according to a statement issued by Melville Martin, principal of the Santa Rosa high school.

In his statement, which came while Berkeley authorities declared they were waiting for the Santa Rosa school authorities to take action, Martin disclaimed any responsibility of the affair as far as the high school or its students were concerned, and stated that he was undecided as to whether to probe the charges further.

STUDENTS ABSOLVED.

"While I have as yet taken no formal steps regarding the matter," Martin said, "I understand from what I have learned that the ones responsible were not Santa Rosa high school students. Some of them, I believe were what you might call 'hangers on' who went to Berkeley with the team. They were in no way connected with the high school and it is not a school matter to any extent that I have so far determined."

Principal C. L. Biedenbach of the Berkeley high school, declared today that as far as he is concerned he has concluded his part of the investigation and was waiting on word from Santa Rosa.

He states that Berkeley High school students are in no way responsible for Saturday night's alleged drinking orgy and places the next move in the hands of the Santa Rosa school officials.

"Certainly if the conditions were reversed and Berkeley High school students transported liquor to another school I should conduct a rigid investigation and mete out punishment to the offenders," declares Principal Biedenbach. "So far I have been unable to get in touch with the Santa Rosa school officials but doubtless they will take some action as a result of the findings in the case thus far.

"My investigation has revealed not a Berkeley High school student involved in the drinking or distribution of liquor. As is the custom a certain portion of our gymnasium is turned over to the visiting team where a game is played on our grounds. All of the alleged irregularities I found occurred in the Santa Rosa quarters and among Santa Rosa students. This is deplorable and the fact that they are not students under my jurisdiction does not mitigate the seriousness of the situation."

TIP IS ADMITTED.

That he was apprised last Saturday night by Officer Clarence P. Taylor of the Berkeley police department that wine had been "smuggled" into the high school gymnasium was admitted today by Principal Biedenbach.

"Officer Taylor came to me for permission to search the lockers and this I readily gave him," said the school head. "Later he returned to tell me that the wine was not strong enough to harm anyone and made light of the situation. I thought no more about the matter until informed that four of the visiting students had been found in a serious condition on the university campus. As far as I was concerned I saw no signs of intoxication or other irregularities on the part of any of the students at the game. As I have stated, however, all of the alleged drinking is declared to have [illegible] visiting team. Naturally I would assume that this team was sent away from home under proper supervision and that there would be no need for our school officials to attempt to supervise the players except in an extreme case."

The four students from Santa Rosa found on the campus were supplemented at police station in an investigation conducted by Officers Frank Waterbury, Ralph Pidgeon, V. A. Wiltberger and C. P. Taylor by three friends from Oakland, former students at the Santa Rosa school.

'SARGASSO' WINS BY EMOTIONAL BEAUTY, POETRY

Local Composer's Work Is Given As Feature on S. F. Symphony Program.

By ROY HARRISON DANFORTH.

Tschaikovsky's Fourth Symphony, "Sargasso," a comparatively new work by a local composer, and Liszt's familiar "Les Preludes" composed the program of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra at the Auditorium theater last evening. Though one of the smaller houses of the symphony season, it asked quarter from none in respect to enthusiasm. A movement of the symphony had the listeners so stirred that the applause was justification for an encore if there were any precedent for such a thing.

The Fourth assuredly is not the greatest in the Tschaikovsky repertoire of symphonies, but it is also far from being the least interesting, if only from a superficial point of view. It lacks clarity in he first and last movements, the pizzicato scherzo is hardly more than a tour de force, typical Tschaikovskian trickery. Yet the moving folk song upon which the andantino is based, the very oddity of the plucked strings and the tremendous effervescence of the finale are inescapable. They may leave you dissatisfied; they will never leave you unmoved.

ZEST AND BEAUTY.

The orchestra, under Alfred Hertz' encouragement, played the work with zest and beauty. The reading was for the most part a noisy one, the shading rather abrupt than subtle; yet several passages were given with charming suavity and grace.

The novelty of the evening, so far as the Eastbay is concerned, was Edward F. Schneider's symphonic poem, "Sargasso." The work is built upon a legend by Down Byrne, which pictures the Sargasso sea as a mighty trap for ships inviting them by its beauty, sucking them into their doom and expanding again into beauty in lure for their successors.

There are both musical ability and poetry behind this work of Schneider's. The thoroughness of the instrumentation is not to be questioned, except in such isolated places, perhaps, as the forte passages which incline somewhat to muddiness. The persistent harmonic on the violins with which he represents the ebb and flow of the water, the sustaining tremolo on the violas, the delicacy of the writing for the wood-wind and other characteristics of the work denote an understanding of the orchestra's possibilities.

FAITHFUL TO ORIGINAL.

As program music the work is faithful to its original. But it is particularly in its expression of emotional moods that it wins attention. It was in this characteristic, too, that the orchestra was chiefly praiseworthy. Technically the instrumentalists were not always so happy.

Liszt's "Les Preludes" was played with an ear to its varieties. No matter how often this work is given the wonder grows that it is built up on but two of the simplest themes.

Miss Zannette W. Potter, local manager of the symphonies, has one more concert to offer, the "Pop" on March 16.

Dinner Will Mark John Drew Jubilee

NEW YORK, March 6.—John Drew's half century on the American stage will be celebrated at a dinner in his honor here, March 25, it was announced today by a committee of 36 prominent men in and out of the theater. Among members of the committee are Elihu Root, Otto H. Kahn, Thomas W. Lamont, Frank A. Munsey, Brander Matthews, Coleman Dupont, Rodman Wanamaker, Charles Dana Gibson and David Belasco.

Noted Health Lecturer Will Visit Alameda

DR. C. E. BARKER, health lecturer, will be the official guest of the Alameda Rotary Club March 15, speaking to the Rotarians. Later in the afternoon he will address the high school students and the Adelphian Club.

Dr. C. E. Barker, One-Time Medical Adviser to Pres. Taft, to Speak.

ALAMEDA, March 6.—Dr. C. E. Barker, who acted as health adviser to Chief Justice W. H. Taft during his term as President, and who has since been lecturing to the general public on health topics, is to be the official guest of the Alameda Rotary Club for the afternoon of March 15.

Dr. Barker will address the club following its regular weekly luncheon in the Moose hall, Central avenue and Oak street. He has chosen for the subject of his address "A Father's Responsibility to His Son."

Later in the afternoon he will speak before a gathering of Alameda high school students in the auditorium of the Porter school. His topic will be "How to Make the Most Out of Life."

Through the courtesy of the Rotary Club the members of the Adelphian Club as well as all interested club women in the city will be given an opportunity to hear Dr. Barker. He will lecture to them at 3 o'clock in the Adelphian clubrooms in Central avenue on "A Mother's Responsibility to Her Daughter."

JACKIE COOGAN IS TOO POOR TO WED JUST NOW

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—(By the United Press.)—Jackie Coogan, world's richest self-made boy, was back in Los Angeles today after a trip to New York, where he wanted to ride on a sled and see snow.

He slipped quietly away from the station and it was reported that he had gone to call on a young lady named "Peaches," in Hollywood.

Newspapermen attempting to interview him met the response that of course any announcement of that sort must come from the lady and that besides he was too poor to marry just now.

Veteran Actor Is Buried in South

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—Funeral services were held here yesterday afternoon for Harry Corson Clarke, veteran actor, who died in a hospital Saturday, after an operation. He suffered a breakdown while playing in Detroit several weeks ago. He was born in New York in 1863 and he had been on the stage 45 years.

He is survived by a widow, Margaret Dale Owen, who was his leading woman.

JOSIE HEATHER AT PANTAGES IS GIVEN OVATION

Palo and Palet, Repeatedly Encored, Show Ability As Instrumentalists.

Palo and Palet stopped the show at the Pantages theater yesterday afternoon, despite themselves.

The two performers are musicians of sorts whose ability to play a number of brass and reed instruments, in addition to piano accordions, won them attention from the patrons, who accorded them several encores. The act was marred by the stalling for more calls and the too-evident desire to give encores.

Josie Heather returned again with Bobby Heather and John McLaughlin, and charmed with her nicely-arranged repertoire of exclusive songs. Miss Heather is not only a hard worker, but she has a showman-like routine and a magnetic personality. Her ovation was honestly earned and heartily given by the music lovers.

The Rollo Trio open the bill this week with a sensational skating act featuring some breath-taking whirls participated in by a young man and a comely young woman. The third member of the trio skates for comedy purposes. Philbrick and De Voe followed in the second position with "Cretonne Bungalow," a novelty singing and patter sketch that won favor, and the bill was concluded with Kate and Wiley posing on an elevated pedestal, on which there was scarcely enough room to stand. This week's photoplay is Betty Blythe in "How Women Love," trite, melodramatic and not too well acted or directed.

The bill as a whole is better than usual.—W. S.

What's Happening in the Motor World
by Jim Roulihan

"Dependent largely on the fluctuations in conditions affecting the sale and delivery of new cars, the used automobile business may now be regarded on the whole as virtually stabilized." Such is the claim of Bert Spear, in charge of Hamlin & Wichman's used car department. "In reaching this stage a notable feature has been the readjustment of mental attitude forced upon those desiring to dispose of vehicles that have seen service when purchasing a new model," contends Spear.

"On clean merchandise," he continued, "the used car business has seldom been better than right now. If a car is of standard make, of late model, of good appearance and in fair mechanical condition it will remain on the floor only a short time. It need not necessarily be repainted, although repainting always causes it to bring a better price.

"The reduction in price of a new Hudson or a new Essex from that prevailing a year ago has been radical. As a result, between the Hudson and Essex used car prices of a year ago and those prevailing today there is a difference of about 40 per cent. In other words, the used car price sustains virtually the same proportion to that of a year ago that the present new car price does to that of last year.

"It is this natural depreciation in the price of a used car, dependent on changes in new car prices, that has necessitated the prospective buyer of a new model readjusting his own mental attitude. When he bases the allowance he expects for his old car on a trade-in on the price he paid for it early last year he will be disappointed; the basis of valuation must be the new car price now.

"As a rule, I may add, any firm selling new models of a car, will take a keen interest in used models of that make—and this is entirely proper. For instance, we are much concerned as to the condition of a used Hudson or Essex passing through our hands. Little difficulty is experienced by us in getting buyers of new models to accept our allowances on the cars traded in because of the prices of our new cars being at bedrock."

CURTAIN CALLS
by WOOD SOANES

ARRANGEMENTS are being made at the Century Theater for a gala celebration of Anniversary Week, starting March 10.

Anniversary Week in this instance has a double meaning. In the first place it is important to Herbert Harris, owner of the theater, because it marks the conclusion of the first year of the Jack Russell engagement.

As a consequence it is important to Russell and his associates for the same reason, marking as it does, the conclusion of the first lap of what gives promise of being a long-term engagement.

But to the theater-going public of Oakland it has a different meaning for twenty years ago on March 17 the theater was opened as Ye Liberty playhouse with the Harry Bishop Players appearing for the first time.

TWENTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

Henry Arthur Jones' "The Whitewashing of Julia," a new comedy, was presented for the first time at the Garrick theater, London, last night.

Ye Liberty playhouse was notable at that time for one thing. It was the largest dramatic stock theater in the country and it had the first revolving stage. As a matter of fact twenty years have passed but the revolving stage remains a novelty, but more about revolving stages some other time.

The first company was selected largely from the cream of the stock players appearing at the Dewey, the Central and the Alcazar, and out of this theater came many players who were to earn international repute in years to come.

Names which come to mind offhand include Frank Bacon, Marjorie Rambeau, Louis Bennison, Walter Catlett, James C. Gleason, Jack Sheehan and a dozen greater and lesser lights in the motion picture world.

Ye Liberty playhouse continued triumphantly for many years under the management of Bishop and then suddenly it started to lose hold. He sold out his interests to Harris and Ackerman and moved to the Fulton where in turn he was succeeded by George Ebey.

For a time the theater was operated as the Hippodrome by Harris and Ackerman with great success. Then the lease passed to John J. MacArthur, who had been house manager for the vaudeville circuit. He played variously vaudeville and stock with a fling at pictures and then settled down to road shows.

During his engagement the theater was known as the Hippodrome, Ye Liberty, and finally the MacArthur. Ultimately the lease went once more to Harris and Ackerman and they in turn gave it to young Harris who named the place the Century.

Guitry's 'Pasteur' to Be Given by the Millers

Gilbert Miller, son of Henry Miller and America's only international producer, is now the managing director of the Chas. Frohman company and is planning to give the first performance in this country of Sacha Guitry's "Pasteur." Singularly enough, Henry Miller will play the title role as well as direct. Something splendid can be looked forward to in the minds of the theater people.

"Pasteur" was produced four seasons ago at the Vaudeville theater in Paris with Lucien Guitry, father of the author, in the role of the scientist and humanitarian. Last season Lucien played it in London and a few weeks ago he revived it at the Theater Sarah Bernhardt in Paris on the occasion of the celebration of the Pasteur centenary.

FORTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

Gilbert and Sullivan's "Iolanthe" was produced for the first time last night at the Fifth Avenue theater in New York.

The play is in five acts and follows closely the career of Pasteur from his early struggles to his ultimate triumps. The English version has been arranged by Arthur Hornblow, Jr.

EXITS AND ENTRANCES

Billie Burke goes on tour in a week or so with "Rose Briar," the Booth Tarkington play which had such a successful run at the Empire.

P. G. Wodehouse is back in America. He intends to remain for some time. First of all he will be reunited with Jerome Kern and Guy Bolton in the preparation of a musical comedy and then he will write the lyrics for "The Heavenly Twins," in which the Duncan sisters will be presented this spring. Florenz Ziegfeld will present the Wodehouse-Bolton-Kern offering with Mary Eaton featured.

Francine Larrimore, after a long season with "Nice People," is resting while Sam H. Harris scurries about trying to find a new vehicle. Meantime Miss Larrimore is considering an offer from the Fulton theater for a brief summer stock engagement.

Harry Cornell of Pantages announces with certain pride that several of the Shubert units have been secured for the Pan time. The Shuberts are presumably trying to recoup some of the losses on their "advanced vaudeville" venture.

Marie Tempest returned to London after eight years' absence in "Good Gracious Annabelle," and was "given the bird." The gallery gods took exception not to Miss Tempest's work but that of her support. The affair is being publicly regretted by the British critics.

'DEVIL DUST' IS WINNING TITLE FOR NEW SERIAL

Berkeley Woman and Richmond Man Awarded the Prizes in Contest.

"Devil Dust" wins.

No, Devil Dust isn't a horse. It's a book.

Devil Dust titles the great TRIBUNE daily serial story of the opium traffic, according to a decision of the judges in the contest just closed for a $15 award.

Two major prizes of $15 instead of only one have been awarded, following the discovery that two people sent in the same title in the same mail.

Mrs. C. E. Dole of 1040 Peralta avenue, Berkeley, and Artemus E. Ward of Richmond are the successful contestants.

"Devil Dust" was chosen by the judges from a list of highly suggestive names, among which were "The Dream Flowers Toll," "Ashes of Opium," "The Poppy's Pawn," "Slaves of the Flower," "The Black Stuff," "The Poppy's Puppets," "Demon Dust," "Incense of Opium," "The Eighth Chasm," "Fallen Petals," "Forbidden Fairies" and "Blossoms of Betrayal."

Hundreds of letters were received by the story editor suggesting a fitting name for this novel.

"Devil Dust" has been written exclusively for The TRIBUNE by the staff reporter who wrote "The Quist Mystery," "Vanishing Wives" and "The Army of a Million Crooks."

Announcement of its publication date will be made soon.

ADMINISTRATOR TO KEEP HIS POST

George Keefe will continue as administrator of the estate of the late L. A. Gearhard, Oakland business man, but he must reimburse the estate for a loss of $750, according to a decision rendered by Superior Judge E. C. Robinson today. Keefe was charged by Mrs. Elsa Myers, a relative of Gearheard, and one of the heirs of the estate with gross mismanagement of the property.

"The court finds no evidence of fraud in this case," said Judge Robinson in denying the petition to remove Keefe as administrator of the estate.

According to the testimony at the hearings, among the Gearhard holdings was a grocery store in East Oakland. This store has been operated under the direction of Keefe, who produced testimony to show that its location was bad and that for many months prior to the death of Gearhard it had been losing money. The loss since the death of Gearhard was placed at $750, which Judge Robinson ruled must be charged against the administrator under the law.

A further item of $650 paid as a commission on the sale of realty belonging to the estate was stricken from the account without prejudice and the question as to whether it shall be paid or not will be brought up when the final account is rendered.

FATHER LETS DAUGHTER DRIVE AUTOMOBILE

"Hello, Anna! I hear you are learning to drive your father's car."

"Yes—that is, I'm beginning to learn. I have had two lessons and I can steer fairly straight and can stop the car. I have a terrible time starting it, though, and learning all about high, low and intermediate."

"Don't talk all that lingo to me. You know, my father won't consider letting me drive. Says he can't afford to buy new cars and pay doctor bills. He seems to think I am feeble-minded."

"I know how it is. Mother and I have had the same trouble. Mother coaxed dad into teaching her last summer, and I really think she drives as well or better than he does. Since she did so nicely he's allowing me to learn."

"Speaking of cars—Freda said she'd be glad to have us go to Mary's tea with her next week. It's a fairly long distance down the peninsula and off the highway."

"Sweet of Freda to take us. That reminds me to start worrying about what to wear again. That is scheduled to be quite an affair and I haven't a thing worth wearing."

"What's wrong with that copper colored crepe."

"I've worn it a dozen times, and, besides, it's showing wear and tear. And a color like that is easily noticed. I want a blue or black silk of some new material."

"My dear, go out to Cherry's, at 515 13th street. They have in the sweetest new dresses, and you may open a charge account there, too."

Cherry's store for men is at 518 13th street.

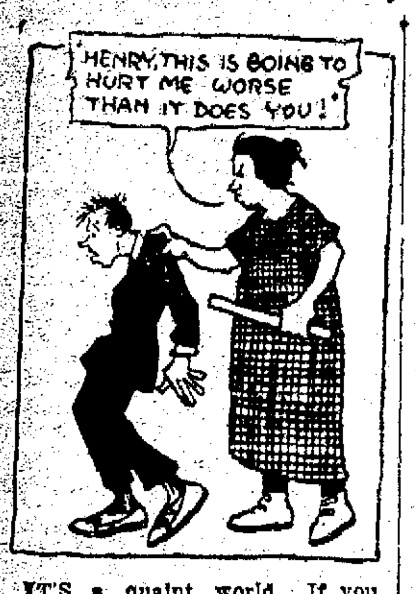
Listen, World



HENRY, THIS IS GOING TO HURT ME WORSE THAN IT DOES YOU!

IT'S a quaint world. If you don't believe me read the following. Out in Oakland the other day a pretty, twenty-year-old wife had her husband arrested.

"He spanked me!" she sobbed to the police judge. "That's why I had him arrested. And choked me too, the brute!"

"I didn't choke her, your honor!" retorted the indignant spouse. "I just spanked her. She didn't come home Saturday night—not until late Sunday morning. Then, when she wouldn't tell me where she was, I spanked her. It's just what she deserved and I'd do it to any woman under the circumstances. She had it coming to her!"

So that's that. And now listen to this from Detroit. I quote from the Daily News. "Joseph Leszynski, 31, will behave for the next year if spanking and the continual presence in his home of a probation officer have the proper effect. Mrs. Gladys Leszynski, his wife, proved to Judge Thomas M. Cotter yesterday that she was capable of spanking him—had been doing it for a long time—and was instructed by the court to administer the punishment whenever she believed it necessary. She then was made a special probation officer for one year to see that her husband came home at a reasonable hour, avoided bad company and conducted himself as a dutiful husband should.

"He'll get a spanking tonight if you say so; I'll spank him every day," Mrs. Leszynski, flushed with her new authority, told the judge. The court made no plea for mercy.

"Joseph, considerably less muscular than his spouse and decidedly of a more timid disposition, corroborated his wife's assertion that spanking him was easy for her. She seized him by the neck, stretched him over her knees and spanked him until he screamed, he said, and then sent him to bed."

As I said before, it's a quaint world and the quaintiest part of it is this—The news of these disgusting brawls won't excite or shock the average reader half as much as a serious discussion of some sort of contract marriage which would keep wedlock harmonious and dignified without resort to such barbaric practices.

However, since this is Homelife, and since we do not, as yet, want anything else, why isn't it just as fair for Mrs. Gladys Leszynski to spank her husband as for Mr. Thomas Price to spank his wife? One thing is sure—if Judge Cotter's decision has established a precedent this fair land will shortly abound with training camps for brides.

(Copyright 1923)

You'll like this letter, Pals. Perhaps you won't quite agree with it, but there's such beauty in it that it disarms all criticism:

"Dear Geraldine:

"I am so interested in your department and the subjects discussed. I have been young, but now I am old and I have learned a few things that make the dangers very clear to me, that younger judgment might not see. As to marriage by contract, without civil bond or law to bind the marriage: it would never be safe because of the variableness and changes constantly going on in human feelings and states of mind. I have seen men who would get so angry and furious over such a small thing as a button not on their shirt, that they would treat a 'contract marriage' as a scrap of paper and without conscience break away from the status of marriage. I have seen other men who were so easily ensnared by a pretty face and had such a lust for variety in women that a wife's rights and feelings would not have any effect in keeping them straight unless there was another bond to hold them.

"In marriage they need all the force of civil and state laws as well as all the power back of the constitution of the government to hold them to their vows and duties because of defenseless little children who need the tender love of a mother and the protective, providing love of a father and who are cruelly wronged by divorces and separations and the breaking up of the home, which leaves them half orphaned. When people are governed by a principle of right they do not consider their emotions or feelings, but they ask—What is right? What is my duty?

"Nearly every married couple, at some time in their career, have differences, little quarrels and estrangements, and times when they felt the bondage of marriage. But when they have held steadfastly to duty and to right, they have changed and felt so happy and glad that they were kept from a separation. They have grown to truly love and respect each other and their marriage has been a success.

"There is no time or place in life when we can lightly ignore our duty. An erring wife needs a compassionate, considerate husband and an erring husband needs the tender, faithful love of a good wife. Indeed, we all need love more than anything else and love is a great solvent to dissolve and drive away evil. Of course love should be the real tie that binds in marriage, but we are not yet regenerated enough to throw aside the laws that defend and protect marriage. GRANDMA."

And here's Jerry's very big love to you, dear. Write again, won't you?

Peter Harvey wrote a little sermon for husbands which pleased M. E. M., as shown in the following letter:

"Dear Jerry:

"Peter Harvey deserves credit. He is a keen observer and his article was needed badly.

"I know fathers whose children wait patiently at the windows for them and whose homes are happy, because they do their part to make them happy.

"I know a few fathers who come home night after night with brave smiles. Brave because they know that no matter how cheerful they are their wives and children will be cross and mean. But I know more fathers who are as Peter Harvey describes them than I do other kinds.

"Their children hope that they have to work late or something and take on a solemn expression when they appear and say nothing. If they do talk, no matter what they say, said father is immediately correct! Those men do not care how they raise their children or treat their wife, just so they 'boss.'

"Any one can tell what kind of a husband a man is by looking at his wife's face! If she has a patient, dragged expression, ages quickly after getting married, be pretty sure that 'husband' has a quick temper and is proud of it, and wifie is tired trying to pacify family upheavals.

"But, Jerry, I do not like the woman who mismanages and gossips, then wants her husband to do any work at home. I have most of my cooking for Sunday finished Saturday. We go to the hills and have a holiday, and believe me, whenever I get so lazy that my husband has to help me any with housework I will quit! If a wife manages right she can keep a house well. I spend my extra time after my work is finished writing. If I gossiped or read novels husband might need to help.

"M. E. M."

I agree with M. E. M. in her contempt for husband-bullys, but I'll confess that I have almost as much contempt for the wives with "the patient, dragged-out expression." Maybe they're born that way and can't help themselves, but I've always had a sneaking notion that if you're treated like a worm it is because you have some decidedly wormy qualities. A domestic bully is usually one of the easiest pests to tame—provided you go about it right.

In the first place you have to know his secret, which is simply this—he's a coward. A really strong, wise, brave man doesn't need to bluster and blow to exert his authority. He wins infinitely more respect by his quiet, sympathetic management. The bully roars and peeves because he has neither brains nor backbone enough to do anything else. If a wife would meet her bullying husband with those qualities which he lacks and inwardly fears—firm determination, silent contempt, unshakable self-control—he would shortly feed out of her hand. Instead she meets his ravings with either tears or tempers, and cajoles him by deceit, flattery or sly "management." No woman now with a particle of backbone need stand any real abuse from a man, for she has the power of the court backing her in her demand for decent treatment, if she will but invoke it.

And while I'm on this subject, let me sling a disrespectful adjective at the woman who will bring up her children to cringe, lie and flatter a bullying mate because she either loves or fears him. There's no more contemptible character in the galaxy of weaklings than such a woman. Let her "keep the domestic peace" by all means, but let her keep it as any self-respecting person should keep it, by a valiant defense of her own and her children's rights.

I like your insistance that a woman should keep busy, M. E. M., but why this contempt for "novel reading?" Some of the finest books are novels. You say you write. No person can write intelligently or with profit to others who does not read and study continually.

Level-Headed Love | Stolen Love | Tempestuous Love

By Kathleen Norris

"Does Mrs. Tabor have my room when she is here?" Harriet presently suggested, sympathetically. "Now, my dear," she added, as Nina's quick self-conscious and hostile look gave consent. "Mrs. Tabor is too thoroughly acquainted with convention to blame you if your father keeps you under a governess' eye for a little while longer. You're the most precious thing your father has, Nina, and as I used to remind you years ago, you don't begin to have the restrictions that the European princesses have to bear!"

This view of the case was always pleasing to Nina's vanity: she was quite clever enough to see that a friend protected and confined, watched and valued, would lose no pristige with the charming "Ladybird." She pouted; and Harriet saw that for the moment the battle was here.

"Darling gown!" said Harriet of the picture.

"Oh, she has the most wonderful clothes!" It was the old Nina's voice. "She doesn't spend much, but she goes to the best places, and they know her there, and the women at Hatson's will say, 'I've got a gown for you, Mrs. Tabor!' She picked out this negligee, and she picked out another gown for me that you haven't seen. That was one thing that made trouble between her and her husband," Nina said, eagerly. "She can't help [illegible] so jealous, and she told me that she told the ujdge exactly what she spent for clothes the last year, and he said that that was less than his wife spent, mind you, and he said he didn't know how she did it! And that was the judge, that had never laid eyes on her before: She used to cry and cry, after she got her divorce, because she said that she thought there was a sort of disgrace about it. But this judge in Nevada said that a man like Jack Tabor ought to be horsewhipped!"

"Has she been here very much?" Harriet said, after a moment.

"Oh, lots! She loves to be here, and I can't thing why," Nina said, "because people are all crazy to get her, and she could go to the most wonderful dinners and things. But she really is just like a girl, herself; sometimes we burst right out laughing, because we think exactly the same about things! And she just loves picnics, and to let her hair down—and she's so funny! You'll just love her when you know her—".

Nina, Harriet reflected, had had a thorough dose of poison. It would take, like many diseases, more poison to cure her, a counter dose. Going to her room to change to one of the new gowns, Harriet had a moment of contempt for the new-found intimate, who could so unscrupulously play upon the girl's hungry soul. But with this situation it was possible to cope: there was definite comfort in the fact that Nina had not mentioned Royal Blondin.

Brave in the new gown, whose lustreless black velvet made even more brilliant her matchless skin, Harriet went to find Ward. She met instead one of his houseguests, Corey Eaton, a man some years older than Ward, a big, rawboned, unscrupulous youth, with a wild and indiscriminate laugh. Mr. Eaton, greeting her enthusiastically, admitted frankly that he was just up from bed, and that he had been "lit up like a battleship" last night, and that he still felt the effects of it.

"Mr. Eaton," Harriet said, in an undertone, making another strategic decision, "come in here to the library, will you? I want to speak to you."

"When you speak to me thus," said Corey Eaton, passionately, "I can refuse you naught!"

But he sobered instantly into gravity at Harriet's first confidence. She told him simply of Isabelle's death.

"Well, that surely is rotten—the poor old boy!" said Corey, affectionately. "Ward's mad about his mother, too! Well, say, what do you know about that? We'll beat it, Miss Field, Nixon and I. We came in my car and we'll go to the Jays' for dinner. ay, that is tough, though, isn't it?"

It was not eloquent, but it was sincere, and Harriet made her thanks so personal and so flattering that the young man could only fervently push his plans for departure, swearing secrecy, and evidently touched by being taken into her confidence. The fatnesses were [illegible] riet could have laughed as she left him at the foot of the stairs. Bottomley respectfully addressed her as she turned back into the hall:

"Miss Field, I wonder if you'd be so good—?"

She nodded, and accompanied him instantly into the pantry where they could be alone.

"It's Madame," said Bottomley, bitterly, "she's just 'ad me up there agine, it's really tryin'—that's what it is. It's tryin'! Now she 'ad to 'ave her say about you bein' at table, Miss Field. I says that you 'ad stipulited that you was to be there. Now, I says, and I says it arbitrarily like, and yet I says it respectful, too—"

"Now, just wait one moment, Bottomley," Harriet said soothingly. "I want to talk to you and Pilgrim. Is she in her room? Suppose we go there?"

Pleased with the consideration in her manner, the outraged Bottomley led the way. Mrs. Bottomley was enjoying a solitary cup of tea; she bustled hospitably for more cups.

"I want to tell you that your comin' has taken a load off my soul," said Uilgrim, a grey, round-visaged woman who had a sentimental heart, "and so I said to Mr. Carter not three days since! I know that Bottomley," said Pilgrim with an Englishwoman's admiring look for her lord, "would never have spoke so harsh if he had but known you might come back. It's been very bad, indeed, Miss, since you went, as we was tellin' you a bit back. Impudence, orders this way and that, confusion and what not, and Mr. Ward very wild, really very wild, and so at last Bottomley said he couldn't stand it."

"I'm hoping he will reconsider that," Harriet said, pleasantly, with a blance at the face Bottomley tried to make inflexible. "For I'm going to tell you two old friends some news. We have always been friends, haven't we?" said Harriet.

"It would be 'ard to be anything else, and I've said it before this! It's a different 'ouse with you in it!" Bottomley said. Pilgrim, rocking to and fro, clasped Harriet's hand to her breast, and beamed. With no further preamble Harriet announced Isabelle's death.

The servants were naturally shocked. There were a few moments of ejaculatory and sorrowful surprise. Her that was so young and so 'andsome, and went off so bold and high! It didn't seem possible, so far away from 'ome and all.

When this had died away, Harriet had more news.

"I'm going to tell you two something," she began. "You are the very first to know, and I know you'll be glad. Before I left the house last October, Mr. Carter did me the—the great honour to ask me to—to marry him."

It gave her inward delight even to voice it; it made the miracle seem more real.2 Bottomley and the Pilgrim exchanged stupefied glances in a dead silence.

"I met him at eleven o'clock today," Harriet finished, simply, "and we drove to Greenwich in Connec- [illegible] o'clock."

Bottomley and Pilgrim glanced again at each other, glanced at Harriet, opened their mouths slowly.

Then Pilgrim dropped the hand she wa. familiarly caressing, and Bottomley rose slowly to his feet.

"Oh, no!" Harriet said, flushing in utter confusion and with a nervous laugh. "Oh, please! Please sit down, Bottomley, and please don't either of you think that it has made any difference. Although I am Mrs. Carter now, I'm still Miss Nina's companion!"

"To think of you bein' Mrs. Carter!" Pilgrim marvelled in a whisper.

"Oh, sh-sh-sh! You mustn't say it even!" Harriet caught both their hands. "No one must know. I only told you so that you would help me, so that you would understand! There will be no change, anywhere—"

Bottomley shook a dazed head; but Pilgrim loked at the other woman with kindly eyes, and presently said:

"Well, now, it's hard on you, so young and pretty and all, and goin' right on as if you wasn't married a bit!"

LEAVE THE JACKETS ON.

Do not peel the left-over potatoes, as they keep better in their skins. When peeled they dry on the outisde and have to be pared again before using, thereby wasting a great deal of the potato.

Uncle Wiggily

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE DUSTING BRUSH.

Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper, was busy sweeping in the kitchen of the hollow stump bungalow one day when the telephone bell rang.

"I'll see who it is," offered Uncle Wiggily. "I know you're busy, Nurse Jane.

And when the bunny rabbit gentleman talked into the telephone he heard the voice of Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig, at the other end of the wire.

"Could Nurse Jane come over a little while and help me make a chocolate cake?" grunted Mrs. Twistytail. "I'll send you home a slice, Uncle Wiggily."

"I'll send Nurse Jane right over," promised Uncle Wiggily, who was very fond of chocolate cake. But when the bunny rabbit gentleman went to the kitchen to tell the muskrat to go over to the home of her friend, Mrs. Twistytail, why Nurse Jane said:

"Uncle Wiggily! I can't go out now and leave the kitchen half swept. Impossible."

"Not at all impossible!" laughed the bunny uncle with a jolly twinkle of his pink nose. "You go over to Mrs. Twistytail's and help her make the chocolate cake. And be sure to bring me a slice."

"But who is to finish doing the kitchen?" asked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"I will!" cried brave Uncle Wiggily. "I am not afraid of a little dirt. I'll sweep the kitchen from where you leave off and I'll take up the dust in a pan with the brush."

Nurse Jane thought for a moment and then she said:

"All right! It is very kind of you. I would like to get out of the kitchen for a little while and I'll bring you not one but two slices of chocolate cake!"

"This seems too good to be true," spoke Uncle Wiggily, with a jolly little twinkle of his pink nose. "Don't forget. And now, hop along, Janie, my dear. Mrs. Twistytail will be waiting for you. I'll finish sweeping and taking up the dust in the kitchen."

And when Nurse Jane went out of the hollow stump bungalow the Fuzzy Fox, who was always hiding around, looking for ears to nibble, saw her going over to the lady pig's house.

"Ah ha! This is my chance!" thought the Fuzzy Fox to himself. "Nurse Jane is out—Uncle Wiggily is all alone? I'll sneak in and nibble his ears. I'll go in the kitchen, hide under the stove and when he isn't thinking about me I'll jump out at him and cry 'Boo!' That will frighten him so he'll forget to twinkle his pink nose and I can easily nibble his ears."

No sooner said than done. Into the kitchen sneaked the fox, just when Uncle Wiggily was at the front door looking out to make sure Nurse Jane didn't stumble and fall. And when the muskrat lady was safely on her way to Mrs. Twistytail's, Uncle Wiggily hurried back into the kitchen to sweep it and take up the dust. He knew nothing about the Fox under the stove.

He gave a big pull.

The bunny gentleman used the broom on the kitchen floor. He swept the dust up in a pile and then found the dustpan on which to take up the dirt.

"But I need a dusting brush with which to push the heap of dirt into the pan," said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "Let me see now—where does Nurse Jane keep the dusting brush?"

Just then Uncle Wiggily looked under the stove. He saw there something fluffy and fliffy—something fuzzy and hairy.

"Ah, there's the dusting brush—under the stove!" cried the bunny. He reached under, took a strong hold and gave a big pull. Then—

"Ouch! Wow! Oh, let go! Oh, stop! You're hurting me!" howled a voice.

"What's that? How can I hurt a dusting brush?" asked the bunny, and he pulled harder than ever.

"You haven't the dusting brush! You have hold of my tail. Oh, don't pull it off! Don't pull my tail off!" howled the Fox, for he it was. And he was so frightened and filled with pain at Uncle Wiggily's pulls on his tail that the Fox scrambled out from under the stove and jumped out of the window. So he didn't nibble the bunny's ears.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny as he found the dusting brush behind the stove and finished cleaning the kitchen. "That was a funny mistake to make! Ha! Ha!"

I think so myself; don't you? But if the egg beater doesn't try to pick overcoats off the hat tree before they are ripe, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's taffy.

THE FIRST PRINTED PICTURES

If you had to make twenty or thirty pictures of the same kind, I am sure you would get tired of the job. That is what often happened to the artists of the Middle Ages. They had to make pictures for many copies of the same book.

For a long time they did not know what to do about it. Perhaps it was news from China which gave them the clew which was to make their work less tiresome.

The Chinese deserve the honor for making the first "wood-cuts."

"What is a wood-cut?" you may ask.

It is a block of wood with a picture carved on it. If the wooden picture is covered with ink, it will make a print when pressed against paper.

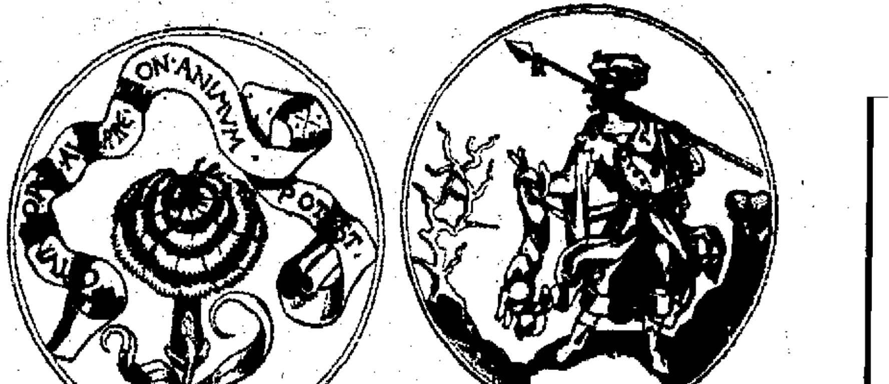
The Chinese printed pictures with wood-cuts several hundred years before they were used in Europe.

Very likely travelers brought word of this Chinese custom to Europe. At any rate, wood-cuts began to be used there about five hundred years ago.

You will be interested to hear how these cuts were made. This was probably the chief way:

A picture was made by an artist. He drew it on thin paper, which a person could see through. The picture was turned over and laid on a block of wood. Then the artist, or another man, took a sharp knife and began to cut to either side of each line, so as to leave the lines of wood instead of ink. After all the wood between lines was cut away, the "cut" was finished. It could be inked, and hundreds of copies of the picture could be made.

Wood-cuts were first used in Europe to make images of saints, pictures for playing cards and large, fancy initial letters. The initial letters were put at the start of handwritten chapters in books.



These pictures show the designs on two playing-cards printed near the end of the Middle Ages. You see the "Ace of Carnations" and the "Knave of Mares." Other suits were the "Columbines" and the Balls.

Little Benny's Note Book

By Lee Pape

We red a story in skool today for the reeding lessin all about some poor but honest kid helping a poor old guy across the street and the poor old guy was reely a rich old guy and he adapted the poor kid and gave him sutch a swell education that he quick grew up and married the rich old guys grand dawter and was elected governor and everybody respected him.

Wich after we finished reading it Miss Kitty sed, And now wat boy can tell me the moral of that little story?

Puds Simkins raising his hand and saying, The moral is that no matter how poor a persin looks you never can tell.

O you dont say so, well you are quite rong, Benny Potts, don't you know wat the moral is? Miss Kitty sed.

The moral is that if you ever ixpect to be governor you cant start too soon, I sed.

Werse and werse, Miss Kitty sed. The moral is that service and helpfillness to others are the most noble things in werld, and altho the boy was rewarded for his kind action I am sure he did it with the most unselfish motives, she sed. Now I wunt every boy in the class who feels that he would perform an unselfish act of service with no thawt of reward to raise his hand, she sed.

Wich everybody quick raised their hand and Miss Kitty sed, Now I will put you to a practical test and call for 3 boys to unselfishly stay after skool and cleen the blackbords for me with no thawt of reward, all volunteers please raise their hands.

Wich nobody did, and Miss Kitty sed, All rite then, very well, I was going to reward the 3 unselfish boys by giving them each one of those little boxes of candy on my desk, but now the ferst 3 boys that I catch tawking or inattentive I will make them stay and cleen the blackbords and take the candy home with me agen.

Which she did, the 3 being me and Puds Simkins and Raymin Levy.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

TO KEEP SUET.

Suet will keep sweet indefinitely if wrapped in grease-proof paper, put into a linen bag and kept in a dry, cool place.

A REMINDER.

Have you remembered to give the kitchen linoleum its fall coat of clear varnish or shellac. You will add years to the life of it if this is done once every six months.

OVEN HEAT.

When baking rich cakes of small size, put them into a hot oven and gradually decrease the heat. Large layer cakes are better if put into a cold oven and allowed to heat with the oven.

WARMED-UP ROAST.

To warm up a roast so that the meat will not become hard or dry, wrap it in thickly greased paper and keep covered in the oven.

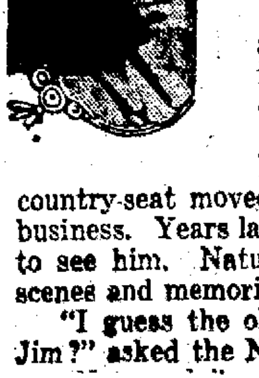
STAINS FROM VASELINE.

Rubbing with kerosene will remove vaseline stains. If they are of long standing, put the article to soak in kerosene, then rub and wash with soapsuds.

DRESSMAKING AT HOME.

If you make your own clothes and have no one to fit you, it is wise to stitch around neck bands and armholes to prevent their stretching while you are trying the garment on.

MY FAVORITE STORIES by IRVIN S. COBB



The Curfew in Nebraska

Of course, in these days, when no community is so small or so obscure or so old-fashioned that it lacks service stations and jazz orchestras and schemes for a proposed Civic Center, this story no longer could be made to apply in any American town. But I am reliably informed that in a previous decade it had a basis of fact behind it.

As the tale runs, a man who was born and reared in a remote Nebraska country-seat moved to New York, where he succeeded in business. Years later a friend from his former home came to see him. Naturally, talk drifted back to childhood scenes and memories.

"I guess the old town hasn't changed much, has it Jim?" asked the New Yorker.

"Not much," said Jim. "She's pretty much the same."

"I presume they still blow the curfew whistle at nine o'clock every night just as they started to do shortly before we moved East?"

"Naw, they had to quit that after a few months. It woke everybody up!"

My Marriage Problems

Adele Garrison's New Phase Of

Revelations of a Wife

WHAT DON RAMON WANTED MADGE TO DO.

It took all the firmness at my command to meet the situation which the sudden dash of the mysterious Don Ramon Almirez toward the door of the shop brought to me. That his pretended paroxysm of coughing was but a ruse, and that he meant to speak to me under its cover, I was very sure, and I was terrified lest the people with him, or worse still, my mother-in-law, should detect his purpose.

"Oh! Don Ramon!" The exclamation sounded from three voices as the people with him followed him solicitously. But he waved them back, with a choking:

"Please—people with me disturb me. I shall be all right presently."

"But, you should—" the pompous man began fussily, when his daughter interrupted him.

"Do shut up, Dad," she said with the appalling disrespect of some modern children. "Can't you see he doesn't want us watching him cough and choke? You wouldn't like it yourself. Don't watch him."

I was guiding Junior through the door by this time, taking swift advantage of the delay in Don Ramon's progress caused by the fussy father's interruption. But before I had reached the street he was close behind me, had jostled Junior, with a clever pretended inadvertence and was apologizing, hat in hand:

"A thousand pardons, Madame —ah, but you are the discreet person! Listen, you must give this to your father from me—"

A SECRET MESSAGE.

He had stooped to the ground and now brought up in his hand a woman's handkerchief—which I realized he must have carried for just this encounter—and was holding it out to me as if because of his jostling I had dropped it. Mechanically I put out my hand for it and felt it pressed into my hand with something else that rustled—paper I decided, and then Don Ramon, bowing again, turned away.

But something entirely outside my own volition brought low quick words of warning to my lips.

"Don't go back till we have gone," I murmured. "She thinks she knows you."

He uttered but one word—

"Ca-r-r-r-am-ba!" Then he walked rapidly toward the nearest drug store, as I climbed into my car, smiling even through my trepidation at the burlesque which he had put into the melodramatic word.

I guessed that the eyes behind the thick-lensed glasses were gleaming sardonically at me, and I was sure of it, when safe in the shelter of the druggist's doorway, he turned toward the car, swept off his hat and made a low bow, and then put his finger on his lips with an air which made me bite my lips to keep from laughing outright.

I turned my switch key and started the car, having first stuffed the handkerchief and the rustling paper enclosure deep into my bag. And then my mother-in-law and Marion came out of the door of the shop.

"Go on ahead, Marion," I heard Mother Graham say while she stopped and looked searchingly up and down the street.

MADGE EXPLAINS.

I cast an involuntary glance toward the druggist's door and was thankful indeed that I could see nothing of the mysterious Don Ramon. He must have gone to the back of the chemist's shop, I decided, and drew a breath of relief at this small advantage in the catechism I saw before me.

"Where did that jackanapes go?" my mother-in-law asked, when Marion very prettily had assisted her into the tonneau where Junior was already ensconced, and had then climbed in beside me.

"What jackanapes?" I asked innocently, putting the gear in first, and moving slowly away from the curb where we were parked.

"Don't try to pull any wool over my eyes, Margaret!" my mother-in-law retorted tartly. "You know very well whom I mean, that Don —whatever he calls himself—who went out right after you did. I saw him bowing and scraping like the educated chimpanzee in the zoo—"

"Well, he ought to have bowed and scraped!" I declared with as much pretended indignation as I could muster. "He nearly knocked Junior off his feet in his hurry to get out, and my handkerchief flew out of my hand, and of course he picked it up and returned it. But he is a florrisher, isn't he? I wonder if he'll try his airs on the druggist. I saw him go in there. I suppose for something for his cough."

"You're explaining as much as if you knew the man and were trying to keep it dark," she commented caustically, but the suspicion had gone from her voice, and I knew that my explanation had satisfied her. But the nearness to the truth of her observation gave me some uneasy moments, and I hurried the car along toward home, for I was anxious to see my father, tell him the story of my first meeting with the mysterious Don Ramon—a tale I never had found the opportunity to relate—and give him the message which had just been handed me.

A HAPPY THOUGHT.

A seamstress I know has opened one end of her tape measure and inserted a corset steel the same width as the tape measure. This stiffened end is indispensable when hanging skirts and is also a comfort in not having to fumble around for the beginning of the measure.

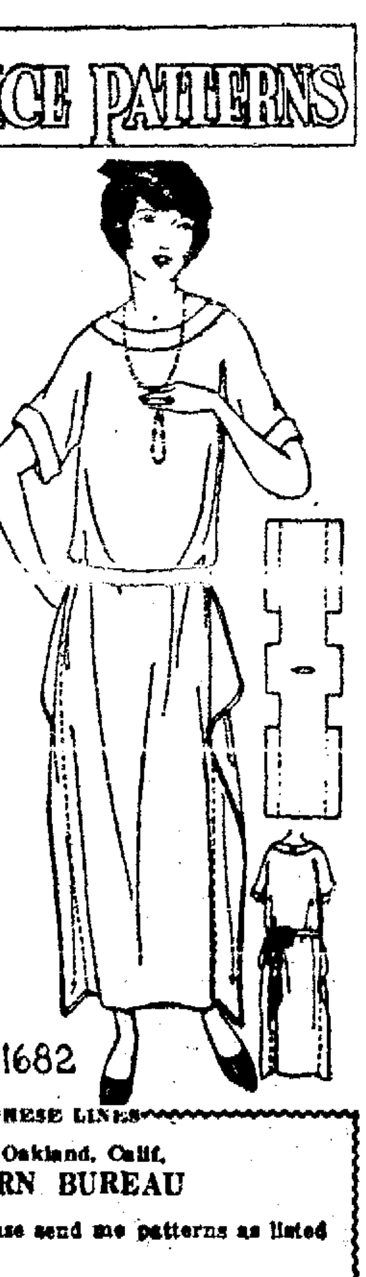
Wild Oats

There is a saying—
Handed down—
For many generations past—
Behing which I can see the devil leering—
For you've been told and so have I—
That it but helps to make the man—
For youth to sow his wild oats—never fearing—
That it will blight the tender buds—
That blossom full in later years—
And serve to make or mar him—
It is an empty-sounding claim—
And lures on thousands to their shame—
I've often heard young Billy Dean—
Repeat this saying o'er and o'er—
As if he sought some weak excuse—
For spending several precious weeks carousing—
"It must be done," I've heard him say—
"For soon there'll come my wedding day—
And then goodnight to fools and folly—
I'll settle down and be a man"—
So Billy sowed oats by the peck—
Not sensing that it soon would wreck—
Kind Nature's plan—
And every time he started out—
Dull care beguiling—
Soon after I'd meet him again—
With full lips smiling—
Although his eyes were heavy lidded—
And Billy told me once again—
Each youth must sow his wild oats—
I knew the pace was killing him—
And often when his head was clear—
I told this good lad of my fear—
But he just laughed and went his way—
And sowed—nor thought of reaping day—
The years sped by—Bill set the pace—
In dissipation's lurid race—
Until a comely maid reached out to save him—
It seemd to me a miracle—
But after she had smiled on Bill—
He changed his plan—
And soon this maid with manner bland—
Had Billy eating from her hand—
And they were wed—
The folks around all shook their heads—
But Billy fooled his old home town—
And settled down—and made a kindly husband—
One day there came a little lad—
The very picture of his dad—
And like in disposition—
And Billy fairly worshipped him—
Too soon the years made Billy gray—and halt—
But Billy said 'twas nature's fault—not thinking—
Of all the lurid years behind him—
But wild oats sown are reaped in pain—
Though tears repentant fall like rain—
I watched Bill's boy become a man—
And often heard his father plan—such dreaming—
Then one day Billy came to me—
And down his face hot tears were streaming—
And whispered that his boy had come home drunk—
I never told Bill, but I know
His boy had started in to sow—
While Bill was reaping.

CLARICE PATTERNS



Slip-on Draped Dress.
(No. 1682)

The diagram will give you an idea of how easily this stylish, draped dress can be made. The pattern cuts in three sizes, small for 14 years and 16 years, medium for 36 and 38 inches bust measure. This very becoming model can easily be made in an afternoon; for material we suggest Crepe de Chine, satin or cotton crepe, or any other soft material which will drape well.

TO THE POINT

After-dinner speeches are the high price we pay for attending banquets. On one occasion when there had been a succession of long, empty speeches, and the diners were reduced to a state of intellectual coma, they were electrified by the closing address, given in these words:

"Gentlemen! Demosthenes is dead. Cicero is dead and I'm not feeling very well myself." With that the speaker sat down and made the hit of the evening.

Much of the Elizabethan literature is characterized by remarkable diffuseness. Think of Drayton's "Polyolbion," a poem which wanders all over creation in 30,000 lines. Spencer's "Faerie Queene" might be read today if its twelve books were condensed into one."

Dickens and most of the Victorian fiction writers had to pad to measure up to the three-volume standard of their day. That's why they are so long getting to the point. Our own W. D. Howells, who knew the poise of an English sentence better than most American men of letters, often takes you rambling far afield to the point of weariness.

The windy, rhetorical plea of the old-time lawyer has about vanished. The man who gets verdicts, weighs his words and strips his argument bare of anything superfluou. His sentence, like bullets, he sends straight to the mark with his velocity.

In writing letters, books, arguments, this age demands the best words used in the best way and that we get to the point in short order.

The Man Who Refused to be Sold

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

THE little country town of Camptonville boasted of two heroes, George Curran, one-time pitcher for the Giants, and Slats Flynn, shortstop in the Coast League. It was generally agreed at the Acme drug store and the postoffice that Slats would be as famous as Curran one day and that the town was fortunate in possessing the two.

In the summer Camptonville followed the fortunes of its more active hero in a paper Slats sent to George, which was read aloud in the back room of the drug store. Slats spent his winters home, for Camptonville he said was the greatest place on earth for a man to rest and fish, and he and George knew all the best places.

One fall Slats returned a little troubled as to how he would explain to his friends why it was he had been out of the game so much during the last weeks of the season.

"They've a habit out there," he said, "of giving young fellows a chance in the hope of developing cheap material. Now young Ross, the other shortstop, is good with the stick but slow in the head. What do you know about a manager who shoves him in and takes a chance like that?"

Good fishing and the chance to call on Lettie Curran, George's daughter, drove the cares out of the big ballplayer's mind and as the weeks passed he regained his old confidence. The manager had known he didn't have a chance for the flag and so broke in the other shortstop for a utility man next year. It wasn't a bad plan at that.

Slats and Lettie planned to be married. They would wait, they decided, until the training season opened and would take the trip away together as a honeymoon. By January the plans were all made.

One day Slats read the sporting pages of the paper from the Coast League city where he was a player, shoved the paper in his pocket, and went fishing alone. Suddenly his bright world had become gray. He wanted time to think this over and to express himself forcibly where there was no one to hear.

"Sold!" he said to the trees, the river and the fish. "Sold—without so much as a by-your-leave. What kind of a game is it when a man can make a bar[illegible] corn or potatoes? This is going to change all my plans."

Until dusk the shortstop aired his grievance. He would not go, that was all. Before he would report to the league in the Middle West, he'd stay right here in Camptonville and fish for the rest of his life. He would have to explain to Lettie.

"Might as well stop right now filling that hope chest or whatever you call it," he said. "There is going to be no trip to the Coast, no job and no money. I'll look around for some job here at home and when I get one we'll get married. It will be some time, though."

Lettie was the daughter of a ballplayer. She sensed something of what had taken place and waited for the explanation.

"They've sold me to Walltown in the Middle West. Let me find it out by reading the paper. Well, I'm not going."

"That will mean," Lettie said slowly, "you will be through with baseball. And the Middle West league's as good as the Coast."

"Lettie," the ballplayer answered, "there are some things a woman can never understand. I'm not going to stand for a deal like that and the wedding plans are off."

For weeks Slats felt sorry for himself. Sometimes he wondered how Lettie could take it so bravely. Most likely, he thought, she believed he had been foolish. Even old George just smiled and nodded. How would he like to be sold, just when he was going good?

Spring approached and with it the first notices of the big league teams starting for the training camps. The others would be starting soon. Slats read the list of those in his old team. Yes, the substitute Connors was slated for his place.

The ground was soft and an April breeze was blowing when the letter came, telling him to report in Walltown. Slats didn't answer it right away. Instead he went for a long walk, stretched his muscles, threw stones at trees and said farewell time and again to the game of baseball. Each farewell had less of the convincing tone than the one before. He was humble and shamefaced when he sought out Lettie.

"I'm sorry I stopped you getting ready for the wedding," he said. "You see, the Walltown team is in as good class as the other and it is nearer the big league scouts. I've been thinking I owe it to myself to show those fellows I'm a comer. Would I be foolish to report?"

Lettie smiled and did not answer.

"Do you suppose you can get ready for the wedding and come along? It won't be too much, will it?" There was real concern in his voice now.

Lettie took the big man's hands and faced him with an indulgent smile. "I have not been the daughter of a big league player for nothing," she said. "The hope chest is full. I have even bought my traveling suit. I knew all the time you would report."

Golden Rule Applies to Conversation

Dorothy Dix

Reassures the Bashful Talker

Try Your Remarks on Your Own Piano; If You Like Them, Pass Them Along

A YOUNG girl complains that she is a dummy in society. She says she never knows what to say to people, and she wants to know if there is any school of conversation wherein she can be taught the fine art of small talk.

Shoo, daughter, there isn't any difficulty in knowing what to say to people. Just think of what you would like to have people say to you, and hand it right out, smoking hot on the platter, to them. This is an infallible rule that always works, and if you will follow it you will soon get the reputation of being a spellbinder.

If you will reflect, you will recognize that the individuals who bore you to tears are those who monologue along by the hour about themselves, their achievements, their automobiles, their houses, their children and their other possessions. You remember how often you have felt that human endurance could stand no more, and that you would be obliged to scream aloud in your agony if you had to hear another detail of Mrs. A.'s major operations, or what kind of a line Mr. B. used for fishing for tarpon, or what Mrs. C.'s sister's cousin aunt's maid did, or the bright thing little Johnny said, or the cute thing little Sally pulled.

THEREFORE, as nobody is so tedious and tiresome to you as those who talk about their own personal affairs, do you refrain from making yourself the subject of your own discourse. No other human being on earth, except your own mother, is interested in your personal experiences, therefore clamp the soft pedal down good and tight on your egotism if you want to be persona grata in society.

ON the other hand, if you desire to be considered a brilliant conversationalist all that you have to do is to acquire the knack of starting people off to talking about themselves. There isn't a man in the world who wouldn't rather repeat to you a comic supplement joke himself than listen to Irvin Cobb's best story. There isn't a man who doesn't get more thrills out of relating how he got a puncture on a bad road on a dark night than he would in hearing the tale of a world adventurer.

There isn't a woman who wouldn't rather tell about what she said to her husband, and what he said to her, than to listen to the most eloquent speech ever made. There isn't a mother who doesn't think that the most important piece of news of the day is her son making the football team, or her daughter getting engaged.

SO IF you want to be considered witty and wise, and a fascinating talker, all you have to do is to touch the button that starts people discoursing about themselves. They will do the rest.

YOU know how it pleases you for somebody to remember your little personal peculiarities. It makes you feel as if you had individually, some quality that lifted you above the mob. Other people feel exactly the same way about it.

Therefore, you can be very sure of making a hit with Mr. A. if you remind him of that very interesting subject he was talking of the last time you met. Mrs. A. won't exactly hate you if you tell her you envy her that artistic house of hers, and little Miss A. will think you're the sweetest thing if you remember the blue dress and the pink rosebuds she wore to a certain ball. Even John A. will grant that you have got a lot of sense for a woman if you can recall that he is the captain of his branch of Boy Scouts.

You know how you like to have little gracious things said to you. It pleases you, if you have been sick, when anyone asks about your illness. It comforts you, if you have had a sorrow, to have a word of sympathy from your friends. It adds to your joy and your success to have a shower of congratulations from your acquaintances.

WE ARE all built alike, daughter. Human vanity is the touch of nature that makes the whole world kin, and you needn't be afraid that you will go amiss if you inquire into the symptoms of any near-invalid, or tell any one who sorrows that his, or her grief, is your grief, or throw a few bouquets at anybody who has just had some good luck befall them.

YOU know how intelligent you think people are who listen to you, as to the words of an oracle. You know what judgment you think they have if they agree with you in your opinions. You know what artistic taste you consider they have if they compliment your new dress, and ask you where you got your hat, and what interior decorator did your rooms. You know what a sense of humor you consider they possess if they laugh at your jokes.

Every mother's son and daughter of us fall for the same bunk. We admire the people who admire us. We think none so discerning and with such rare judgment as those who appreciate us. None are so entertaining as those who sing our praises, and to find the thing that pleases and flatters ninety-nine people out of a hundred you have only to say the thing that would please and flatter you.

FURTHERMORE, to avoid saying the things you should not say, consider the things that make you mad all over when people say them to you. The tactless remark that calls attention to some defect that you fondly believed you had camouflaged. The brutal joke about your age, or your poverty, or your false teeth, or your divorce, or something else that turns you into a figure of fun. The cruel candor that lays all your little subterfuges bare. The witty sarcasm that stabs like a knife. The rude speech that is like a bludgeon blow.

AVOID these lest you be hated, even as you hate those whose jawbone is like the jawbone of the ass that slew its thousands. The recipe for being an entertaining talker is very simple. You have only to say to others what you would like them to say to you.

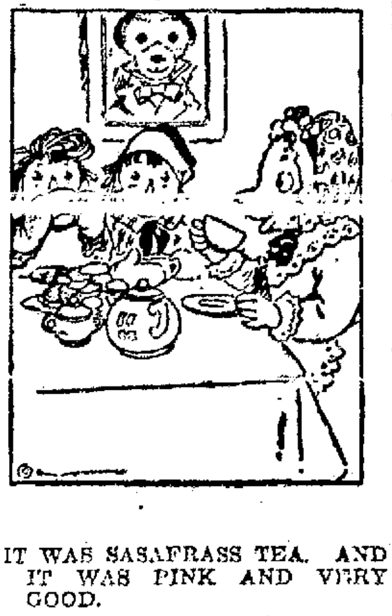
The Adventures of Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy

by Johnny Gruelle

Copyright by JOHNNY GRUELLE. All Rights Reserved.



IT WAS SASAFRASS TEA. AND IT WAS PINK AND VERY GOOD.

RAGGEDY ANN and Raggedy Andy sat in Mrs. Benjamin Bear's parlor and had ginger cookies and tea. It was Sassafras tea. And it was pink and very good. The ginger cookies were very good, too. Almost better than the tea. But Buster Bear, Mrs. Benjamin Bear's [illegible] boy, was in his bed with his head tied up in white cloth. And the cloth had been soaked in baking soda. 'Cause why? 'Cause Buster Bear had climbed a tree and dipped his fingers into the bees' honey and the bees came swarming out and sat upon Buster Bear's nose. My! the bees' feet were hot! Very hot!

And, I guess, Mrs. Benjamin Bear would have made little Buster Bear stay in beddie all day, if the Raggedys had not jumped up and ran to the window to see what was going on outside.

And they saw such a pretty sight; Mrs. Benjamin Bear called Buster Bear to see to. "It's the parade of the Easter Bunnies," Mrs. Benjamin Bear told the Raggedys. "Every year, just at this time, the Eastern Bunnies all march to the Fairy Castle and get their magic paints with which to paint the Easter eggs!"

The Easter Bunnies were all white, with pink noses and there were so many of them Raggedy Ann could not count them. Raggedy Ann could count to ten easily, but after that she got mixed and skipped number thirteen and fifteen. Buster Bear forgot all about the bees and their hot feet when he saw the parade of the Easter Bunnies.

"Why are they all white, mamma?" he asked.

"Well! I will tell you just what Grampy Hoppytoad told me!" Mrs. Benjamin Bear said. "Once the Easter Bunnies were just like other bunnies, and when they colored the Easter eggs, why, they just got covered with red and blue and green and purple and every other color. An when they had finished coloring the Easter eggs, all the Easter Bunnies looked just like 'crazy quilts!' Now, the Fairy Queen knew this would never, never do, so she sent for all the Easter Bunnies and said, 'Can't you be more careful when you color the Easter eggs?' And the Easter Bunnies all told the Fairy Queen they did try to be careful.

"'Then,' said the Fairy Queen, 'If you cannot be careful, I shall have to make the colors careful. And see if we can keep the colors from getting on you instead of you getting yourselves covered with the colors.' So the Fairy Queen waved her magic wand and said 'Hokus pokus' and all the Eastern Bunnies were so clean, they were as white as snow. And the magic colors made by the Fairies, never got upon the pretty white Eastern Bunnies."

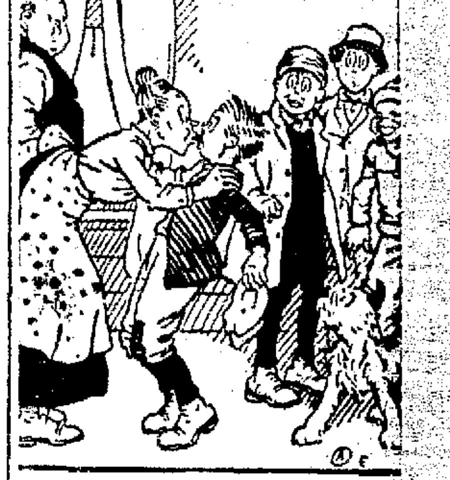
The Raggedys and Mrs. Benjamin Bear and Buster Bear watched the pretty Eastern Bunnies until they were out of sight, and because Buster Bear had not had any ginger [illegible] Mamma Benjamin Bear gave him some, and she and Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy had some more too, because Sassafrass tea is good for anyone in the spring and ginger cookies are good all the year 'round.

JUBILEE'S PARDNER

by Judd Mortimer Lewis

It snowed some last night and froze the top of the mud, but not so a fella could not break through it. We tried it over in the brickyard and broke through it easy. I am good and tired of the weather that is too cold to swim in and not cold enough to slide and skate in, but there is not anything that a short panster can do about it. I found a barl hoop back of the tool house and I was trying to get Jubilee to jump through it and I could see that he wanted to do what I wanted him to do but he could not understand me, so I told Banty to jump through it and show him how, so Banty did and came on his hands and knees, and they broke through the crust and the mud went up higher than his mittens so they got full of it and his knees were covered with it too, but Jubilee did not jump through it even then. We scraped the mud off of Banty with a stick, and then we went to school and dried the rest of it in Mush's part of the basement, and Little Mud Eradicater, which is what Mush called his wife, got it all out of his clothes when it got dry, and then she kissed him before he knew what she was going to do, and we were all laughing at him so hard when we went in school that we could not stop, so we all had to stay in at recess, and the girls were jumping the rope on the brick sidewalk that goes around the school on their side of it, and Maggie the mut that got fascinated on her leg so it wouldn't show tripped on the rope and fell in the mud, which we were very sorry because we missed. When school let out we went out to see how the pasture was getting along and Jubilee and a few of the other dogs, but mostly Jubilee because he is the best hunting dog found a possum in a tree and French who knows all about wild animals went up the tree and brung it down by the tail. He said he was going to take it home and his father would fatten it up and they would have it roasted some Sunday. I would not eat possum because it has got a tail like a rat; I told Frenchy so and he said they do not eat the tail. I would not even want to see anyone else eat a possum, because I would probly think about it when I was eating my own supper. Youniss and her mother and father came over after supper and my ant played a compliment and I sang Old Black Joe. Youniss said I have got one of the loudest voices she ever heard. She said she could not hear my ant at all almost. My ant said it was nine o'clock and my father made me go to bed before Youniss went home. My ant seems to be sore at me about something. Maybe I will be a singer instead of a pirut when I grow up. But I suppose a fella could sing even if he was a pirut. A fella ought to be able to do two things at once. Jubilee's feet were wet again tonight. But you can't expect a dog to keep his feet dry in wet weather.

(To Be Continued.)



Then she kissed him before he knew what she was going to do.

LOUIE GOT THE FLU.

Louie Dowie kneeded dough, he made those doughey noodles,
Joey Dewey sold beef stew, he purchased noodles—oodles.
Joey Dewey bought the Dowie noodles for his soup;
But Louie Dowie coughed: somehow he seemed to have the croup.
When Louie Dowie went "Ker-Choo!" he frightened Joey Dewey who Supposed he had the flu, so, flooey! Dewey ran from Dowie;
Says he: "I'll flee the flu," and blew, exclaiming, "Blooey, blooey!"
There stood Louie feeling blue, he Was all sticky, doughey, gooey, [illegible] flooey
'Cause he sneezed at Joey Dewey.
Louie knew no new way, no way,
To gain confidence. Doc Cou-ay
Was unknown to Lou and Joey

BACK TO CHILDHOOD.

A child's slate is an excellent article to have in the kitchen, with a slate pencil attached to it by a string. All sorts of kitchen messages can be quickly jotted, grocery lists, father's suit to the tailor's, a message to the cook, and lots of other household data. It will be found invaluable in a very short time.

DON'T FORGET.

There is nothing prettier than the kitchen pantry thoroughly equipped with all the necessary kitchen articles in bright, shiny aluminum. But it is not much credit to the woman who has aluminum vessels and allows them to become tarnished and blackened.

DOLLAR GALLON GASOLINE? NO, SAYS KINGSBURY

Head of California Standard Oil Company Denies the Prediction of Solon.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—Gasoline will never go to a dollar a gallon during the lifetime of the present generation, according to Kenneth R. Kingsbury, president of the Standard Oil Company of California. Kingsbury's assertion was made in answer to a statement of Senator LaFollette that the public must be prepared to pay "at least a dollar for gasoline."

Kingsbury has just returned from Washington, D. C., where he attended the Senate sub-committee hearing on the gasoline situation.

"The extravagant statement attributed to Senator LaFollette that the public must be prepared to pay at least a dollar a gallon for gasoline is obviously only a vehicle to achieve prominence for his report, to justify his investigation, and to frighten the public into supporting whatever further campaign against the oil industry he plans to make," declared Kingsbury.

"There is nothing to support the view, either in the record of the investigation or outside of it. Not in years has gasoline been so cheap as it is today on the Pacific Coast.

"The present generation will never see dollar-a-gallon gasoline here. Cotton at a dollar a pound or wheat at $5 a bushel is just as likely.

"When the price of any commodity goes beyond a point at which satisfactory substitutes can be purchased, there will be no buyers for it."

Mother and Infant Rescued From Fire

WOODLAND, March 6. — Mrs. William Brothro and her four days old babe were saved from cremation yesterday by R. W. Woodard and son Burdette of Woodland when the house in which mother and new born babe were convalescing caught fire and subsequently burned to the ground. The Woodards, in passing the burning premises, learned that a mother and babe were within. They risked their lives in entering the house with which they were unfamiliar, rescuing the mother and infant, carrying her to a nearby house. The houes occupied by Mrs. Brothro was owned by Mrs. Lee Milsap and Mrs. Lina Blosser. It caught fire while Brothro, father of the new babe, was working in adjacent fields. The fire caught from sparks from an oil heater.

HEALDSBURG NOTES

HEALDSBURG, March 6.—Mrs. George Dicke suffered a fractured arm and bruises of the body, and her children, Donald 3, and Dorothy, 6, were severely bruised Sunday when the automobile Mrs. Dicke was driving became unmanageable and crashed into a curb, turning completely over. Mrs. Dicke and her son were thrown clear of the machine, but the daughter was pinned under it.

Charles Carndon was slightly hurt and Charles Cunningham suffered superficial cuts about the face and throat when the machine in which they were riding left the highway near Windsor and crashed into a barbed wire fence Sunday night.

Girl's Selection For Postmaster Upsets Program

MISS ANNA MIXON, who has been appointed postmaster at Woodland to succeed E. I. Leake.

WOODLAND, March 6.—Miss Anna Mixon, for some fifteen years connected with the Woodland postoffice and before that one of the clerical force of the St. Helena postoffice, has been appointed postmaster at Woodland, succeeding Ed I. Leake, Democrat, who has held the place for nine years.

Miss Mixon was one of eight contestants for the place, and in leading the civil service list, defeated those who had the endorsement of the Republican Central Committee of Yolo county and others whose influences were nationwide. Miss Mixon is a sister of W. F. Mixon, Sr., recently appointed secretary of the state highway commission and a newspaper publisher of Woodland.

Youth to Take Job In South America

WOODLAND, March 6.—Leonard Wooster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wooster, pioneer farmers of Yolo county, left yesterday for South America, where at Rio de Janeiro he will accept a position with an importing and exporting firm. Since recently graduating from high school, young Wooster has been employed in the county surveyor's office here.

BERKELEY MAN IS HURT MOTORING

MARTINEZ, March 6.—A. Johnson, of Berkeley, had his face badly cut yesterday afternoon when his automobile plunged off the highway at the Santa Fe crossing on Franklin Canyon highway when he swerved his machine to avoid a collision with another car. With Johnson was his wife and two daughters, but they escaped injuries. Johnson was brought to the hospital here by Miss Leota Coveney and after having his injuries dressed went to his home in Berkeley.

Board Hears Claim Of Telephone Girl

LODI, Maarch 6.—The State Industrial Accident Commission began a hearing here today to determine whether a telephone operator can develop heart trouble by reaching to a switchboard several hundred times a day.

Mrs. Elsie L. Lykins, former operator in the local offices of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company has asserted she developed heart trouble as the result of the continuous "plugging in" of calls and has filed an application for compensation. Mrs. Lykins alleged she suffered a heart attack October 30, 1922, and has not been able to work since.

An allopathic physician, an osteopath and a chiropractor have testified in support of her contention. Attorneys for the company have classed the case as unusual and important inasmuch as it may establish a precedent. They say it is the first case of its wind among 13,000 girls employed by the company.

TO CHEER VETERANS.

SAN LEANDRO

SPEEDER GIVEN 5 DAYS IN JAIL

SAN LEANDRO, March 6.—Given the alternative of ten days in the county jail or $50 fine, Frank Whitty, 1339 Ninety-ninth avenue, Oakland, chose the latter. He pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving, in which it was shown he was traveling at fifty-five miles an hour on a motorcycle when arrested.

Irving Malnick, 3745 East Fourteenth street, Oakland, was sentenced to five days in the county jail, with no alternative of a fine, when it was found he was speeding at fifty miles an hour, with five other passengers in his automobile.

Fines were paid by the following: W. Hildebrand, 572 Fifty-fifth street, Oakland, $10; Mrs. E. A. Cochrane, 442 Tipling street, Palo Alto, $15; A. S. Hubbard, 201 Santa Rosa avenue, Oakland, $10; R. W. Cummings, 2519½ Durant avenue, Oakland, $10.

Estudillo Parlor To Install Chiefs

SAN LEANDRO, March 6.—Initiation of several candidates, installation of officers and a banquet will feature a meeting of the Estudillo Parlor, Native Sons of San Leandro, at Masonic hall tonight. The following officers will be installed by Willian Crosby, of the Oakland Parlor, district deputy grand president: J. J. McCarthy, president; H. C. Barton, first vice-president; Charles Lippe, second vice-president; M. J. Perry, third vice-president; J. P. Ramos, marshal. Charles L. Benz will automatically revert back to junior past president.

Dance on March 17 To Benefit Church

SAN LEANDRO, March 6.—Plans are being perfected for a St. Patrick's entertainment and dance, to take place at St. Joseph's hall Saturday night, March 17. Proceeds will go toward purchasing a new organ for the San Leandro St. Leander's Catholic church. Mrs. E. J. Holland is in charge, with the assistance of a committee composed of parish members

MANAGER HOWARD ORDERS THE OAKS TO CUT LOOSE

CALIFORNIA LOSES FIRST CHAMPIONSHIP BASKETBALL GAME TO THE VANDALS OF IDAH

SOUTHPAW HOPES TO WORK HIS WAY BACK INTO MAJOR LEAGUES

Mails Believes Outfielder Frank Wetzel Will Prove Great Fielder and Hitter for Oaks; Marty McGaffigan Has First Workout.

By EDDIE MURPHY.

OAKS' TRAINING CAMP, Myrtledale Springs, March 6.—Walter Mails, the big southpaw whom the Oaks purchased from the Cleveland Indians by parting with a big sack of kale, wants to accomplish two things while helping the club in the 1923 pennant fight. The first one is to satisfy the owners of the local club that they did not toss a bloomer like they did in most of the other deals which brought them hurlers from the majors. Walter hopes to prove it by being a consistent winner from the start of the season. Secondly he wants to work his way back to the major leagues and make the owners of the Cleveland club feel that they tossed a bloomer in letting him get away. But bear in mind that Walter is not in the least sorry because he is a member of the Oakland team. If all the newcomers are as pleased about playing for the Oaks the coming season as is Mails, and Ivan Howard thinks they are, then Ivan will be the leader of one of the happiest families of ball players in the league.

Mails thinks that he and Allan Sothoran, another member of the Cleveland club, were not given the right kind of chance last season. He claims that during the season of 1921 he and Sothoran were the only Indian hurlers able to beat the New York Yankees, and still Manager Speaker started every other hurler but them against the Yanks last season, and the Indians dropped game after game to the champions.

Mails Will Soon Be Cutting Them Loose.

Mails will not state any probable number of games he expects to win for the Oaks, but he claims he will do as well and maybe a whole lot better than when he was with Sacramento. The big southpaw now has a few years of major league experience, something he lacked when hurling for the Senators. About seven more days should see Walter cutting them loose, as he reported in pretty good shape, having worked out for more than a week with the Senators at Sacramento. He took off fourteen pounds of fat since going into training with the Senators, and a few more of them taken off will see him down to his pitching weight.

Yesterday he went on the long hike in the morning and was out in uniform in the afternoon. He does not intend to pitch to batters for some time, as he first wants to get his right wind and be down to weight. Limbering up of the salary wing will be the last number on Mails' training program. "It is easy to work the arm into form, once you get your wind right and your legs loosened up," explained Mails last evening.

Legs and Not Arm Are Responsible for Control.

Mails and Arlett were explaining to their teammates how it is the legs and not the arm that causes a pitcher to lose control in the box during a game. According to them, getting the legs in shape is just as important as the arm. "When a pitcher is losing control, you will notice that his step toward the plate when pitching ball lessens, and when you feel the old pins get wobbly under you, it is time to get out of the box," explained Mails. And then Arlett chipped in with this bit of advice: "Do you notice how a pitcher always digs his spikes into the sod in front of the box every now and then? He must land his forward moving foot in a certain place, else his control will be bad. I always had an idea that it was the legs which were responsible for a pitcher's control, but I never spoke of it until now, when Mails brought up the subject." In the opinion of Arlett and Mails, the legs are the parts of a pitcher to watch when trying to learn if he is weakening.

Mails and Smith Are Boosters for Wetzel.

When Marvin Smith arrived in camp the other day he put in a strong boost for Outfielder Frank Wetzel, the New Orleans outfielder who arrived here Sunday. Smith described him as a second edition of Strangler Lewis, the noted wrestler. When Wetzel arrived here he looked everything that Smith said of him. It is hard to describe him by comparing him with any player in the league, as he is a husky built chap with a pair of strong looking shoulders and likewise arms and hands. He is built on the Hack Miller type, but a bit taller and is a blonde.

He was not in uniform last Sunday because his trunk was damaged while being railroaded from St. Louis and he could not get his sliding pads and sweat shirts. However, he was out yesterday, but was taking things easy.

Walter Mails is a strong booster for him and the southpaw flinger looks for Frank to be a drawing card in the Coast League. Mails had the opportunity to look Wetzel over during the season of 1921 when the outfielder was with St. Louis in the American League and Mails was with the Indians. He was a good hitter, dandy fly chaser, had a good throwing arm and was fast on his feet for a big man. In fact he was a big league ballplayer, thought Mails. But there was no chance for him to break in as a regular with such flychasers as Kenneth Williams, Johnny Tobin and Jacobson holding down regular jobs.

McGaffigan Thinks New Fly Chaser Is Class.

Wetzel said yesterday that he always wanted to come to the Pacific coast. He was sick half of the time while at New Orleans, but managed to hit around .320 for the season, and the Southern League in the opinion of men who have played there is the hardest in organized baseball to play and hit because of the weather conditions. The record books give Wetzel credit for hitting .280 in sixty-four games for New Orleans, but the book is all wrong, claims Wetzel.

Marty McGaffigan who arrived in camp yesterday noon and is all set to battle for the second base job, is glad to get a change of scenery. Marty did not do any playing during the winter which he spent at Carlyle, Illinois, but he did do a lot of hunting and fishing. Upon learning that Wetzel hit around .320 in the Southern League McGaffigan remarked that he should hit every bit as hard in the Coast League the coming season, for Marty has been tipped off many times to stay away from the Southern League. The only reason that Wetzel is out on the coast is because he went to his club owner and told him that he would quit baseball rather than play in the Southern League again.

Ivan Howard Tells Oaks to Cut 'Em Loose

Ray Brubaker Displays Lots of Class Around the Third Station.

MYRTLEDALE SPRINGS, March 6.—With the exception of Frank Wetzel, Marty McGaffigan, Del Baker and the seasoned hurlers, Ivan Howard sent the Oaks on the diamond yesterday afternoon with permission to cut loose if they cared to. The boys felt strong and with a warm sun overhead, the infielders in particular cut things loose and before the afternoon's workout closed they had Ivan and Del Howard, the infield hitters, down.

Marty McGaffigan did not exercise with any infield work, as he arrived in camp only yesterday noon. But he was out in uniform and took a little batting practice. Ray Brubaker at third, Marvin Smith on short with Jack Knight at second and Lafayette at first was the first infield combination, and plenty of classy fielding was dished out, with Brubaker at third, the shining light. Ray has made up his mind that he is going to be the regular third sacker if Marvin Smith is going to fit in at short, and he takes to his new position like a duck takes to water. The red top looks to be in midseason form and was fielding them on the right and left of him, sometimes going into Smith's territory to gather in the agate and whip it to first. When Brubaker came to the Oaks and filled in at short, he patched up a big gap that the Oakland owners were bothered with for a few seasons. If he can do the same work around the difficult station in the regular season as he did yesterday, the Oaks will not be out of order in claiming the best third sacker in the league. Ray's work in camp is not taken as a flash in the pan, as he showed his stuff around the third sack the closing weeks of the season.

SMITH'S ARM STRONG.

Smith can cover a lot of ground around short and should display one of the strongest throwing arms of any infielder in the league. Jack Knight looks like himself again and promises to put up a keen fight with Marty McGaffigan for the second base job. In Sunday's ball game, Knight crashed one for a couple of sacks that would, in the regular season, be good for a triple, as Ivan Howard was not letting the boys take any chances in running the bases Sunday. When Jack crashed that long one, the visitors who were here from Oakland gave him a nice hand, for everybody down in the old home town is hoping that Jack will be able to do his stuff with the willow this season again as he did before having his finger amputated.

George LaFayette cut loose around first base and the big Frenchman looks like himself. Al Maderas worked out around short after Smith retired and The TRIBUNE Leaguer looked good. His chances of making the club should not be considered slim as he is a chap who fits in at second, third or short and is fairly there with the stick.

CHAVEZ IN UNIFORM.

The rookie infielders had their chance to show after the regulars beat it to the dressing rooms. Percy Chavez was out in uniform after being wrapped up in sweaters and an overcoat for a few days because of a bad cold. Andy Phillips, Osborne Johnson, President Schutz and Art Layva also did their stuff for the rookies. The kids all look better than the average rookie breaking in, but there will not be room for all of them during the regular season, so it is up to them to keep fighting, as Ivan Howard is certain to carry one or two of them.

WETZEL IN OUTFIELD.

Denny Willie, Claude Cooper, Ted Cather and Cesar Manelli, the latter a rookie, scampered around the outfield with lots of pep. Cooper is showing lots of speed for the short while he has been in camp. Sunday he raced a long distance a couple of times to drag the horsehide out of the sky. Frank Wetzel, besides doing some batting, chased flies in left field, and although far from being in shape, he managed to handle ones within reasonable distance, with nice style.

Alameda Meteors Beat Kleiber Nine

The Alameda Meteors took the fast Kleiber truck baseball team of San Francisco down the line Sunday for a 9 to 1 defeat at McKinley Park. Woland pitched masterful ball for the winners, striking out seventeen and allowing but four hits.

The score:

Kleiber Trucks.........	1	4	4

Charles Kimball High Gun at Trapshoot

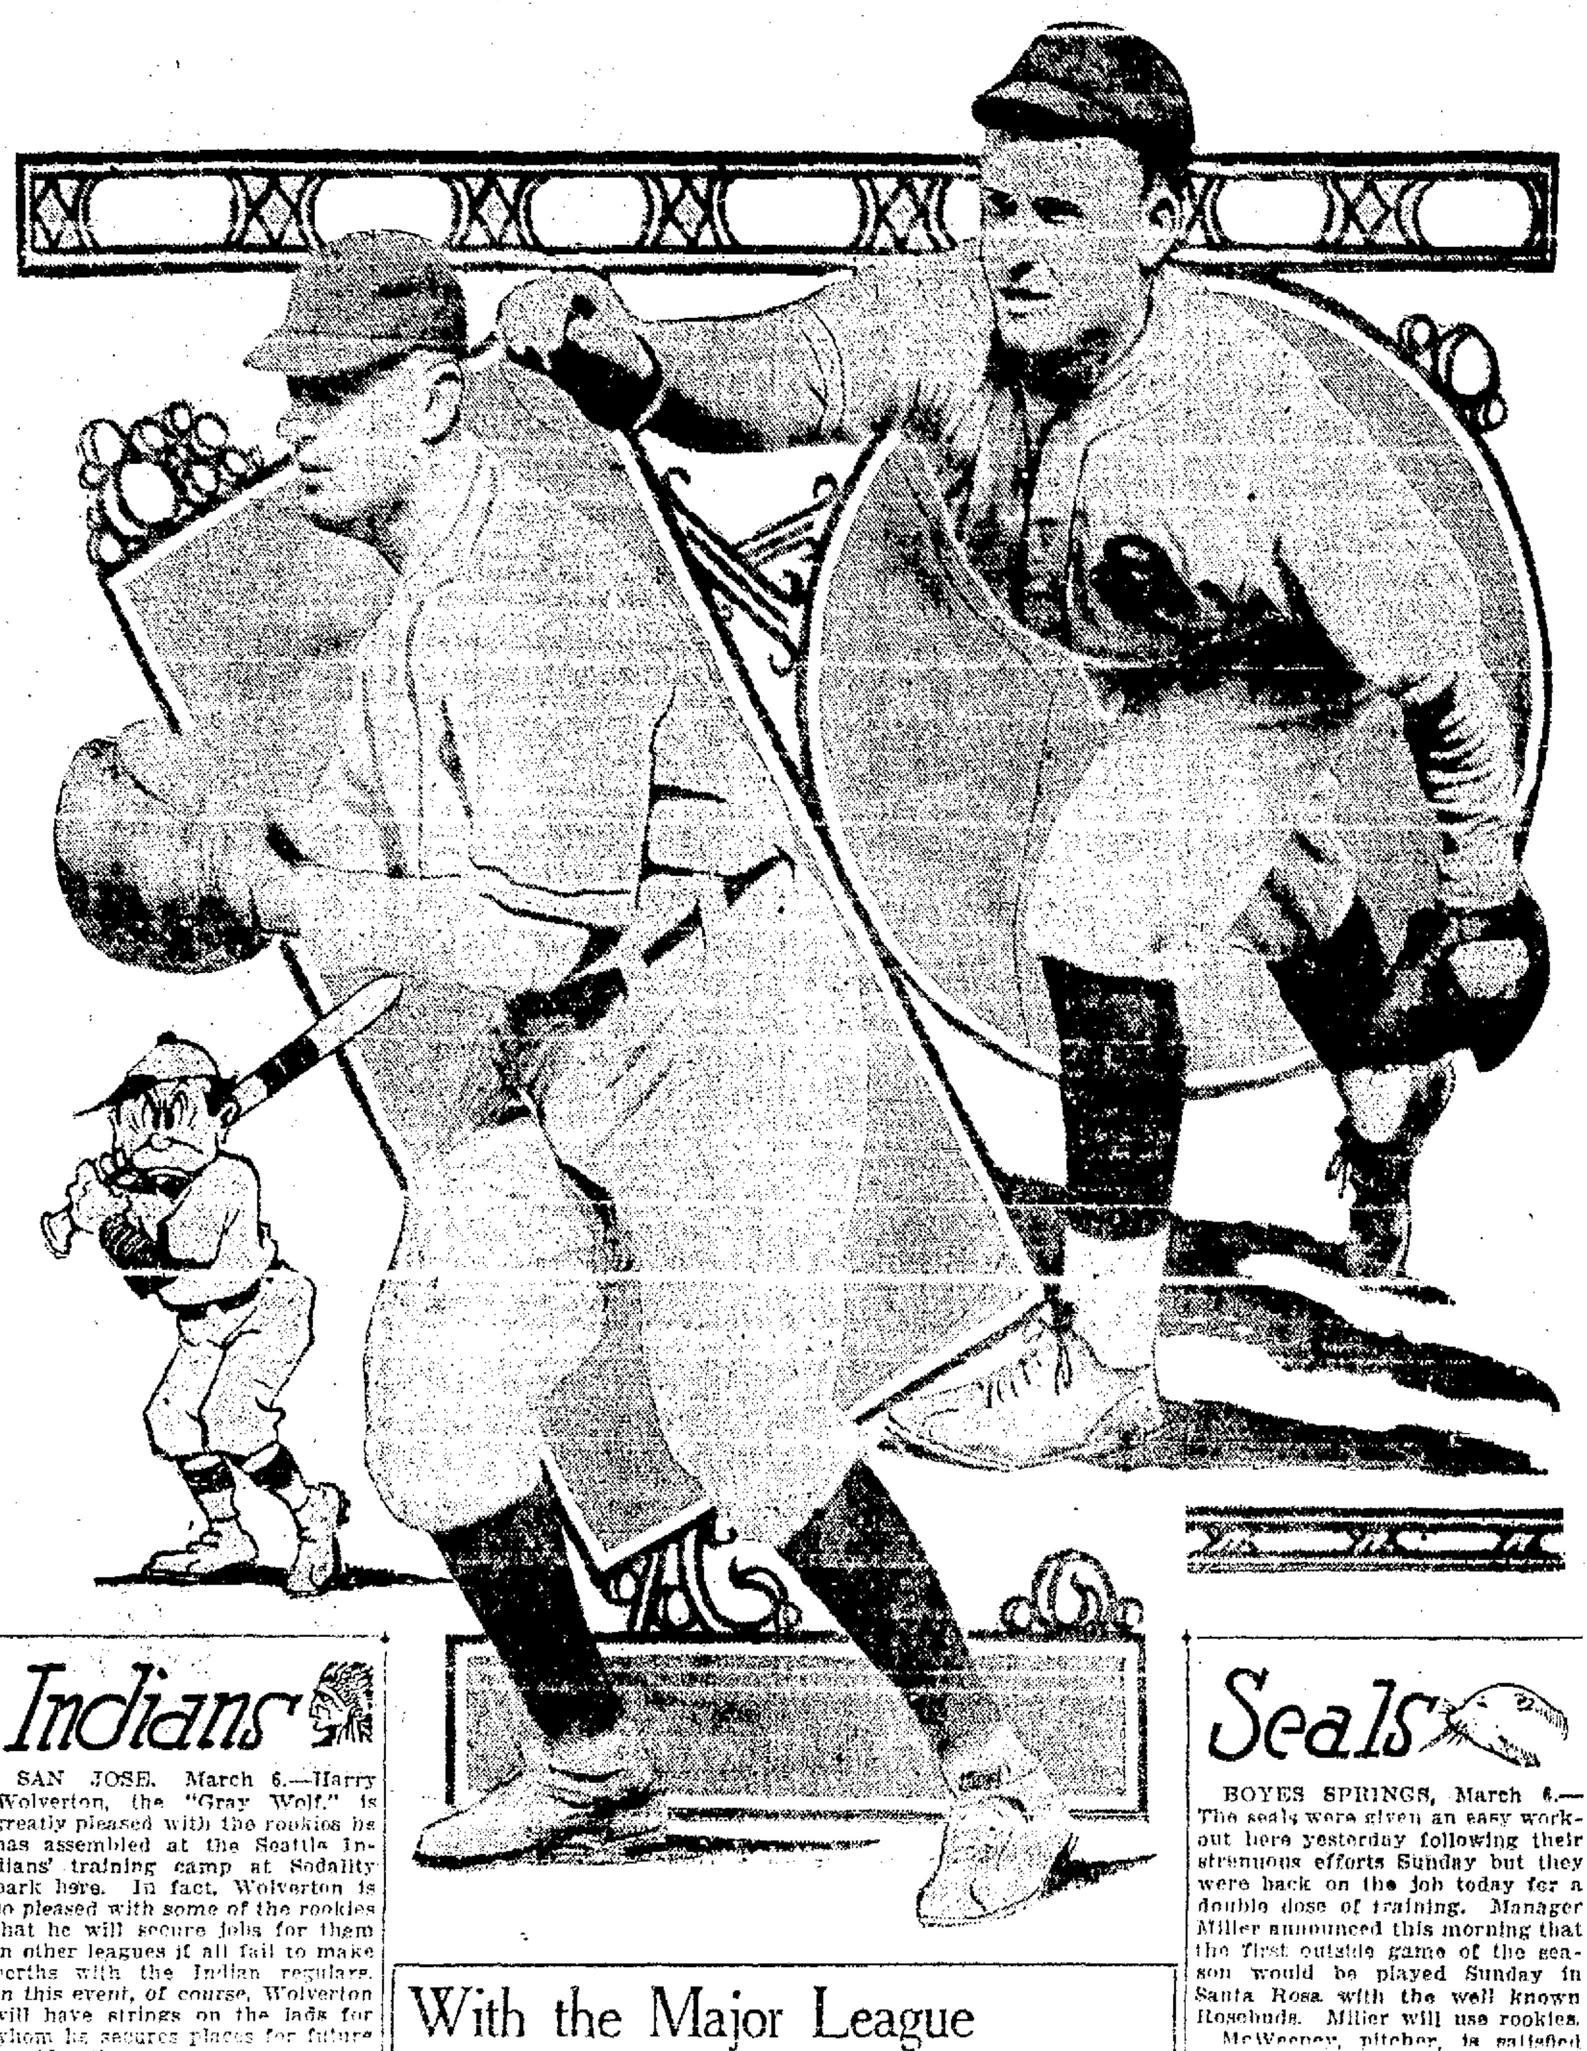
VALLEJO, March 6.—Charles Kimball was high gun in the 100 bluerock event staged by the Vallejo Gun Club on Sunday. He broke 93 of the clay pigeons. J. V. O'Hara was second with a score of 88, and Henry Speigle was third with 86. In the miss and out O'Hara came first with Charlie Lane second. Mrs. Henry Speigle won first prize among the women present. In the team shoot William Barstow and his team defeated W. A. Norton and his team by a score of 204 to 155.

Fremont Interclass Meet Tomorrow

The interclass track meet of Fremont High School will be held tomorrow at the Fremont track. [illegible] are to compete are Holt, who captured first place in the 100-yard dash in the meet against Alameda, which Fremont won; Morse, who won the 440-yard dash; Barnes, winner of the 880-yard dash; Montague, who won the high jump, and Kinsey, winner of the shot put.

Tribune Leaguers With the Seals

Here are two graduates of The TRIBUNE league who are trying for regular jobs with the San Francisco Seals in the Boyes Springs training camp. TIM BUCKLEY, a pitching person, is on the top. Below is ANDY VARGAS, San Leandro catcher.



Indians

SAN JOSE, March 6.—Harry Wolverton, the "Gray Wolf," is greatly pleased with the rookies he has assembled at the Seattle Indians' training camp at Sodality park here. In fact, Wolverton is so pleased with some of the rookies that he will secure jobs for them in other leagues if all fail to make berths with the Indian regulars. In this event, of course, Wolverton will have strings on the lads for whom he secures places for future consideration.

The big chief is particularly pleased with the showing made by Ramage, San Diego infielder. Ramage is termed a second Hal Rhyne by such prominent dopesters as Dan Flannery, champion ivory hunter of Santa Clara and other countries.

Welsh of Oakland, Jones of San Francisco, Davis of Seattle and Ruby of San Diego are also infielders who Wolverton thinks highly of and who promise to develop into the real goods by the time the Coast League season opens.

Paul, a San Diego pitcher, and Brandt, left-handed twirler from Spokane, are considered especially good moundsmen by Wolverton. Brandt has been picked by McCredie to set the Coast League on fire and declares that the Spokane southpaw will be a second Vean Gregg.

Besides the rookies from the coast cities, Wolverton has imported several players from the East. Among them are Merkle and Baldwin, Philadelphia infielders. Local dopesters say that no matter what else happens, with the talent he has to choose from Wolverton should have a stonewall infield.

Tigers

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—The great Ping Bodie has come into the Tigers' camp and appears satisfied with his present weight, which is plenty. Ray French, infielder, also arrived [illegible] Ham Hyatt is en route from the east, according to a wire received from the infielder yesterday. Wheezer Dell, as usual, is stalling around looking for more jack, but Manager Essick isn't giving the lanky pitcher a tumble.

MARINE TEAM WINS.

VALLEJO, March 6.—The Marine basketball five defeated the Humbolt team of San Francisco at the yard on Sunday by a score of 50 to 20.

Unk Klepfer Walks in and Out on Mails

MYRTLEDALE, March 5.—"Unk" Klepfer, official caller of the camp, was in hiding yesterday. "Unk" started on his rounds yesterday morning and entered one of the rooms in the annex unceremoniously. The room had previously been occupied by one of the players but had been turned over to Walter Mails and his wife, unknown to "Unk," who started making one of his famous speeches.

Seeing the couple "Unk" turned and fled and was in hiding throughout the day. He has promised to look before he leaps in the future.

With the Major League Clubs in Training Camps

PHILADELPHIA, March 6.—Failing to obtain "Gavvy" Cravath, as assistant manager of the Philadelphia National League Baseball club, Manager Arthur Fletcher was reported today from the Phillies' training camp at Leesburg, Fla., to be negotiating for Honus Lobert, former National League infield star and present coach of the West Point baseball squad.

The first complete nine-inning game of the season was played yesterday by the Philadelphia Americans at their camp in Montgomery, Ala., between members of the squad. The first of the spring games will be played Sunday with the Milwaukee American Association team at Montgomery.

CLEVELAND, O., March 6.—Manager Tris Speaker of the Cleveland Indians is anxiously awaiting the arrival tomorrow evening of his fielders, so that his pitchers will have a chance to pitch to the batters. According to advices from the spring training camp at Lakeland, the pitchers are so far advanced as a result of prepping at home and at Hot Springs that Speaker finds difficulty in keeping them busy.

CINCINNATI, March 6.—Two workouts daily for the remainder of the week was the program laid down for Cincinnati National League players by Manager Moran, according to word received from the training camp [illegible]. Enough players were expected to be on hand by Saturday to stage practice games.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 6.—With virtually the entire squad of players in camp at Bradentown, Fla., Manager Branch Rickey of the St. Louis Nationals has opened the regular training season, according to despatches received here today. All of the St. Louis American players are expected to be in camp at Mobile, Ala., within a few days, it was stated in the despatches.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 6.—Rain which kept Babe Ruth, premier slugger, indoors all of yesterday, again early today threatened to keep the restless Bambino peering wistfully from his window out upon a dreary world. Forecasts promised a break in the clouds and relief from his unwilling imprisonment before noon.

Fully recovered from the attack of "flu" which sent the big batsman to bed last Friday, Ruth was yet obedient to the instructions of his careful physician and avoided any exposure yesterday. He waited in poorly concealed impatience for Wednesday, when the doctor has said he may leave to join his teammates in New Orleans.

The very first day he reaches New Orleans, Ruth declares, he will don a uniform and get a regular workout.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 6.—Kenneth Williams, Walter Gerber, Bill Jacobson, Martin McManus and Gene Robertson departed for the St. Louis Americans' training camp at Mobile, Ala. Urban Shocker is scheduled to leave today, and Geo. Sisler has been granted permission to postpone his departure for several days, it was announced. Sisler's right shoulder, which was injured at the close of last season, is reported to be in perfect condition.

Then James thought the gang was too small so he passed out uniforms to Art Smith and Charlie Bench, young pitchers from Los Angeles. Bench says there is no significance *in his name. Woman Shooter Shows the Men How to Do It

MODESTO, March 6.—After seven of Modesto's best marksmen had had their inning at the shoot of the Modesto Rifle club Mrs. Avilda Ribonsin stepped up and registered the best score of the day.

Mrs. Robinson's score was 108 out of a possible 125.

Leaving seven mere men standing with their mouths wide open, Mrs. Robinson walked off the range and back to her household duties.

The men's scores were Arthur Wilcox, 107; M. D. Fisher, 105; L. A. Love, 100; L. Hadley, 99; W. W. Robinson, husband of Mrs. Robinson, 98; F. W. Hartley, 98, and F. J. Robinson, 98.

Mrs. Robinson said today she was reared in the Washington woods and that she learned to shoot a rifle as a child. She is an adept with a six shooter, and has found much amusement killing jackrabbit on the run with that type of weapon. She had not shot a rifle for three years, however, before she made the record in the shoot of the local club.

Seals

BOYES SPRINGS, March 6.—The seals were given an easy workout here yesterday following their strenuous efforts Sunday but they were back on the job today for a double dose of training. Manager Miller announced this morning that the first outside game of the season would be played Sunday in Santa Rosa with the well known Rosebuds. Miller will use rookies.

McWeeney, pitcher, is satisfied with his contract, but is still chattering about getting a piece of change from Chicago. He is still in Chicago trying to talk Comiskey out of the money.

Eddie Mulligan is a real holdout. Eddie won his argument over salary and the two-year contract, but he has not yet signed and nobody knows exactly where he is. Hendricks, Alten, Geary and Walsh are expected to report tomorrow. Tom Connolly's contract was only mailed a week ago to Chicago.

Bids for Lease Of Salt Creek Wells Held Up

Wyoming Officials Comparing Offers for World's Richest Oil Field.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 6.—After considering four bids for a lease of section 36, Salt Creek oil field, the Wyoming land board late today announced a decision would be deferred until March 15 next.

Section 36, Salt Creek oil field, said to be the richest square mile of oil land in the world, is variously estimated to be worth from $35,000,000 to $100,000,000.

Forty-two wells on one quarter of this section in 1922 produced 1,643,936 barrels of oil, worth $2,525,024.39, of which the state of Wyoming received in royalties $843,008, and the Midwest Oil company, the lessee, the remainder.

Oil experts estimate that 200 wells on this section of land would produce 12,000,000 barrels of oil annually.

Four bids were submitted as follows:

Texas Producers Company: Royalty of 40 per cent of value of oil produced; oil to be refined in Wyoming.

The Spreckels Sugar Company quotes best granulated 100-lb. bags only at $9.35.

NEW YORK, March 6—The raw sugar market was firmer early today and Cubas were quoted at 5⅝ cost and freight, equal to 7.15 for centrifugal. There were sales late yesterday of 10,000 bags of Cubas for March shipment to an operator at 5⅝ and this morning there appeared to be nothing offered below 5½.

Raw sugar futures were firmer, owing to the steadiness of the spot market. Prices at mid-day were 11 to 13 points net higher on covering and buying by houses with European and Cuban connections Trading was moderate

There was no improvement in the demand for refined sugar nor any change in quotations which are listed at $9.75@9 15 for fine granulated Refined futures were nominal.

CHICAGO, March 6—Some tanners in this section are going south where raw materials are cheaper as manufacturers are insisting on cheap leather However there is a good business reported in hide leathers today and sole leather is selling well

The remarkable success of the Rickenbacker Motor Company has created this opportunity for about 800 investors in Northern California

Read this record of achievement and decide whether you will be among the 800 who will purchase these 35,000 shares of stock allotted to Northern California

They said it couldn't be done!

Automotive experts claimed at the very time the Rickenbacker organization was formed that no new motor car could be successfully marketed at that time—that too many cars were already in the field.

Notwithstanding this discouragement, the RICKENBACKER MOTOR COMPANY has completed its first year of manufacturing and marketing with every evidence of success. It has produced a car that has passed the standards of a discriminating motor buying public and has made a substantial

A total of 5,000 Rickenbacker cars were manufactured during 1922. The gross business amounted to over $7,000,000 and after paying a dividend of 5% on all outstanding stock as of December 31, amounting to $3,320,000, the Company still had a surplus of $388,107.20, or a total net earning of approximately 13%.

But this achievement is not a mere chance. The management of the RICKENBACKER MOTOR COMPANY is rich in experience in the automotive field. B. F. Everett and each of the other officials has a successful record covering many years and this experience, ability and integrity on the part of the management are the greatest safeguards for the future of the company.

CAPTAIN RICKENBACKER himself has had over 17 years of practical motor car experience, and has probably had more actual experience with motors produced by the world's master craftsmen than any other single individual living today. He is directly responsible for the design of the car bearing his name. Over two years were spent testing it before the company was organized for its manufacture. And it is with no little pride that Captain Rickenbacker has given prompted him to back its manufacture with every dollar he possesses and to devote himself unsparingly to his duties as Vice-President and Director of Sales.

The outlook for 1923 is everything that a young company could hope for under the most favorable conditions. During the first two days of the New York Show, 7,000 cars were sold. The remainder of the 15,000 schedule of the company were contracted for at the close of the show and orders for 3,000 additional cars could have been booked had the company been in a position to produce them.

It is this apparent need for more extensive manufacturing facilities that has prompted the offering of the remaining 118,000 shares of stock in the company and it was deemed desirable that these holdings should be well scattered. The 35,000 shares allotted to Northern California and offered herewith will complete the sale of the authorized capital stock totaling in all $5,000,000.

The company has borrowed no money from any source. Cash on hand December 31 was over $675,000. Total assets are 3½ times total liabilities; current assets 4 times current liabilities. But beyond this, a re-factory and a live organization of all "Ace Class" dealers, coupled with the intrinsic merit of the car itself, constitute in reality the greatest assets.

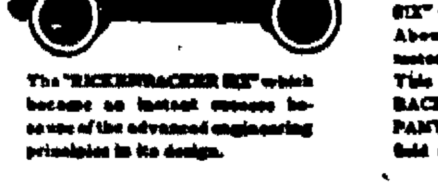
All stock is common and has a par value of $10. It is fully paid and non-assessable. Based on average sales in other sections, the entire allotment of stock for Northern California of 35,000 shares will be purchased by about 800 investors.

This coupon will secure your quota!

The "RICKENBACKER SIX" fly-wheel motor has no period of vibration. It has a patented air cleaner which reduces carbon and increases power. The differential brake-equalizer takes the guesswork out of brake adjustments.



The "RICKENBACKER SIX" which became an instant success because of the advanced engineering principles in its design.

The "RICKENBACKER SIX" is in the $1,500 class About 90 per cent of all motor cars are in this class. This gives the RICKENBACKER MOTOR COMPANY an almost unlimited field of exploitation.

TAX EXEMPT BOND POOR INVESTMENT FOR SMALL BUYER

Man of Limited Income Advised Against Discounting Earning Power.

By LEO V. BELDEN
Vice-President Bank of Italy.

The present annually recurring rush of filing income tax statements again brings to mind the fact that many investors are mistakenly holding and buying bonds which possess the feature of being exempt from all Federal income tax, and yielding an interest return by reason of this exemption of 1, 2 and more per cent less than many other bonds not thus favored. To the man whose income is well up in the surtax class these, of course, are logical investments. But for the man less blessed with income such bonds in most cases do not fit. He is deliberately discounting the earning power of his money by sending it into channels which carry, we might say, a penalty for the privilege of being tax-exempt—a privilege of no avail to the man of comparatively small income, inasmuch as the provisions of the income tax law do not affect him in degree sufficient to warrant the acceptance of the diminished return.

"MISFITS" NOT BARGAINS.

There are various other incidents in connection with certain bonds which may lead the investor unwittingly into the purchase of "misfits." There are institutions, such as insurance companies, for the sake of example, who are willing to pay a higher price and secure less income for a bond which different states have declared as legal for the investment of funds of such institutions doing business within the particular state. But to the private investor that permission means nothing. Again he is paying for something of no use to him.

Again, where bonds are bought for more or less permanent investment, where no demands are apt to be made upon the capital thus employed, the investor who purchases bonds which are widely known and extremely readily marketable is paying for something he does not need, and contenting himself with a lower interest yield—the inevitable penalty of possessing this feature of a bond in high degree. Just as great a measure of safety can be obtained in less marketable bonds as in kindred securities having a more extensive acquaintance. Sometimes, of course, there are instances where men and women feel that they may find it necessary to sell a portion of their securities to meet some special demand. It is, therefore, important that a portion of their investments be in some readily convertible securities. On the remainder they should get the higher rate of interest coincident with less marketability.

INVESTMENT POINTERS.

Intelligent investment for the most of us depends largely upon competent advice. We all cannot be financial experts, and yet the average American, willing to talk at length and indiscriminately on any other topic, is extremely reticent about his finances and investing frequently "goes it blind," hesitating to ask for and get competent advice.

If the most careful consideration is given to the selection of a reputable bond firm, or of a bank with a bond department, the investor may be reasonably sure of selecting that type of bond which measures up to the standards of conservative investment and is adapted to his particular requirements.

It has only been within the last ten years that the bond department has taken its place among the varied classes of service rendered by the modern banking institution. Its incorporation into constructive banking activities has been a logical, business-like procedure as manifested by the public's approval. The advisory service of bank bond departments and of reputable bond houses is at your service without obligation.

Uruguay Planning Loan for Deficit

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, March 6.—The minister of finance has submitted to the national council the administration's proposal to float a 6½ per cent loan covering the deficit of 7,300,000 gold pesos in last year's budget, as well as the government's engagements falling due this year.

If you see it in The TRIBUNE tell them so.

Tribune to Give Information on Banking Topics

THE TRIBUNE has made arrangements with Oakland Chapter of the American Institute of Banking to conduct a weekly column for the purpose of answering questions on general banking topics.

The American Institute of Banking is an educational organization composed of bank officers and employees throughout the country, and conducts regular classes in banking for the benefit of its members. The organization has been so successful in educating bank employees, that it has reached out in an endeavor to increase the knowledge of banking practice among the customers of banks, which constitutes virtually the entire population of the country.

Only questions on general banking topics and problems will be answered, and not questions with regard to any individual banks in this community.

The column will appear each Monday, commencing March 12.

The public is invited to write to the financial editor of The TRIBUNE, any questions regarding banking practice and problems. They will be answered in the column devoted to practical banking questions.

American Woolen Makes Its Report

NEW YORK, March 6.—The annual report of the American Woolen Company for 1922 made public today, discloses a net profit of $9,371,925, less reserve for taxes and contingencies as compared with $9,012,622 in 1921. Dividends of $1,600,000, divided equally between the common and preferred stock, were paid and $3,227,324 was deducted for depreciation, making a balance of profit for the year of $574,601, as compared with $406,648 added to the surplus the year before.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, March 6.—The cotton market was irregular at the opening today, first prices being 12 points lower to 5 points higher. There was pressure on some of the old crop positions from longs but a fairly good demand for crops owing to further rains in the southwest, where moisture is not needed. The Southern Products Company estimated 10.4 per cent increase in acreage this season. There were 26

SMOKED MEATS AND PORK CUTS' PRICES LOWER

Ham and Bacon Quotations Declined During February, Says Meat Institute.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Wholesale prices of practically all kinds of meat, particularly fresh pork cuts and smoked meats, "continue at relatively low levels," according to a review of the meat situation made public today by the Institute of American Meat Packers, which said thatt during February the wholesale prices of standard hams, bacon and picnics declined slightly.

The foreign trade during the month aside from a good demand for lard and fat backs, largely from Central European countries, was declared "unsatisfactory."

"The trade in meats with England was of small proportions," the review stated, adding that "since England is the chief foreign market for American meat, the unsatisfactory condition of the market there constitutes a factor that is of great importance to both producer and packer here."

CHICAGO, March 6.—More spring lamb and an earlier start for market than last year, was forecast today in a report of the Bureau of Markets, the United States Department of Agriculture.

It was predicted that the movement would start about March 25, nearly a month earlier than last year, and that eastern markets would receive over 100,000 more spring lambs than last year.

Four states, the report said, supply most of the spring lamb reaching the market before June 1, namely Arizona and California in the west and Tennessee and Kentucky in the east. California has an indication of a 100 per cent lamb crop with an estimated eastern shipment of 350,000 lambs compared with 265,000 last year. In Arizona the report said 35,000 lambs would be available compared with 18,000 during the similar period last year.

In Tennessee and Kentucky also an increase this spring was predicted, but the report said the movement there would not start until May, when it predicted a considerable increase over last year.

The report estimated the spring lamb supply from these two states and Virginia at 446,000 compared with 415,000 the previous year.

EASTERN MARKETS

CHICAGO, March 6.—Buying ascribed to a speculator who of late has been conspicuous on the bear side led to a sudden upturn in the price of wheat today during the early dealings. When this buying ceased, however, the market quickly reacted. Unresponsiveness which Liverpool quotations showed in regard to yesterday's advance here counted as a handicap on the bulls, and so, too, did warmer weather tend to benefit domestic winter crop. Opening prices, which varied from unchanged figures to ⅛c lower, with May $1.18⅛ to $1.18⅞ and July $1.14¾ to $1.14⅝, was followed by a rise all around to well above yesterday finish and then by a setback in which nearly all the gain was lost. Persistent selling on the part of commission houses found corn and oats without any aggressive support. After opening unchanged to ¼@⅜ off, May 74¾c to 75⅛, the corn market rallied a little, but soon underwent a decided general sag.

Oats started ⅛@⅜ lower, May 44⅞c and hardened a trifle and later turned easy again.

Despite weakness of hog values the provision market was firm, influenced by an advance in lard at Liverpool.

BUSINESS and FINANCE

By H. S. SCOTT.

Overnight developments had little influence on stock values in New York today and the market went ahead at the opening with a boom in motors shares in progress at the previous close.

Studebaker reached a new 1923 high at 124¾, while Chandler jumped 1¼ to 74¾ and General Motors moved up fractionally.

Equipments also were buoyant. American Locomotive attained a new high and 129⅜ and Baldwin advanced 1⅜ to 139⅞. Stewart Warner continued its sensational rise, reaching a further new high at 121½ on reports of large stock dividends. Other sections of the industrial list were almost uniformly strong.

Rails were mixed, Delaware and Hudson, St. Paul and Chicago and Northwestern opening higher and Southern Railroad and Missouri Pacific losing ground.

Stewart-Warner dropped a point on profit taking. Other individual strong spots included Reynolds Spring, Industrial Alcohol, Tobacco Products, B. Remington Typewriter, Sears-Roebuck and United Railway Investment all up a point or more. California Petroleum and United Railway Investment preferred yielded slightly on realizing sales.

Foreign exchanges opened easier, demand sterling getting under $4.70 and French francs under 6.10 cents.

Heavy realizing and short selling of some of the speculative favorites at the higher levels and the competition of news buying at other points caused a highly irregular movement of prices during the morning. Equipment shares showed the most consistent strength. Automotive issues were substantially higher but this group yielded somewhat in sympathy with the violent drop in Stewart Warner and Stromberg. Stewart Warner fell from 121 to 113. Among the most conspicuous advances were Bosch Magnet, 6¾, Pressed Steel Car 6½, Porto Rican Tobacco 6, Kelsey Wheel 4¼, Market Street Railway 4, the second preferred 3¼, Iron Products 3¼ and Baldwin 3.

Call money opened at 5 per cent.

The Curb market showed a general heavy tone early today and price movements in nearly all the important issues were to lower levels. This condition was partly attributed to the diversion of speculative activities to the many specialties that had been prominent on the stock exchange, but the market also was influenced by the offerings of many stocks to take or save profits on purchases made some time ago.

Standard Oil shares were in moderate supply with business in nearly all cases at concessions. Prairie Oil and Gas made a gain in the early trading to 262, followed by a quick decline to 258. Standard Oil of New York yielded over 1 point on fairly large trading and a loss of over 1 point was sustained in Standard Oil of Kansas. Standard Oil of Kentucky moved in the same way and International Petroleum showed a fractional loss. Magnolia Petroleum after advancing 1 point to 166 dropped to 162½.

Independent stocks were fairly well held, Gulf Oil showing only a fractional loss while there was a slight recession in Mammoth Oil. Big Indian, one of the Salt Creek issues, was in continued demand, being influenced by the firmness in Salt Creek Consolidated, which operates its acreage. Pennsylvania Beaver was a weak feature.

In the mining group Hill Top, Nev., was an active feature.

RICKENBACKER MOTOR CO. STOCK OFFERED ON COAST.

The Rickenbacker Company, Inc., fiscal agents of the Rickenbacker Motor Company of Detroit, is offering today locally 35,000 shares of common stock. This company was formed in July, 1921, as a result of the initiative of Captain E. V. Rickenbacker, who interested B. F. Everett of the Everett Bros. Body Building Company, who built thousands of bodies for the Ford Motor Company, and Harry L. Cunningham, former president of the Cunningham [illegible] Auto Company, in the plans for building a moderately priced car on advanced post war engineering principles and design.

During the first year the company is reported to have manufactured and sold 5020 cars, constituting a gross turnover of over $7,000,000. The company has an authorized capital stock of $5,000,000, par value $10. Its statement as of December 31, 1922, shows a total accumulated surplus of $711,887 before deducting pre-operating expenses of $212,946, and a 5 per cent dividend paid February 1st of $110,833. This left on December 31st a surplus balance of $388,107.

The company has a secured indebtedness of only $400,000, consisting of first mortgage bonds on its plant and real estate, which indebtedness was assumed by the Rickenbacker Motor Company at the time it acquired this plant.

The Rickenbacker Motor Company declared a dividend of 5 per cent at the end of its first year.

GERMANY TRYING TO REPURCHASE FORMER VESSELS

Buys Back One Hundred Thirty Vessels From Allied Nations.

The reestablishment of Germany's pre-war commercial relations overseas has depended entirely on the rehabilitation of its merchant fleet, which was reduced from a total of approximately 5,500,000 gross tons in 1914 to about 400,000 gross tons as a result of the war, says C. E. Herring, American attache at Berlin. Although construction of new vessels has played a leading role in the rebuilding of the German merchant marine, the repurchase of former German ships has been almost as important.

During the year ended June 30, 1922, German interests repurchased 130 vessels aggregating 491,567 gross tons, according to a report by the Verlag Seedienst A. G. Most of these vessels were repurchased in England between August, 1921—shortly after England removed the prohibition against the sale of ships to alien interests—and January, 1922—a period when the German mark had greater purchasing power.

Repurchases of ships of 5000 gross tons and over are shown in the following table:

Purchaser—	Number of ships.	Gross tons.
Norddeutscher Lloyd	10	64,714
Hamburg-Amerika Linie	12	58,178
Hamburg-Sudamerikanische D. G.	9	64,525
Deutsche D. G. Kosmos	6	33,226
A. C. Hugo Stinnes	6	21,075
Woermann Linie & Deutsche Ost-Afrika Linie	7	23,882
H. Kayser & Sohn, Hamburg	4	17,488
Schroeder, Hoelcken & Fischer, Hamburg	6	20,132
Roland Linie, Bremen	2	10,707
Paulsen & Ivers, Kiel	4	10,205
F. R. Laeisz, Hamburg	4	10,245
Emil Retzlaff, Stettin	4	8,091
Norddeutscher Handelsgesellschaft Hackfeldt & Fischer, Hamburg	4	7,812
Oldenburg, Portugiesische D. Reederei, Hamburg	5	7,152
Deutsche D. G. "Hansa," Bremen	2	6,565

Although the leading German shipping companies were the largest repurchasers, there are several exceptions to this statement. For example, the Deutsch-Australische D. G. is not included as a buyer. On the other hand, several German shipping companies of a post-war growth, such as the Stinnes lines, have endeavored to build up a merchant fleet by repurchase.

The majority of ships thus acquired by German companies are over fifteen years old, and average 4000 gross tons. Prices paid for these vessels were approximately as follows: Up to 10 years old £8 10s. ($34.85); 11 to 15 years old £4 8s. ($18.04); 16 to 20 years old £3 5s. ($13.32); 21 to 25 years old £ 4s. ($9.02); over 25 years old, £1 2s. ($4.51). Conversions are made at $4.10 to the pound sterling, the average rate for the year ended June 30, 1922.

FREIGHTER TAKES FRUIT DIRECT TO EUROPEAN PORTS

Cargo of Canned Product Leaves on Harrison Vessel

The first cargo of canned goods loaded directly for European ports left Oakland yesterday morning in the holds of the Harrison Direct Line freighter Dramatist. The big vessel had aboard 1000 tons of canned, cased and dried fruits loaded in her in this city. The loading was done at the Howard Terminal. Clearance for the vessel was to London and Liverpool.

European ports, and especially those of Great Britain, have been taking large amounts of Pacific Coast canned fruits during the past few months. According to shipping men the outlook for the coming shipping season of this commodity is brighter than ever before in the history of the canning and shipping industry.

The next arrival at the Howard Terminal will be the Munson Line freighter Mundale, which is expected either today or early tomorrow. The Mundale is bringing in 1000 tons of sulphur for discharge at this port. The yellow cargo was taken aboard at Freeport, Louisiana.

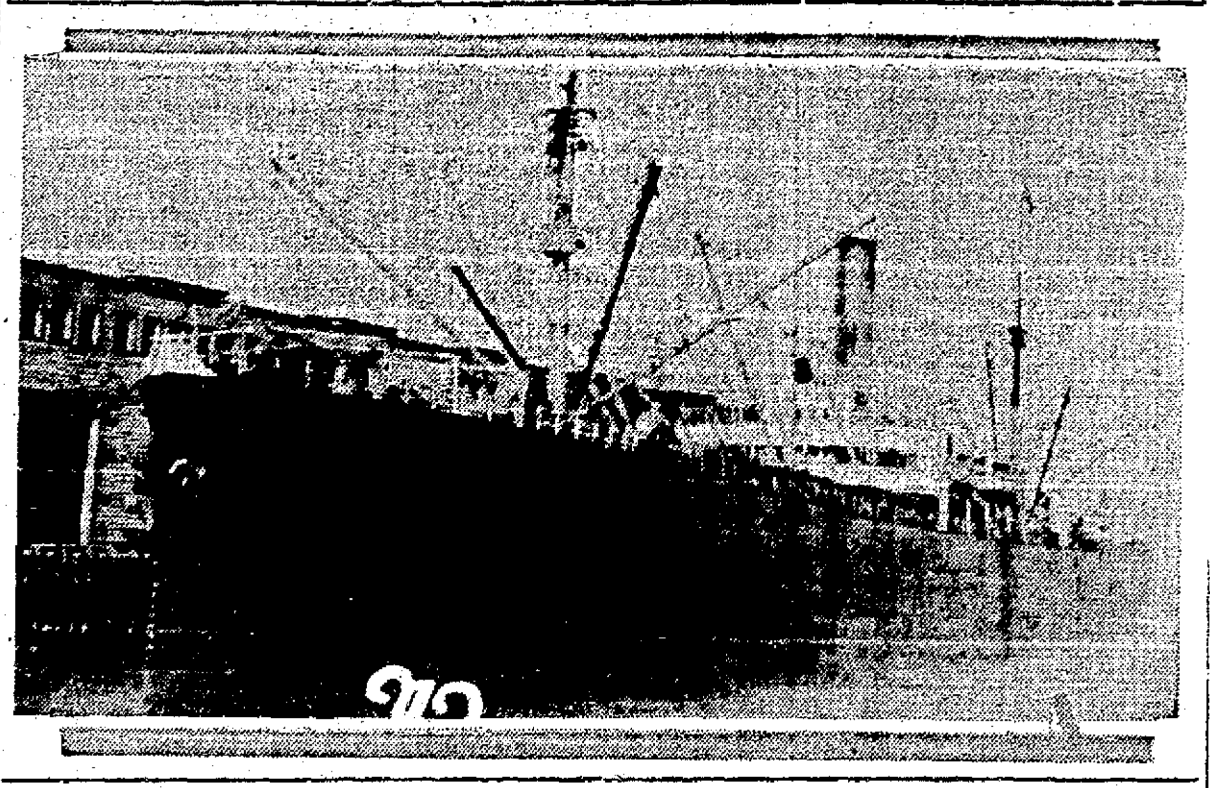
First Cargo of Canned Goods to Europe

The first cargo of canned fruit to be shipped directly from Oakland to European ports left the Howard Terminal aboard the Harrison Direct Line freighter DRAMATIST. The big vessel loaded 1000 tons for London and Liverpool.



Captain Bennett Claimed by Death

Captain James H. Bennett, one of the founders of the California Stevedore and Ballast Company and for more than twenty years actively engaged in the shipping activities of San Francisco bay, died yesterday. He was 66 years of age.

Captain Bennett was superintendent of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company in the '90s. He left the company in 1898 to join with Captain H. W. Godall in organizing a stevedore business. The California Company was organized by the two and incorporated in 1901.

Captain Bennett is survived by his widow and a daughter, Mrs. Charlotte St. Clair, 2898 Washington street, San Francisco.

Engineer Shortage Exists on Atlantic

A shortage exists in the supply of marine engineers, according to reports from the east coast. The prevailing prices paid the under grades of officers is said to be responsible for the lack of men seeking outward bound berths.

The increased use of internal combustion and Diesel engines, according to the report, is causing more positions, also, than there are trained men to fill. Several schools have been established in the east by transportation companies and these are perfecting the men for the jobs as rapidly as possible.

Among deck officers there are more idle men on the east coast than there are jobs to go around.

Breakwater to Be Extended by Chile

The national government of Chile announces through the Official Gazette that the present short breakwater at Valparaiso will be extended 700 meters, as the water is an average of more than 50 fathoms deep at the location selected. It is anticipated that the work will be found both slow and costly, requiring at least two years and involving a cost of several million dollars. Blue prints and specifications may be consulted in the Chilean Consulate, New York. Bids received at the consulate will be transmitted to the treasury department, Chile, to be opened August 31, 1923.

Monongahela Is Sold by Marshal

The now famous American sailing ship Monongahela has been sold again. This time James Tyson of San Francisco bought the craft at a United States Marshal's sale yesterday for $1000. The Monongahela was libeled by Atkins, Kroll & Co. following the bringing to this port of a large amount of copra from the Philippine Islands.

The Monongahela has had a varied career since she interned in San Francisco bay at the beginning of the world war in 1914. Formerly under German registry she was seized by the government when the United States entered the conflict, given her present name and turned over the United States Shipping Board. She shipped a large number of local boys aboard as cadets and set sail for the Philippine Islands. Her captain went insane and she was many weeks overdue in making her destination. In the meantime she had been sold by the shipping board to the Victor Fox Company. That concern in turn went bankrupt and the boat and boys were stranded for almost a year in Manila. They became destitute and were brought home by the government only after a lot of red tape had been unwound.

The Monongahela was then sold to the Charles Nelson Company for a price said to be $13,000. It was the intention of the new owners to place the vessel in the off-shore carrying trade. The libel, however, called for another sale. James Tyson, the new purchaser, is president of the Charles Nelson Company.

WORK ON BRITISH MERCHANT SHIPS LOWEST IN YEARS

Prices Have Dropped Off Four Pounds Sterling a Ton Since Jan., 1921.

British ship production during the year 1922 represented a shrinkage of 50 per cent since 1920 and made the poorest record for more than thirty years says Commercial Attache W. S. Tower in a report to the Department of Commerce. The British merchant fleet is now only slightly larger than it was in 1914. About 98 per cent of the increase in world tonnage since 1914 has been under flags other than British and from controlling close to 45 per cent of world merchants steam tonnage the British share has dropped to about 33 per cent.

The course of ocean freights and time charter rates explains the reluctance to acquire more tonnage. The average ocean freight rate for 1922 declined 20 per cent from the average for 1921, and the average of time charters showed a decline.

Prices from 7000 to 9000-ton ships, according to recent contracts, are said to range from £8 10s. to £9 10s. per dead-weight ton, a drop of at least £2 per ton since July, £4 per ton since January, and close to £10 per ton in the last 18 months. The reduction has been made possible largely by drastic wage cuts and by lower prices for materials.

Vessels entering British ports with cargo during 1922 show a tonnage increase of 15 to 20 per cent over 1921. For clearances with cargo the showing is far better, the average monthly tonnage in the last quarter of the year being almost 40 per cent larger than for the corresponding period of 1921.

This increase of activity was promptly reflected in a decrease of idle tonnage in British ports. The decrease from quarter to quarter since July 25, 1921, is shown in the following table:

Tonnage of vessels laid up in British ports is as follows:

No.	Net tons.	No.	Net tons
883	1,650,788	140	201,624

Ice Wrecks Boats On Atlantic Coast

ST. JOHNS, N. F., March 6.—Adrift on ice floes and facing momentary death the crew of the three-masted British schooner A. B. Barteaux, from Perth Amboy, N. J., was rescued by the Norwegian steamer Hauk of the New Foundland coast yesterday, after their vessel had foundered, a radio message received here today said.

The Hauk, 15 days from Sydney to St. Johns, coal laden, took the men from the ice after the crew's desperate signals attracted the attention of the Norwegian vessel.

The crew of the New Foundland schooner James O'Neill, salt laden, from Oporto, were rescued off Cape Race yesterday by the steamer Beivernon, which arrived here today from Boston and Halifax, after the schooner was crushed by ice floes. The crew said that the vessel sank twenty minutes after they took to the lifeboats.

Venezuela Has New Oil Shipping Port

It is reported to the Department of Commerce by Consul W. L. Garrety, Puerto Cabello, that a new port is to be established near the city of Coro, Venezuela, and that three important petroleum companies are planning to build wharves there and to connect same by pipe lines to the Maracaibo oil district. It is anticipated that this will be a work of real importance and that in due course a city will develop there.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS FOR Good Digestion, Active Liver, easy, regular bowels; no griping, no nausea. Only 25 cents.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.—Advertisement

(Toilet Tips)

A safe, certain method for ridding the skin of ugly, hairy growths is as follows: Mix a paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface about 2 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is entirely harmless and seldom requires repeating, but to avoid disappointment it is advisable to see that you get genuine delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.—Advertisement.

BREAK CHEST COLDS WITH RED PEPPER

Ease your tight, aching chest. Stop the pain. Break up the congestion. Feel a bad cold loosen up in just a short time.

"Red Pepper Rub" is the cold remedy that brings quickest relief. It cannot hurt you and it certainly seems to end the tightness and drive the congestion and soreness right out.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers, and when heat penetrates right down into colds, congestion, aching muscles and sore, stiff joints relief comes at once.

The moment you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes the congested spot is warmed through and through. When you are suffering from a cold, rheumatism, backache, stiff neck or sore muscles, just get a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, at any drug store. You will have the quickest relief known. Always say "Rowles."—Advertisement.

Berlin Ambassador To France Dies

MUNICH, March 6.—(By the Associated Press)—Dr. Wilhelm Mayer, German ambassador to France, died here as the result of "general weakness," it was announced today.

Dr. Mayer was recalled by his government from Paris at the beginning of the Ruhr occupation move by France and Belgium, proceeding to Munich.

Dr. Mayer, born at Enkenbach, Bavaria, November 18, 1874, and studied international law at Heidelburg, Munich and Wuerzburg. He was appointed charge d'affaires in Paris late in January, 1920, and with the resumption of full diplomatic relations later became German ambassador.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

The Real Cause of Indigestion.

Acids in the stomach irritate and inflame the delicate stomach lining, sour and ferment the food, prevent proper digestion and lead to nine-tenths of all Dyspepsia and Indigestion. Pepsin and other artificial digestents give only temporary relief and do not correct the cause.

Stomach acids sholud be neutralized daily, and the stomach kept sweet and clean after eating by drinking a glass of pure Magnesia water made from a teaspoonful of four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia, obtainable at any reliable drug store. This prevents food fermentation and your meals digest naturally and without pain. By following this plan you may eat almost anything without fear of Indigestion.—Advertisement.

Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this cannot possibly injure the hair.

Simply put two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water, then moisten the hair with water and rub the Mulsified in. It will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.—Advertisement.

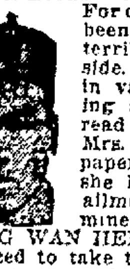
Saved From Lifelong Suffering



SAN LORENZO, Cal., Feb. 15, 1923. For over five years I had been sufferer. I had a terrible pain in my left side. After I had sought in vain for relief during all these years, I read the testimonial of Mrs. Andrade in a newspaper, in which she said she had been cured of ailments similar to mine by taking the FONG WAN HERBS. I then commenced to take the herbs and now, after two months, I am feeling fine. I am glad to testify that the FONG WAN HERBS have saved me from lifelong suffering.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
I take this method of expressing my sentiments of appreciation to Dr. Wong Him for the wonderful cures he has effected in cases where several members of my family, including myself, were afflicted with various maladies.
I also desire to be the means of guiding anyone who is in need of medical advice, as he will find Dr. Wong Him to be a thoroughly reliable health specialist and absolutely conscientious. Through an occurrence experienced by a member of my family I can, with the greatest regard for sincerity, state that after a consultation, unless Dr. Wong Him is convinced that his herbs will effect a complete cure, he will under no circumstances accept the case.
Very truly yours,
JULIUS UNNINO.

JANE CUTHILL, one of five contestants for queen, to reign at the Carmen's indoor frolic and circus to be given in Aahmes Temple.

WOMEN REQUEST BUDGET REVISION

A resolution petitioning the governor of California and members of the stat board of control to reconsider appropriations for the carrying out of constructive programs of state commissions and certain departments which are threatened under the tentative budget was adopted at the regular luncheon of the Soroptimist club at Hotel Oakland yesterday.

Commissions and departments in which the business and professional women expressed particular desire for adequate appropriations were the forestry, housing and immigration industrial welfare, University of California, school for blind and deaf in Berkeley, board of health, and the educational program relating to the State Teachers College, part time vocational instruction, Americanization. Previously the the club went on record in favor of proper appropriations to the industrial farm for women and the program of physical education.

SOLDIER BONUS PASSED.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 6.—A soldiers' bonus bill was passed by the Indiana senate yesterday, 27 to 19. As it had been passed by the house it goes to the governor.

FIVE ENTERED IN QUEEN CONTEST

Comely young women and attractive babies flocked today to the headquarters of the Carmen's Union to register as entrants in the queen contest and the baby contest for the Carmen's indoor frolic and circus in Aahmes Temple March 19.

Supporters of the various queen candidates promised a vigorous campaign on behalf of their favorites and the parents of the baby entrants announced themselves in the field to win.

Five queen candidates entered today, including Corinne Aolrie, 2930 Magnolia street; Esther Gabrielson, 1556 Eighth street; Annuziata Simonetti, 303 Filbert street; Jane Cuthill, 1822 Eighth avenue, and Glady Dukey, 23 Eighth street.

The babies who are contending for first honors are Lillian Keys, 624 Brooklyn street; Rosemary Barbara Phillips, 3138 Grove street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Phillips; Carl Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Nichols, 1247 First avenue; Elizabeth Johns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johns, 3131 Peralta avenue; Elizabeth Estrella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Estrella, 2718 Thirteenth avenue; Stella Siminetti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sinimetti, 303 Filbert street; G. W. Humphrey Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Humphrey, 1848 Seventh avenue.

The indoor circus will open March 19 and continue for a week with many professional acts and unusual features on the program, the carmen announce. The proceeds will be used to entertain the delegates to the carmen's convention in Oakland next September.

FIVE ADDED TO CANDIDATE LIST

Five candidates were added to the lists today and last night, filing for the various electoral positions. City Clerk Eugene Sturgis, who felt some time ago that candidacies were slow in coming in, now asserts that business is brisk.

The five new arrivals are: H. T. Hempstead, constable of Oakland township, who ran against Frank [illegible] last city elections. Hempstead now files as candidate against Commissioner W. J. Baccus.

H. S. Craig, for school director No. 2, is a son of the late Mayor Hugh Craig of Piedmont, and has recently acted on various educational advisory committees.

Leslie B. Magoon, of East Oakland, candidate against Commissioner Baccus, is a Spanish war veteran and was active in downtown Oakland politics some time ago. Magoon wae chairman of the public education advisory committee.

Ernest J. Engler, for commissioner No. 1, now held by Harry Edwards, is a member of the Civic League of Improvement Clubs and is a member of the school bond advisory committed.

E. P. Cornell, candidate for school director No. 2, is a real estate man, a graduate of the University of California, and a former teacher in California schools.

GIRL COMPOSER, DECRYING WORK, TAKES OWN LIFE

Second Attempt to Kill Self Succeeds for Despondent S. F. Musician.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—A second attempt to end her life was successful today for Miss Katherine Bernard, 25 years old, musician and composer, who was found dying in her apartment at 698 Bush street.

The young woman, supposedly despondent by reason of what she believed to be failure after years of work, turned on the gas in her apartment. The police are investigating whether there may have been a love affair behind the girl's efforts to end her life.

Miss Bernard rented the Bush-street apartment on Sunday. In the afternoon she was found in a gas-filled room by a Filipino janitor. She assured John Fisher, a friend, and members of her family that she would not try it again, but nevertheless is said to have moved some of her effects to the Fisher household. This morning Walter Thorne, son of the proprietor of the apartment house, detected gas fumes, and Miss Bernard was discovered unconscious. She was dead on reaching the Central Emergency hospital.

The young woman is said to have composed a number of popular songs, including "Moonlight Hours," but her friends say she was not satisfied with her progress and considered her work a failure. Her mother is believed to reside in Portland.

Two notes scribbled on the backs of cards of the Creole Music Publishing Companay, of which the young woman was agent, were found by Deputy Coroner Fred Becker. One was addressed to Stanley, presumably Stanley Smith of the Hotel Tinan, who is supposed to have been paying the young woman attention. The second one to Fisher's wife, Mrs. Betty Fisher. The notes read:

"Stanley, boy of mine, I worship you and always will, but tonight I cannot be annoyed. Take care of your health, precious one. We will be together later."

"Betty—Sweet girl, write to mother. I told her about the onyx. I know she will want you to have them. I love you."

INQUEST IN AUTO DEATH TO OPEN

MARTINEZ, March 6.—Inquest into the death of Frank Kelly, of San Pablo, killed here Sunday night when his machine struck a tree on Smith street, will be held Wednesday night. Mrs. Mary Spinshich, of San Pablo, sister-in-law of Kelly, who was injured in the accident, was able to leave the Martinez hospital today. Kelly's machine crashed into the tree after it had side swiped a machine driven by Charles Greens of Richmond, and which Kelly had sought to pass.

Boys and Girls Form Three Farming Clubs

WALNUT CREEK, March 6.—Friday afternoon, under the Contra Costa County Farm Bureau Association three clubs composed of boys and girls were formed.

These clubs known as the poultry, pig growing and corn growing clubs, are to enter a contest and the winners will be awarded prizes and a trip to the boys' and girls' convention at Davis. All of the clubs are under the leadership of V. G. Gaines, of the University of California.

The boys and girls from Walnut Creek joined the Poultry Club and the following boys were elected officers: Mervin McCall, president; Paul Heldt, secretary; Mervin Theil, treasurer. Other members are Robert Foster, Elizabeth Holliday, Zena Kavin, Helen Frederickson, and Alvin Lewis.

Rotarians Debate Zoning Ordinance

ALAMEDA, March 6.—A. C. Keane, an attorney, was the principal speaker today at the weekly luncheon of the Alameda Rotary club which was held in the Moose hall, Central avenue and Oak street.

Keane spoke of the advantages to be obtained in Alameda, if the new zoning ordinance, which appears on the ballot for the municipal election March 13, becomes a law. He accompanied his talk by showing illustrated slides of various sections in Alameda.

Will Calcutt was chairman of the day with Edward Silver presiding.

Child Gashes Hand During Indian Game

ALAMEDA, March 6. — While wielding a hatchet in an Indian game which he was playing in the rear of his home at 1914 Mulberry street, this city today, Edward Johnson received a deep gash on his right hand.

The child was rushed to the Emergency hospital by his father, Charles Johnson.

Bass Run Into Lake; Boys Spear Them; Arrested

Beautiful bass, of the kind that is good to catch and better to eat, are running into Lake Merritt, and the more enthusiastic of Oakland fishermen are hastening thither with poles, reels and spears.

Enthusiastic over the extraordinary run of fish, two small Oakland boys cast all piscatorial ethics to the winds and proceeded to harpoon large trophies for themselves from the Eighth street dam. Encouraged by the success of the boys, Kern Wong and Alfred Clinn abandoned the hook and line tactics for the spearing method. All of the spearmen were arrested and ordered to appear in court.

The boys showed up at the detention home this morning.

"Aw, pshaw! Everybody spears 'em," they told the court.

After being lectured the boys were given a good start down the street toward school. Wong and Clinn will have to answer to Police Judge William J. Hennessey tomorrow.

NEEDLE GUILD TO RESUME

ALAMEDA, March 6.—The Alameda branch of the needlework guild of Alameda county will resume its semi-monthly meetings tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Herman Krusi, president, on Central avenue. The guild will begin making garments for the poor and indigent children of the city after a vacation of a month.

COUNCIL INVITES LEGISLATORS TO VISIT OAKLAND

Ordinance Appropriating the Sum of $1500 for Entertainment Passed.

The city council, before adjourning today out of respect to the memory of President Harry Boyle of the board of education, adopted a resolution inviting the State Legislature to Oakland shortly, and passed to print an ordinance appropriating $1500 for their entertainment.

Commissioner A. E. Carter pointed out that the legislature will have a large delegation visiting the University of California March 16-17-18, and suggested that this delegation be invited to Oakland to ascertain its problems at first hand.

"I feel our interests can best be advanced by a personal visit from the legislature," said Carter.

The city engineer was authorized to make another yearly lease of the garbage dump at the foot of Sixty-ninth avenue, and protests against a planing mill at Forty-eighth avenue and East Twelfth street were ordered for hearing next week.

Mills Fund Workers to Map Continued Canvass

Friends of Mills College will meet at dinner in Hotel Oakland at 6:30 o'clock this evening to discuss plans for the continuation of the campaign to complete an endowment fund of one million dollars for the institution.

The special solicitation committee, which submitted its final report last Friday, obtained pledges totaling $234,000 of the $400,000 required to bring the endowment fund up to a million. The subject of the discussion tonight will be ways and means of securing the amount needed to complete the $400,000 quota originally set for the Eastbay cities.

During the special solicitation only 800 out of 2000 prospective subscribers to the endowment fund were interviewed by workers.

The General Education Board of New York City has offered Mills College $350,000, providing enough more is subscribed to bring the total to a million. Unless the million mark is reached, the $350,000 offer will be withdrawn. The campaign committee has until June 1 of this year to complete the million.

Tell us why you like Folger's Golden Gate Coffee

In a recent test, a representative number of coffee drinkers tried several different kinds of coffee. 85% of them liked one of the brands — it was Folger's Golden Gate.

For years we've been telling you that Folger's Golden Gate is "different in taste from other coffee—and better," but that only inadequately describes the unusually good flavor of Folger's Golden Gate Coffee. You must try it to appreciate this different flavor.

To make it interesting for you, we are offering 55 prizes for the best letters on "Why I Like Folger's Golden Gate Coffee." It's a chance for you to enjoy some really good coffee, and win a prize for telling us about it.

This Is How You Do It

This contest is open to everyone in San Francisco and the East Bay Cities.

The only condition is that the letters must be written on specially prepared blanks of uniform size, which you can secure at your grocer's.

Ask your grocer for a blank today, and jot down your reasons for liking Folger's Golden Gate Coffee. (If he is temporarily out of these blanks, write for one direct to Dept. T J. A. Folger & Co., 101 Howard Street, San Francisco.)
